Re: Coastal Permit Application 9-21-0488 by Poseidon Water, Coastal Commission Meeting on 5/12/22, Agenda Items Th 9a and Th10a

We respectfully submit the following comments in advance of the public hearing on this CDP.

1. Tribal Chair, Anthony Morales has consulted with Coastal Commission staff as to the project's negative impacts on coastal lands and waters within our tribal jurisdiction. Our tribe has historic, cultural, and spiritual ties to the project site and surrounding area and therefore takes responsibility for protecting the health and well-being of all life dependent on these ancestral lands and waters for sustenance.
2. The Gabrieleno/Tongva San Gabriel Band of Mission Indians supports Coastal Commission Staff's recommendation that the project be denied. The evidence is clear that, as designed and operated, Poseidon Water's proposed desalination facility will pollute water and land and kill marine life while failing to contribute anything of value to coastal communities. Privatizing and profiting from the commodification of a basic human need, water, is morally reprehensible and environmentally unjust. This Project will result in an increase in the cost of water locally putting low-income residents at risk. Shamelessly, this corporation also expects the public to help pay for this for-profit enterprise. In 2019, Poseidon Water sent an initial application for $1.1 billion in financing from the State's Debt Limit Allocation Committee which finances tax-exempt bonds to help fund private projects with a public benefit, like housing. Our tribal territory must not be pillaged by corporations who seek to exploit the human right to water for their own bottom line.
3. The Project Applicants have failed to care for this property and are not likely to do so in the future. Unpermitted grading and removal of wetlands habitat @ 2002 resulted in Coastal Act violations that remain unaddressed a decade later. Coastal Commission Enforcement does not have the capacity to police and to prosecute those who intentionally violate CDPs, especially those issued with multiple Special Conditions.
4. The Project Applicant has not taken tribal sovereignty and tribal engagement seriously. No tribal consultation has taken place between Poseidon Water and our tribal council regarding this CDP. Although the Project EIR states that an archaeologist will be consulted if tribal cultural resources are discovered during construction, there is no requirement in the document that tribes also be contacted or that tribal monitoring be provided. Nor is there any reference in the EIR as to the significance of the project site to contemporary tribal members or the negative impacts of the Project on our present and future generations.

5. Prior actions by both state and private entities dispossessed
6. California's indigenous peoples from our ancestral homelands and many current and proposed policies and projects continue to ensure that we remain landless in our homelands. Tribal peoples and cultures both locally and globally are marginalized populations. However, as our predecessors have done, we seek to retain and reclaim stewardship of and access to our tribal lands and to maintain and revive suppressed tribal cultural and spiritual practices. The 24th Annual Pilgrimage of the Tongva and Acjachemen People, Carrying Prayers for our Ancestors and Future Generations, passed by this site on October 2, 2022. The Gabrieleno/Tongva San Gabriel Band of Mission Indians is currently engaged in efforts to save the last remaining open space on the Bolsa Chica Mesa from luxury housing and to remove bike jumps that have desecrated this Sacred Site since the 1970's. We oppose the LCWA's exploratory drilling of boreholes in the Los Cerritos Wetlands, and the LCWA's plans to grade, flood, and build on these wetlands. We regard Banning Ranch and San Onofre as sacred sites at risk from the unintended consequences of resource extraction and energy development and seek their restoration and conservation. It is past time to stop expanding the footprint of industry, especially as the developers' profits have far exceeded those considered "reasonable" and the negative impacts are cumulative and life threatening.
7. Unfortunately, Governor Newson has recently restated his support for Poseidon Water's Huntington Beach desalination project, which will inevitably destroy the health of Southern California's coastal lands, waters, and marine life. This undermines the trust that tribal nations and the people of California have placed in him. On June 18, 2019, the 53rd Annual California Native American Day, Governor Newson issued Executive Order N-5-19, a directive to state agencies to engage with CA tribes, encourage them to return state lands under their jurisdiction to CA tribes, and to co-manage these lands with CA tribes. In supporting Poseidon Water he fails to acknowledge the disregard this corporation has shown towards tribal cultural resources and tribal engagement. His position on the project is also in direct conflict with his October, 2020 Executive Order N-82-20 to employ nature-based solutions to protect biodiversity, advance equitable access to nature, and combat climate change.
8. Responding to Executive Order N-8-20, in December 2021 the CA Natural Resources Agency issued Pathways to 30x30: Accelerating Conservation of California's Nature, a draft document which intends to engage state and federal agencies, CA tribes, and private landowners in the conservation of state lands, including those that have been damaged, are currently being degraded, or will be negatively impacted by approved projects. This effort cannot be successful as long as multiple state entities under the the CA Natural Resources Agency (such as the State Lands Commission, the CA Department of Parks and Recreation, the Coastal Conservancy, the San Gabriel and Lower Los Angeles Rivers and Mountains Conservancy, the Los Cerritos Wetlands Authority, and the CA Department of Fish and Wildlife) regularly enter into agreements with and accept funding from private for-profit corporations like Poseidon Water and AES as mitigation for projects like the one before you now which harm public health, damage coastal lands and waters, and destroy tribal cultural and sacred sites. Alarmingly, like a snake swallowing its own tail, the Coastal Commission approves CDPs that mitigate a project's inability to comply with Coastal Act regulations by allowing the applicant to offset the damage by providing mitigation for a different project whose CDP also required mitigation because of its negative impacts on our coast. Mitigation credits and mitigation banking have become independent for-profit enterprises supported by public monies and attracting all manner of paid consultants who justify the ongoing erasure of tribal culture and endanger the ability of our tribal homelands to sustain life.

9. We are particularly concerned as to the mitigations proposed by Poseidon Water for this project, especially those that involve CA state entities engaged in environmental protection. According to Poseidon Huntington Beach Desalination Facility Marine Life Mitigation Plan: Bolsa Chica, "The State Lands Commission supports having Poseidon fund the inlet maintenance to allow for estuarine and coastal fish populations to be sustained and to undertake wetland restoration activities within the muted tidal basins to increase fish and wildlife resources within this important coastal habitat in Orange County." This report also notes that the State Lands Commission may approve Poseidon's request to contribute to the Palos Verdes Reef Restoration. The Los Cerritos Wetlands Authority is currently engaged in discussion with Poseidon Water to provide mitigation for the Project and Exhibit 13 for Th9a/9b lists mitigation credits for the South Los Cerritos Wetlands Restoration, Phase II. Our tribal council opposes the LCWA's Los Cerritos Wetlands Restoration Program EIR and the Southern Los Cerritos Wetlands Restoration Project. Phase II will inundate existing seasonal brackish wetlands and salt flats, bury sensitive habitat areas beneath berms providing access to and protection for fossil fuel operations in the Los Cerritos Wetlands which are within the Sacred Site of Puvungna as registered with the CA Native American Heritage Commission. Multiple tribal burials and cultural objects have been unearthed from Puvungna and only a fraction of this 10,100+ year old creation site still provides habitat for coastal wildlife and marine species, holds the remains of our ancestors, and is compatible with our spiritual and ceremonial practices.

We hope you will consider the perspective of those who have stewarded these lands for centuries and continue to do so.

Sincerely, Chief Anthony Morales, Tribal Chair, Gabrieleno/Tongva Band of San Gabriel Mission Indians

EXECUTIVE ORDER N-82-20

WHEREAS the well-being of our communities and California's economic sustainability are interconnected with our natural and cultural resources; and

WHEREAS the State's long-term vitality is threatened by the loss of biodiversity - the variety and variability of plant and animal life in our State - and the impacts of climate change; and

WHEREAS California's natural and working lands – our forests, rangelands, farms, wetlands, coast, deserts, and urban greenspaces – sustain our economy, support our unique biodiversity, contribute to the global food supply, support outdoor heritage and provide clean water and air; and

WHEREAS since time immemorial, California Native Americans have stewarded, managed and lived interdependently with the lands that now make up the State of California; and

WHEREAS California is home to more species of plants and animals than any other state, and this biodiversity accounts for about one third of all species found in the nation; and

WHEREAS soils are home to more than a quarter of the world's biodiversity and California boasts more than 2,500 different soil types; and

WHEREAS California's rich biodiversity is increasingly threatened by loss of habitat, spread of invasive species, decreasing water supplies, and increasingly frequent and severe climate impacts; and

WHEREAS the climate change crisis is happening now, impacting California in unprecedented ways including intensifying wildfires, mud slides, floods and drought, sea level rise and extreme heat, that threaten our economy, communities, public safety, and cultural and natural resources; and

WHEREAS as we work to mitigate greenhouse gas emissions, we must also accelerate actions to enable the State to adapt and become more resilient to the impacts of climate change, including expanding nature-based solutions – the use of sustainable land management practices to tackle environmental, social and economic challenges; and

WHEREAS national, subnational and indigenous leaders across the globe are coming together to accelerate implementation of nature-based solutions to our climate and extinction crises, improve the way land is managed to absorb carbon pollution from the atmosphere, build resilience by protecting communities and natural places from climate-driven disasters, and restore healthy ecosystems; and

WHEREAS addressing the biodiversity crisis and accelerating nature-based solutions requires inclusive partnerships and collaboration among federal, state and local governments, California Native American tribes, local communities, businesses, investors, labor, conservationists, outdoor enthusiasts, academia, land managers, and other stakeholders.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, in accordance with the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California do hereby issue the following Order to become effective immediately to combat the climate and biodiversity crises:

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED THAT:

1. To combat the biodiversity and climate crises, the California Natural Resources Agency, in consultation with the California Department of Food and Agriculture, the California Environmental Protection Agency and other state agencies, is directed to establish the California Biodiversity Collaborative (Collaborative) to bring together other governmental partners, California Native American tribes, experts, business and community leaders and other stakeholders from across California to protect and restore the State's biodiversity. State agencies will consult the Collaborative on efforts to:

    a. Establish a baseline assessment of California's biodiversity that builds upon existing data and information, utilizes best available science and traditional ecological knowledge, and can be updated over time.

    b. Analyze and project the impact of climate change and other stressors on California's biodiversity.

    c. Inventory current biodiversity efforts across all sectors and land managers and highlight opportunities for additional action to preserve and enhance biodiversity.

    d. Expand the communication and use of information, indicators and tools to monitor, track and protect California's biodiversity and natural resources.

    e. Advance multi-benefit, voluntary and cooperative approaches that protect and restore biodiversity while stewarding natural and working lands, building climate resilience, and supporting economic sustainability.

    f. Engage stakeholders across California's diverse communities, including academic and research institutions; local and federal governments; California Native American tribes; outdoor recreation and access groups; fishing and hunting organizations; farmers, ranchers and other private landowners and land managers; environmental advocates and investors; housing and land use developers; educators; philanthropy, and others.

2. To support the global effort to combat the biodiversity and climate crises, it is the goal of the State to conserve at least 30 percent of California's land and coastal waters by 2030. The California Natural Resources Agency and other relevant state agencies, in consultation with the Collaborative, are directed to develop and report strategies to the Governor no later than February 1, 2022 to achieve this goal in a manner that:

    a. Safeguards our State's economic sustainability and food security.

    b. Protects and restores biodiversity.

    c. Enables enduring conservation measures on a broad range of landscapes, including natural areas and working lands, in partnership with land managers and natural resource user groups.

    d. Builds climate resilience, reduces risk from extreme climate events and contributes to the State's effort to combat climate change.

    e. Expands equitable outdoor access and recreation for all Californians.

3. To advance efforts to conserve biodiversity, the California Natural Resources Agency is directed to take the following actions within existing authority and resources:

    a. Strategically prioritize investments in cooperative, high-priority actions that promote biodiversity protection, habitat restoration, wildfire-resilient, sustainably managed landscapes and other conservation outcomes.

    b. Implement actions to increase the pace and scale of environmental restoration and land management efforts by streamlining the State's process to approve and facilitate these projects.

    c. Collaborate with federal and state research institutions to utilize innovative scientific observation technology and with tribal partners to incorporate tribal expertise and traditional ecological knowledge to better understand our biodiversity and threats it faces.

    d. Participate in regional, national and international efforts to advance biodiversity protection and help to stem extinctions across the planet.

4. To advance efforts to conserve biodiversity, the California Department of Food and Agriculture is directed to take the following actions with existing authority and resources:

    a. Coordinate with other relevant state agencies and private partners to reinvigorate populations of pollinator insects across the State, which restore biodiversity and improve agricultural production.

    b. Implement strategic efforts to protect California's native plants and animals from invasive species and pests that threaten biodiversity and economic activities.

    c. Enhance soil health and biodiversity through the Healthy Soils Initiative.

5. The California Natural Resources Agency, the California Department of Food and Agriculture, the California Environmental Protection Agency, the Governor's Office of Planning and Research, and other state agencies, shall use existing authorities and resources to identify and implement near- and long-term actions to accelerate natural removal of carbon and build climate resilience in our forests, wetlands, urban greenspaces, agricultural soils, and land conservation activities in ways that serve all communities and in particular low-income, disadvantaged and vulnerable communities.

6. Within one year of this Order, the California Natural Resources Agency, in consultation with the California Environmental Protection Agency, the California Department of Food and Agriculture, the California Air Resources Board, Governor's Office of Planning and Research, the California Strategic Growth Council and other state agencies, shall develop a Natural and Working Lands Climate Smart Strategy that serves as a framework to advances the State's carbon neutrality goal and builds climate resilience.

    In developing this Strategy, agencies shall be guided by the following principles:

    a. Promote healthy lands that provide multiple benefits including improved air quality, reliable water supply, thriving communities, and economic sustainability.

    b. Advance equity and opportunity for all regions of California.

    c. Support pathways for sectors such as agriculture and forestry to participate in the transition to a carbon neutrality economy.

    d. Inform policies through public feedback gathered through extensive outreach to and equitable engagement with stakeholders including, but not limited to, land managers, federal, tribal and local governments, communities, environmental justice leaders, businesses, investors, non-governmental organizations, scientists and universities.

e. Align policies, programs, and funding mechanisms across state government, while identifying opportunities to catalyze and accelerate private investment and actions that contribute to the State's carbon neutrality goal.

7. As part of the next Scoping Plan process, the California Air Resources Board, in coordination with relevant state agencies, shall take into consideration the Natural and Working Lands Climate Smart Strategy and science-based data to update the target for the natural and working lands sector in achieving the State's carbon neutrality goal.

8. The California Department of Food and Agriculture shall work with agricultural stakeholders to identify farmer- and rancher-led solutions to inform the next Scoping Plan process.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that as soon as hereafter possible, this Order be filed in the Office of the Secretary of State and that widespread publicity and notice be given to this Order.

This Order is not intended to, and does not, create any rights or benefits, substantive or procedural, enforceable of law or in equity, against the State of California, its agencies, departments, entities, officers, employees, or any other person.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be offered this 7th day of October 2020.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT
STATE OF CALIFORNIA

EXECUTIVE ORDER N-15-19

WHEREAS, in the early decades of California's statehood, the relationship between the State of California and California Native Americans was fraught with violence, exploitation, dispossession and the attempted destruction of tribal communities, as summed up by California's first Governor, Peter Burnett, in his 1851 address to the Legislature: "[t]hat a war of extermination will continue to be waged between the two races until the Indian race becomes extinct must be expected"; and

WHEREAS, the State of California's laws and policies discriminating against Native Americans and denying the existence of tribal government powers persisted well into the twentieth century; and

WHEREAS, despite these wrongs, California Native Americans resisted, survived and carried on cultural and linguistic traditions defying all odds; and

WHEREAS, the State of California and California Native Americans have never jointly formally examined or documented their relationship for the express purpose of acknowledging and accounting for historical wrongs committed by the State of California toward California Native Americans; and

WHEREAS, the State of California has never formally apologized for historical wrongs tolerated, encouraged, subsidized and committed by State actors against California Native Americans; and

WHEREAS, the State of California seeks to more closely explore the historical relationship between the State of California and California Native Americans in the spirit of truth and healing through the establishment of a Truth and Healing Council; and

WHEREAS, the State of California intends that the work of the Truth and Healing Council be done respectfully and in collaboration and consultation with California Native American tribes pursuant to this Executive Order and Executive Order B-10-11.

The Truth and Healing Council shall be led and convened by the Governor's Tribal Advisor and shall include representatives or delegates from California Native American tribes, and may include relevant state and local agencies, as well other relevant non-governmental stakeholders.

3. The Truth and Healing Council shall consult with California Native American tribes to shape the overarching focus and develop the work of the Council and shall endeavor to accurately represent the diversity of experience of California Native Americans within the State of California.

4. The Truth and Healing Council shall: (i) report draft findings to the Governor's Tribal Advisor on an annual basis beginning January 1, 2020 and (ii) produce a final written report of findings regarding the historical relationship between the State of California and California Native Americans on or before January 1, 2025.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that as soon as hereafter possible, this Order shall be filed with the Office of the Secretary of State and that widespread publicity and notice shall be given to this Order.

This Order is not intended to, and does not, create any rights or benefits, substantive or procedural, enforceable at law or in equity, against the State of California, its agencies, departments, entities, officers, employees, or any other person.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 18th day of June 2019.

Re: Poseidon Resources, LLC; Seawater Desalination Project at Huntington Beach; Application for Coastal Development Permit; Appeal of Coastal Development Permit; 21730 Newland Street, Huntington Beach

Dear Mr. Luster and Honorable Commissioners:

We submit these comments to you on behalf of California Coastal Protection Network, California Coastkeeper Alliance, the Orange County Coastkeeper and the Surfrider Foundation concerning the Commission's review of the coastal development permits ("CDPs") sought by Poseidon Resources, Inc. for the Seawater Desalination Project at Huntington Beach ("Project").

If approved and constructed, the massive Poseidon Project will become the second-largest marine predator along California's 1,100-mile coastline.[1] The Project's open-water intakes will kill 108 million[2] fish larvae, eggs, and invertebrates each year, with dramatic impacts to miles of coastline that include Marine Protected Areas (MPAs). Its brine will pollute the habitat of surviving wildlife by increasing salinity and other chemical pollutants. The energy-intensive desalination process will result in greenhouse gases that exacerbate sea-level rise and coastal hazards while adding the electrical load equivalent of 38,732 homes to the grid.[3] The Poseidon Project is also unnecessary, considering North Orange County's demonstrated water demand, and unnecessarily expensive when compared to other methods of ensuring sustainable water supplies, such as conservation, recycling, or stormwater capture. Designed only as a "community facility" instead of International Building Code Risk Category IV[4] "critical infrastructure," the Project cannot even ensure its availability as an emergency water supply. On behalf of thousands of California resident members who treasure California's coastal resources, we urge you to reject this harmful Project, once and for all.

The Project was first considered by the Commission in 2006 and again in November 2010 pursuant to appeals of the CDP issued by the City of Huntington Beach. In response, the Commission adopted findings of Substantial Issue concerning the Project's compliance with Huntington Beach Local Coastal Program ("LCP") policies related to protection of marine life, water quality, protection of environmentally sensitive habitat areas ("ESHA"), energy use, public services, protection against seismic events and liquefaction, and whether the Project met LCP mitigation requirements. Yet, 15 years since the first appeal was filed and the Commission found substantial issues, Poseidon has failed to remedy the problems.

In November of 2013, Commission Staff prepared a detailed staff report.[5] The Report determined that, as initially proposed, the Poseidon Project violated numerous provisions of the Coastal Act and the LCP. In addition to the magnitude of impacts to marine wildlife, the Staff Report found that the high salinity of effluent discharge would harm coastal waters and marine life populations. Further, the Staff Report found the Project site is subject to a multitude of significant coastal and geological hazards, including floods, tsunami, surface fault rupture, ground movement, and liquefaction. Accordingly, Staff recommended approval of the Project only if strictly conditioned not to harm marine life through intakes or effluent; if reconfigured with a 100-foot buffer from wetlands and other mitigation to prevent noise effects on endangered, threatened and sensitive species; and if redesigned to address and withstand known and anticipated coastal and geological hazards. Poseidon withdrew its application for a retained jurisdiction CDP and requested another postponement of the appeals.

On June 29, 2021, Commission Staff sent Poseidon a list of questions and areas of remaining concern and asked Poseidon to address them before deeming the application complete. Staff posed additional questions and concerns to Poseidon on August 4, 2021, and again on October 7, 2021. At that time Staff identified a "way forward," despite Poseidon's repeated failure to provide information necessary to evaluate the Project's consistency with the Coastal Act and the Huntington Beach LCP and the site's open wetlands violation.

While Poseidon publicly claims that its project has been held up by unnecessary bureaucratic red tape, it is Poseidon's own refusal to comply with the law that is at fault. Unfortunately, our review of the CDP application for the Huntington Beach Desalination Plant reveals that Poseidon has failed to adequately modify its Project in response to concerns the Commission raised eight years ago. Nor has Poseidon removed concerns raised as recently as 2021. The Project is still too large for the demonstrated water demand, and the Applicant has failed to incorporate feasible alternatives and mitigation measures to reduce the Project's enormous environmental footprint. If approved, the current iteration of the Poseidon Project would violate the California Coastal Act and be inconsistent with the Huntington Beach Certified LCP. Further, of importance to both public safety and consistency with the Coastal Act and the LCP, Poseidon does not propose to construct the desalination facility to Risk Category IV "critical infrastructure" standards, even though the Project is intended to supply water in the event of an emergency, which renders it critical infrastructure under the Ocean Protection Council's 2018 State of California Sea- Level Rise Guidance, and thereby subject to heightened Sea Level Rise projections.

We urge the Commission to deny the Project's CDPs.

VII. Conclusion 64

I. The Coastal Commission Can and Must Use its Authority to Analyze Less Damaging Alternatives and to Impose the Maximum Feasible Mitigation Available.

Coastal Act section 30233 only allows dredging and filling in coastal waters "where there is no feasible less environmentally damaging alternative." This requirement to consider alternatives to the proposed project is also mandated under CEQA, as discussed in Section II below.

a. The Commission Retains Authority to Consider Alternatives to Regional Board Decisions.

Before discussing alternatives to the project, it is critical to understand that the Commission is not bound by the Santa Ana Regional Water Quality Control Board's prior issuance of the Water Code § 13142.5(b) determination (13142.5 Determination). Regardless of the Regional Board's primary responsibility over water quality, the Commission retains authority to require an alternative to the project under Coastal Act section 30233 to ensure the full enforcement of marine life protections articulated in Coastal Act section 30230. Further, any alternatives required could bring the project into compliance with section 30231

Chapter 5, section 30412 states:

> (a) In addition to Section 13142.5 of the Water Code, this section shall apply to the commission and the State Water Resources Control Board and the California regional water quality control boards.
> (b) The State Water Resources Control Board and the California regional water quality control boards are the state agencies with primary responsibility for the coordination and control of water quality. The State Water Resources Control Board has primary responsibility for the administration of water rights pursuant to applicable law. The commission shall assure that proposed development and local coastal programs shall not frustrate this section. The commission shall not, except as provided in subdivision (c), modify, adopt conditions, or take any action in conflict with any determination by the State Water Resources Control Board or any California regional water quality > control board in matters relating to water quality or the administration of water rights.

> Except as provided in this section, nothing herein shall be interpreted in any way either as prohibiting or limiting the commission, local government, or port governing body from exercising the regulatory controls over development pursuant to this division in a manner necessary to carry out this division.

(emphasis added). This delegation of authority to the Regional Board is limited to decisions concerning water quality and water rights but does not include decisions regarding marine life protection. Therefore, the Regional Board's "Section 13142.5(b) Determination" is outside the scope of Coastal Act section 30412.

First, subsection 30412 (a) provides that this section is inclusive of Water Code section 13142.5. But, aside from subsection (b), Water Code section 13142.5 regulates water quality. Coastal Act Section 30412(b) clearly articulates that the Coastal Commission shall not take any action "in conflict" with any determination by the Regional Board in "matters relating to water quality or the administration of water rights." But the Regional Board's "Section 13142.5(b) Determination" does not necessarily regulate water quality because it applies only to the seawater intake.

Water Code Section 13142.5(b) states:

> For each new or expanded coastal powerplant or other industrial installation using seawater for cooling, heating, or industrial processing, the best available site, design, technology, and mitigation measures feasible shall be used to minimize the intake and mortality of all forms of marine life.

Coastal Act Section 30412 should not be read to eliminate the Commission's authority to Protect coastal resources by requiring alternatives. The Commission has authority to require modifications to what the Regional Board found was the best site for the facility, the best design (size), the best technology (subsurface intakes), or even consider and incorporate the best mitigation.

Additionally, the policy objectives in Coastal Act Section 30230 differ from the objective of Water Code Section 13142.5(b). The Water Code merely seeks to ensure "[minimization of] the intake and mortality of all forms of marine life." In contrast, Coastal Act 30230 mandates: "Marine resources shall be maintained, enhanced, and, where feasible, restored." We disagree that the Regional Board adequately enforced

Water Code section 13142.5(b). Regardless of the Regional Board decision, however, alternatives for meeting regional water reliability are available that do more than just minimize intake and mortality – the alternatives discussed below are proven and feasible ways to enhance and restore marine resources.

Finally, regarding the best technology to minimize intake and mortality, the Regional Board concluded Poseidon had provided an "identified need" for 50 million gallons of water per day (mgd). The record clearly shows that alternatives are available to ensure a reliable supply for predicted demand. Again, Coastal Act Section 30412 does not prohibit reconsideration of the "need" for 50 mgd, nor findings by the Commission that alternatives not only ensure a reliable supply to meet demands into the foreseeable future, but that those alternatives are mandated under Section 30233.

Below we document several alternatives that would "feasibly restore marine life populations" in compliance with Section 30230 rather than continue the destruction of marine life through surface screened intakes. These alternatives would also make significant improvements to ocean water quality in furtherance of Coastal Act Section 30231.

b. The Coastal Act Requires the Commission to Consider Less Damaging Alternatives to the Project.

The Coastal Act requires heightened protections where projects include dredge and fill in coastal waters, as proposed here.

Coastal Act Section 30233, subdivision (a) prohibits filling or dredging when less damaging alternatives exist. Specifically, the section provides, the filling or dredging of open coastal waters, wetlands, estuaries, and lakes shall be permitted in accordance with other applicable provisions of this division, "where there is no feasible less environmentally damaging alternative, and where feasible mitigation measures have been provided to minimize adverse environmental effects." As a preliminary matter, the Commission must utilize any feasible, less environmentally damaging alternatives to the Poseidon Project.

Section 30260 provides for the accommodation of certain developments "where new or expanded coastal-dependent industrial facilities cannot feasibly be accommodated consistent with other policies of this division." However, this section is limited to specific types of development, none of which apply to the Project. Moreover, in order to permit the Project under this section, the Commission must make and support findings that: "(1) alternative locations are infeasible or more environmentally damaging; (2) to do otherwise would adversely affect the public welfare; and (3) adverse environmental effects are mitigated to the maximum extent feasible." Both sections require the Commission to incorporate all feasible mitigation if it determines alternatives are infeasible.

The Coastal Act defines "feasible" as "capable of being accomplished in a successful manner within a reasonable period of time, taking into account economic, environmental, social, and technological factors." (Coastal Act Section 30108.) Findings about feasibility must be supported. The Commission cannot simply take Poseidon at its word that a proposed alternative or mitigation measure is infeasible, without independent evidentiary support.

Finally, the Commission must keep any "public welfare" determination made under section 30260 separate from its determination about whether a particular alternative or mitigation is feasible. Even if the Commission finds the Project important to public welfare, this does not mean Poseidon is not fully capable of bearing or passing on to its consumers the full cost of appropriate alternatives or mitigation. Passing the public welfare test cannot enable mitigation avoidance.

The Project requires a dredge and fill permit to modify the existing AES intake and discharge structures, and to construct the artificial reef required to "minimize intake and mortality" as part of the Regional Board's 13142.5(b) determination, as well as to grade on-site historical wetlands. Yet, all of the Project's planned dredge and fill, and the resulting environmental impacts, could be avoided or dramatically minimized with feasible alternatives. These alternatives include conservation, acquiring water from the Metropolitan Water District's proposed wastewater recycling plant in Carson, and through construction and operation of a smaller desalination facility, tailored to supply the amount of water actually needed to satisfy demand, where slant wells may be feasible. Thus, the Commission has not only the authority but the responsibility to analyze and require feasible, less environmentally damaging alternatives. Sections 30233 and 30260 of the Act require rejection of the Poseidon Project, as proposed.

i. The Region's Water Needs Could Be Satisfied Through Conservation or Through Construction of a Smaller Facility.

Poseidon's application seeks CDPs for a 50 mgd facility, but Poseidon has never demonstrated a local need for 50 mgd of desalinated water. Since around 2000, when Poseidon first proposed the project, water demand in Orange County has remained relatively flat. The Orange County Water District has successfully completed a wastewater recycling facility – the Groundwater Replenishment System (GWRS). GWRS currently supplies a local drought-proof supply of approximately 100 million mgd – twice the volume Poseidon proposes. Further, the GWRS is on track to expand production by an additional approximate 30 mgd. The predicted shortfall for which Poseidon proposed a 50 mgd facility has not materialized.

Looking forward, the Metropolitan Water District of Orange County's 2018 Water Reliability Study demonstrated that "the need for additional water supplies for the OC Basin is fairly small," and occurs once in 20 years.[6] The Study concluded that a 10 percent water cutback would fill the supply gap. The Study further compared eight water reliability supply alternatives for filling a ten percent supply gap, including the Poseidon Project. The Study found that alternatives better met the District's needs. Further, the 2020 Metropolitan Water District of Orange County Urban Water Management Plan (UWMP), drafted prior to and only published after the Regional Board's conditional approval of the Project, further concluded that the region had sufficient water supplies and discussed plans to continue increasing supplies through conservation and recycling.[7] While seawater desalination is considered, the Plan notably does not state a need for the Poseidon Project to conclude there will be water supply reliability for the foreseeable future.

This is relevant to the Commission's review because Poseidon has never provided a good faith analysis of conservation, of recycled wastewater, or of a smaller desalination facility designed to meet the region's actual shortfall between water supply and water demand. Water conservation would require no construction, dredge, or fill in the coastal zone, and would fully eliminate impacts to ESHA, coastal wetlands, frontline communities, recreation, and marine life. It would require no armoring or fill that would later become an island. Conservation and wastewater recycling would also be significantly less impactful from a greenhouse gas standpoint.[8] Finally, these alternatives would have direct benefits to ocean water quality from outdoor water conservation programs that reduce polluted runoff, as well as wastewater recycling benefits of significantly limiting wastewater treatment plant effluent discharge to the ocean – all benefits required under Coastal Act Section 30231.

Compared to the Project, a smaller desalination facility would reduce construction impacts, such as dredge and fill, and associated impacts to wetlands, ESHA, and beach access. Importantly, the proposed surface intake with wedgewire screens would only reduce entrainment by one percent or less than a similar volume from continued use of the now-outlawed cooling water intake.[9] A facility producing less than 50 mgd would need to process far less water through its intakes, thereby reducing the facility's impact on marine life through entrainment and impingement. A smaller facility could potentially avoid entrainment and impingement altogether by feasibly incorporating slant wells or other subsurface intake technology. Less desalination would also mean less brine: a smaller facility would discharge less hypersaline brine into coastal waters, thereby reducing water quality, marine life, and recreational impacts. Operation of a smaller facility would also limit the electricity demand of the desalination facility, thereby reducing its greenhouse impacts and contribution to future sea-level rise that endangers coastal resources. Importantly, subsurface intakes would significantly reduce energy demand because the natural filtration eliminates the need for costly and energy intensive in-plant pre-filtration.

ii. The Carson Project Is a Feasible Alternative that Would Reduce Project Impacts.

The Metropolitan Water District (MWD) is currently planning a Potable Reuse project on the site of the Los Angeles County Wastewater Treatment Plant (WWTP) in Carson ("Carson Project"). The Carson project would provide approximately 150 mgd, or approximately 160,000 acre feet per year (afy) for regional distribution.[10] The most recent 2020 MWD "White Paper" shows approximately 60 mgd could be "feasibly" delivered to Orange County for groundwater basin recharge – more water than the 50 mgd Poseidon Project would produce.[11] The Carson project would meet OCWD's claimed need for a drought-proof supply of potable water.

Importantly for Coastal Act section 30233 compliance, the Carson Project could feasibly deliver recharge water for the Orange County Basin while eliminating dredge and fill around the proposed Poseidon Project's intake and discharge structures. Because it would eliminate intake and mortality of marine life, it would eliminate dredge and fill at the site of the proposed artificial reef mitigation project. The Carson Project would further improve ocean habitat through reduced ocean discharges from the Carson WWTP. For these reasons, the Carson Project is a feasible alternative that is consistent with Coastal Act sections 30230 and 30231.

Coastal Act Section 30231 provides, "The biological productivity and the quality of coastal waters, streams, wetlands, estuaries, and lakes appropriate to maintain optimum populations of marine organisms and for the protection of human health shall be maintained and, where feasible, restored through, among other means, minimizing adverse effects of waste water discharges and entrainment, controlling runoff, preventing depletion of ground water supplies and substantial interference with surface waterflow, encouraging waste water reclamation, maintaining natural vegetation buffer areas that protect riparian habitats, and minimizing alteration of natural streams." (emphasis added.) In contrast to the proposed desalination facility, the Carson Project will feasibly "restore" water quality for both marine life and human health by "minimizing adverse effects of wastewater discharges and entrainment." Likewise, in contrast to the proposed project, the "Carson Project" complies with the Coastal Act Section 30230 mandate that "Marine resources shall be maintained, enhanced, and where feasible, restored. Special protection shall be given to areas and species of special biological or economic significance. Uses of the marine environment shall be carried out in a manner that will sustain the biological productivity of coastal waters and that will maintain healthy populations of all species of marine organisms adequate for long-term commercial, recreational, scientific, and educational purposes." The Commission should note that the existing cooling water intake will be discontinued in 2023, which would help "restore" marine life populations – if not for the proposed plan to re-purpose the structures for Poseidon's continued use.

The Commission must review the Carson Project as a less-damaging alternative water supply to the Project. Only after the Commission has determined that there are no "less environmentally damaging alternatives," may it move to the next step of the inquiry, conditioning the Project on minimizing the impacts of dredge and fill through mitigation. Less damaging and feasible alternatives to the Project exist, and we urge the Commission to deny the CDPs for this harmful Project.

iii. A Smaller Desalination Facility is Feasible.

Achieving reliable water supplies into the foreseeable future does not require the Poseidon proposed 50 mgd project. Further, although we disagree with the analyses and conclusions in the Regional Board's "13142.5(b) Determination" regarding "identified need" and the feasibility of slant well intake technology, the heightened standards for marine life protection in Coastal Act section 30230 mandate a different analysis and conclusion by the Commission. A smaller desalination facility sited and designed to use subsurface wells for withdrawing source water is feasible and must be required under the Coastal Act policies.

The Regional Board staff analyses concluded that slant wells were "technically infeasible."[12] This was based on the ISTAP Phase 2 report.[13] But these conclusions were based on information supplied by the Orange County Water District (OCWD), Poseidon's partner in the proposed "public-private-partnership" (PPP) proposal. OCWD claimed that withdrawal of more than 1,000 afy of freshwater into the slant wells was unacceptable.[14] Closer scrutiny shows that OCWD's objection to freshwater withdrawal into slant wells was primarily based on the cost of replacing that water.[15] OCWD's conclusion regarding freshwater withdrawal was: "Not only would this interfere with the operation and benefits of OCWD's Talbert Seawater Barrier, the volume of extracted groundwater would need to be accounted for in OCWD's annual water budget, meaning it would need to be balanced by some combination of increased replenishment water or reduced pumping – which would be a substantial financial impact to OCWD and its ratepayers."[16] While the record shows that OCWD was primarily concerned about the "cost" of freshwater withdrawal, neither the ISTAP nor the Regional Board conducted the analysis necessary to support a conclusion of economic feasibility.

Importantly, a report provided by HydroFocus, the hydrogeologist experts who conducted the CalAm-Monterey slant well analyses, found that the reports prepared by Geosyntec for Poseidon needed to be calibrated with physical data for reliability.[17] Further, the HydroFocus 2 report showed that if OCWD modified the volume of water injected into the Talbert Gap seawater intrusion barrier, and added slant wells for seawater desalination source water, the volume of freshwater withdrawn could be significantly reduced.[18] On behalf of Poseidon, Geosyntec responded that the HydroFocus modeling showed the freshwater withdrawal would still exceed the 1000 afy economic threshold asserted by OCWD. Again, importantly, neither ISTAP nor the Regional Board conducted an economic feasibility analysis. It should be noted that subsurface intakes can significantly reduce energy demand because they source water filtration that is needed from expensive and energy intensive in-plant pre-filtration systems – and this benefit translates to both construction and operation costs associated with screened surface intakes.

Further, the Geosyntec response to the 2020 HydroFocus Report[19] concluded that a 25 mgd seawater intake through slant wells would withdraw 1120 afy of freshwater – a small marginal increase above the OCWD self-determined 1000 afy threshold. A 25 mgd seawater intake volume could produce approximately 12 mgd of potable water, only approximately 120 afy over OCWD's arbitrary1000 afy threshold.

Given that the 2020 MWDOC UWMP concludes water demand in the foreseeable future can be reliably met without the 50 mgd proposed facility, a 12 mgd facility is a feasible alternative.

Finally, OCWD is conducting a study to plan construction of a new seawater intrusion barrier in the Sunset Gap just north of the proposed Poseidon facility. The situation in Sunset Gap is similar to the seawater intrusion barrier in the Talbert Gap studied by HydroFocus: seawater intrusion is threatening nearby freshwater production wells. The wells constructed for this barrier could provide a reliable, drought-proof water sources.

The OCWD study includes a combination of injection wells inland of the planned barrier as well as extraction wells seaward of the planned barrier – similar to the HydroFocus 2 simulations.[20] OCWD plans to extract 3 mgd seaward of the proposed barrier in combination with injection 13 mgd of fresh water inland of the barrier.[21] Mr. Herndon from OCWD noted that the extracted water could be desalted if the salinity was low enough to make it economically feasible. He also noted that an alternative plan could be to rely solely on extraction wells in lieu of any inland injection wells -- but he did not indicate what volume would be extracted. Clearly, the water extracted from the proposed wells would be equal to or less saline than water extracted from the screened surface intake Poseidon proposes, and consequently more economically feasible.

This new study, not considered by the Regional Board "13142.5(b) Determination," is substantiating evidence that the HydroFocus 2 report should be given substantial weight in determining the economic feasibility of alternative sized facilities utilizing subsurface intakes. Further, this study introduces a potential new site for a desalination facility that may provide a more economical solution because it would provide source water for desalination as a by-product of seawater intrusion protection.

Finally, in regard to the "economic feasibility" analysis that has yet to be conducted, the Commission must consider the context of a proposed desalination facility with construction costs at approximately $1.3 billion. It is difficult to imagine the additional cost of 1,000 acre feet of water per year would render the project "economically infeasible."

For example, OCWD quoted a replacement cost of $445 per acre foot. An annual cost would be $445,000 per year). The annual revenue from Project water sales would be, at a conservative minimum, $102 million ($2,000 ac/ft X 56,000 ac/ft/yr = $102,000,000 per year). Therefore, the marginal cost for replacing the freshwater withdrawn at $445,000 / $102,000,000 would be less than half of one percent of Poseidon's annual revenue. Poseidon would need to show that a minor cost escalation of less than one percent would "render the project unviable."

Coastal Act Section 30233 mandates alternatives to the proposed project. A smaller desalination facility utilizing subsurface intakes is clearly a feasible alternative.

c. The Commission Has The Duty and Authority to Impose the Maximum Feasible Mitigation Available to Protect Coastal Resources.

The Coastal Commission retains jurisdiction and is obligated to impose the "maximum feasible mitigation available" on the Project to ensure its consistency to protect coastal resources, wildlife, and public safety, consistent with the Coastal Act and the Huntington Beach certified LCP. (Section 30260.) As proposed, the Project fails to incorporate all feasible mitigation measures to minimize its well-documented adverse effects, in violation of Coastal Act section 30233 and section 30260.

The Commission's feasibility standard is a high bar, and it cannot be overcome simply because a proposed mitigation measure or technology is not cheap or easy. On the contrary, innovation can and should be expected of projects that will impose great environmental cost. An alternative or mitigation is not infeasible unless there is "evidence that the additional costs or lost profitability are sufficiently severe as to render it impractical to proceed with the project." (Citizens of Goleta Valley, supra, 197 Cal.App.3d 1167, 1181; Uphold Our Heritage v. Town of Woodside (2007) 147 Cal.App.4th 587, 599.) The Coastal Act defines "feasible" in the same way as the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA), "capable of being accomplished in a successful manner within a reasonable period of time, taking into account economic, environmental, social, and technological factors." (Compare Coastal Act Section 30108 with Pub. Resources Code § 21061.1.) Thus, CEQA case law is instructive on this issue. "[I]f the project can be economically successful with mitigation, then CEQA requires that mitigation…" (Uphold our Heritage, supra, 147 Cal.App. 4th at 600.) In short, the Commission should not "authorize an agency to proceed with a project that will have significant, unmitigated effects on the environment…unless the measures necessary to mitigate those effects are truly infeasible." (City of Marina v. Board of Trustees of the California State University (2006) 39 Cal.4th 341, 368, emphasis added.) Under this standard, each potential mitigation measure is analyzed individually.

Outside the CEQA context, courts have applied more stringent definitions of feasibility. Regarding a water safety regulation claimed infeasible by industry, the Court of Appeal held, "A standard is not infeasible simply because it is financially burdensome or even because it threatens the survival of some companies within an industry [citation]. A standard is economically feasible if the costs it imposes do not 'threaten massive dislocation to or imperil the existence of, the industry." (California Manufacturers & Technology Assn. v. State Water Resources Control Bd. (2021) 64 Cal.App.5th 266, 282-283.)

Poseidon has not demonstrated the infeasibility of Project alternatives and mitigation measures, including, but not limited to, the Carson Project, a smaller project, alternative intake locations, and slant wells. While Poseidon makes these claims, these claims do not supply substantial evidence necessary to support Commission findings. The Commission should obtain or conduct an independent economic feasibility analysis and not simply take Poseidon at its word.

During Regional Board proceedings, two alternative intake locations were identified that would reduce marine life mortality.[22] However, Poseidon claimed that the time it would take to relocate intakes to new locations, and the time it would take to receive permits for the changes, would cut into its profits. The very idea that a Project could be made infeasible solely because permitting agencies follow California law is absurd. Even if this absurd notion were accepted, case law is clear that reduced profits do not render a project infeasible. (City of Marina, supra, 39 Cal. 4th at 368, emphasis added.)

The Project also fails to include slant wells, which have been deemed feasible for other proposed desalination plants. When other similar projects implement particular mitigation measures, it is evidence that those measures are feasible. (Western States Petroleum Association v. Southern California Air Quality Management District (2006) 136 Cal.App.4th 1012, 1020 [no evidence showing that refineries could not make the same air pollution control changes one refinery made or that the cost of such changes would be prohibitive].) Poseidon has claimed slant wells to be infeasible, but the record shows that the determination of infeasibility rests on primarily economic concerns, and there are no economic feasibility analyses included. It also relies on the independent scientific technical advisory panel (ISTAP) for this conclusion[23], but, notably, the ISTAP failed to analyze the economic feasibility of slant wells, and the process was never completed. Commission staff had recommended that Poseidon fund a third phase, but this phase never occurred. "Infeasible" means that the Project cannot be completed, not that it might be marginally less profitable and not that an applicant has not bothered to study a mitigation measure for a project. Unlike the Poseidon Project, the proponents of both the Cal-Am and Doheny desalination proposals studied the feasibility of slant wells and calibrated the computer modeling with test wells – a critical step missing in this CDP application.[24]

The CalAm and Doheny tests demonstrate that slant wells are feasible, in particular for a desalination facility that is actually designed to meet the area's water demand.[25] Despite Poseidon's claim that OCWD needs 50 mgd, the 2020 Urban Water Management Plan for the Municipal Water District of Orange County recently determined that rare demand shortfalls can be more feasibly met with alternatives to the Project.[26] A smaller facility designed to produce only what OCWD needs could feasibly supply seawater through slant well intakes, thereby avoiding the massive entrapment and entrainment impacts of open water intakes, as well as the maintenance concerns posed by wedgewire screens.

[26] The Municipal Water District of Orange County (MWDOC) 2020 UMWP and 2018 Reliability Study demonstrate the projected need for water can be met with alternatives. The Regional Board relied on the 2015 Urban Water Management Plan in determining the region's water "need" for 56,000 afy.

As proposed, the mitigation incorporated into the Project is insufficient. For example, the State Water Resources Control Board acknowledges that the wedgewire screens would reduce entrainment of marine organisms by a single percent, or less.[27] This abysmal performance assumes that the wedgewire screens do not experience the same unexpected maintenance issues experienced at the Carlsbad Desalination Plant.

Other Project mitigation itself will harm wildlife. The Project will incorporate linear brine diffusers on the outfall, which themselves cause marine life mortality through shear.[28] In the turbulent mixing zone of a diffuser, entrained eggs, larvae and juvenile adults suffer both impact mortality from direct contact with the high velocity core of a diffuser jet and turbulent shear mortality along the edges of the turbulent mixing zone. Marine eggs, larvae, soft shelled veligers, and juvenile adults are particularly vulnerable to becoming distorted or ripped apart, particularly when the size of the affected organisms is comparable to the Kolmogorov turbulent mixing lengths.[29] Outfall systems can be designed to try to reduce shearing impacts on larger organisms, but the size-specific nature of shear mortality may limit these mortality reductions to larger juvenile and adult organisms. While it was previously thought that the use of linear diffusers on outfalls would reduce marine life mortality of a desalination plant by reducing entrainment caused by plant intakes, more study is needed. Linear diffusers increase the size of the turbulent mixing zone, where shear mortality occurs, shear mortality rates in and along the edge of the turbulent mixing zone are very high, and mitigation of impacts to eggs larvae, and juvenile organisms may not be possible. [30]

Proposed Project mitigation is also speculative. Wetland mitigation sites at Bolsa Chica will likely go underwater during the life of the Project. A recent study evaluating the sustainability of the Bolsa Chica Lowlands Restoration Project concluded, "In the long term (2060 to 2100), placement or redistribution of sediment appears to be the only remediation measure available to provide coastal salt marsh habitat under projected [28] Even documents produced in support of desalination facilities describe shear mortality. increases in sea levels."[31] The wetlands are unable to migrate inland because they are surrounded by urban development.[32] Figure 4-4 of the attached report shows substantial inundation of Bolsa Chica in 2060 and near-total inundation in 2100 under even minimum anticipated levels of sea level rise.

Moreover, if the Commission is inclined to approve the Project, it must be conditioned on being designed and constructed to Risk Category IV Critical Infrastructure standards. As proposed, the Project will be subject to sea-level rise, coastal flooding, and tsunami, all while being built along an active and dangerous fault line. Unless constructed to withstand geologic, coastal, and seismic hazards while continuing to operate safely at full capacity, the Project would run counter to several Coastal Act and LCP policies.

Poseidon has not disclosed the basis for any of its infeasibility claims, and its conclusions about slant wells are based on a lack of study. Thus, neither the public nor the decisionmakers can confirm whether any of the proffered alternatives or mitigation measures are truly economically infeasible. The few datasets that are cited regarding alternative locations and intakes are woefully out-of-date and, in some instances, have been superseded by studies demonstrating feasibility. Consequently, the Commission currently lacks substantial evidence supporting any infeasibility findings it makes on Poseidon's behalf. The Commission must also remember that, even if it is able to find that a particular mitigation measure is infeasible, it does not mean that all mitigation is infeasible. It just means that other mitigation must be incorporated for that impact. Poseidon should not be allowed to claim that "maximum feasible mitigation" means "no mitigation." Nor should Poseidon be allowed to claim under section 30260 that, because water supports the public welfare, the Project is exempt from mitigation. This is especially true, here, where mitigation costs can be passed on to end users, and where the Project is seeking public funding.[33] Given the gravity of the consequences of these determinations, the Coastal Commission cannot be expected to rely on Poseidon's unsupported assertions. An independent and thorough feasibility analysis must be conducted.

Finally, we note that Poseidon has known about the environmental groups' concerns and mitigation proposals for well over a decade by this point. Management failure on the part of a project proponent to properly anticipate and budget for these costs in its financial calculations and product delivery contracts is not a reason to assert that mitigation is economically infeasible. Mitigation for project impacts is as easily anticipated as any other cost of doing business on a major project, and management decisions solely in the interests of Poseidon's business plan should not provide a basis to pass the Project's enormous environmental costs on to the public or to future generations.

Regardless of the Regional Board's findings on this issue, the Commission must require conformance with the Coastal Act, require all feasible mitigation of environmental impacts, and select less-damaging alternatives.

II. The Commission Has the Authority and the Duty to Analyze the Environmental Impacts of the Project, and Recent Project Changes, Under CEQA.

The Coastal Commission derives its authority under CEQA to review the CDPs from at least two sources. First, the Coastal Commission's program for reviewing and granting CDPs is a certified regulatory program that serves as a "functional equivalent" of CEQA. (Pub. Resources Code § 21080.5 (c); 14 CCR § 15251(c).) The Commission's administrative regulations require CDP application approvals to be supported by a finding that the application, as modified by any conditions of approval, is consistent with any applicable requirements of CEQA. (Section 13096.)

Second, the Commission is a responsible agency for the Project under CEQA, although the City of Huntington Beach and the State Lands Commission have served as the lead agencies for environmental impact report (EIR) preparation. (14 CCR § 15381.) Because the Commission must take discretionary action regarding the Poseidon Project's CDPs, it must comply with CEQA. While CEQA permits a responsible agency to rely on a lead agency's CEQA document, the Commission complies with CEQA "by considering the EIR or negative declaration prepared by the Lead Agency and by reaching its own conclusions on whether and how to approve the project involved." (14 CCR § 15096(a).) The Commission retains responsibility for mitigating or avoiding the direct or indirect environmental impacts of the portions of the project that approves. (14 CCR § 15096(g)(1).)

CEQA's primary purpose is to ensure that the environmental consequences of an action are disclosed to the public and to agency decisionmakers before that action is taken. Put another way:

> The CEQA process is intended to be a careful examination, fully open to the public, of the environmental consequences of a given project, covering the entire > project, from start to finish. This examination is intended to provide the fullest information reasonably available upon which the decision makers and the public they serve can rely in determining whether or not to start the project at all, not merely to decide whether to finish it. The EIR is intended to furnish both the road map and the environmental price tag for a project, so that the decision maker and the public both know, before the journey begins, just where the journey will lead, and how much they-and the environment-will have to give up in order to take that journey."

(Natural Resources Defense Council v. City of Los Angeles (2002) 103 Cal.App.4th 268, 271.) CEQA further contains a substantive mandate that a project's adverse environmental impacts must be avoided or reduced to the extent feasible through the incorporation of project alternatives or mitigation measures. (Pub. Resources Code § 21002.) For this reason, it is imperative that alternatives and mitigation measures not be foreclosed prior to project approval. (Save Tara v. City of West Hollywood (2008) 45 Cal.4th 116, 138.) Environmental review must occur prior to project approval.

a. CEQA Requires Environmental Review of Project Changes, Including the Marine Life Mitigation Plan and the Artificial Reef.

Although we dispute the adequacy of the Poseidon Project's CEQA review, we acknowledge that environmental impacts for portions of the Project have been certified. However, no environmental review has been conducted for the Marine Life Mitigation Plan portion of the Project, which will include the construction of an artificial reef near Palos Verdes, which we have reason to believe is in relatively close proximity to DDT contamination,[34] among other impactful activities. Sinking debris into the ocean will undoubtedly have environmental impacts, and these impacts must be disclosed, analyzed, and fully mitigated before the Commission may approve portions of the Project reliant on the Marine Life Mitigation Plan. The reef will require transporting large quantities of quarried rock from Catalina Island, which will generate greenhouse gas and air pollution-attributable impacts from both quarrying and barge transport. There will also be cumulative impacts from the dredge and fill for the intake and discharge locations, combined with the exact same kind of activity at the artificial reef site. Environmental review has not been conducted for changes to the discharge structures imposed by the Santa Ana Regional Water Quality Control Board, either. That review was a narrowly focused Addendum that did not consider the direct or cumulative impacts from the artificial reef construction that they mandated as part of the "13142.5(b) Determination."

It appears that some future review of the Marine Life Mitigation Plan may be contemplated, later, by the State Lands Commission, after Poseidon applies for the lease needed to construct the reef, but "CEQA's informational purpose 'is not satisfied by simply stating information will be provided in the future.'" (Vineyard Area Citizens v. City of Rancho Cordova (2007) 40 Cal.4th 412, 440-41.) The information must be disclosed and evaluated, now, before approvals provide momentum that forecloses feasible alternatives or mitigation measures that may have fewer environmental risks. Approval of the Project without a thorough, prior, analysis of project components such as the artificial reef violates CEQA.

CEQA requires environmental review to evaluate the "whole of a project" and not simply its constituent parts when determining whether it will have a significant environmental effect. (CEQA Guidelines § 15003(h).) Separating the Marine Life Mitigation Plan and the changes to the Project discharge structures from the rest of the Project results in impermissible segmentation.

CEQA also requires that environmental documents evaluate mitigation measures – both the adverse environmental impacts caused by mitigation and the efficacy of that mitigation. (14 CCR § 15126.4; San Joaquin Raptor Rescue Center v. County of Merced (2007) 149 Cal.App.4th 645.) Here, neither has occurred, leaving the Commission in a precarious position. The Commission has not received any information about the reef's potential environmental consequences, so it cannot make a decision about whether to approve the reef or how to condition it so that it complies with the Coastal Act. The same goes for other portions of the Marine Life Mitigation Plan. The Commission also lacks information of the efficacy of the Marine Life Mitigation Plan as mitigation for the Poseidon Project's harm to marine organisms. Similarly, the Commission does not have before it environmental review of the changes to the discharge structures. Given the enormous potential of discharge shear to cause mortality of marine organisms, this information is critical. The Commission cannot determine whether the Project will actually offset its environmental harms or whether more mitigation is needed. Nor can it support its findings on these issues, as required.

While CEQA permits reliance on prior EIRs, this reliance does not extend to changes to a Project that occur between EIR certification and the grant of a new discretionary approval, when those changes and their impacts were not analyzed in the certified EIR. (Pub. Resources Code § 21166.) Subsequent or supplemental environmental review must occur when changes to a Project necessitate revisions to the EIR for it to retain relevance and accuracy. (14 CCR §§ 15162, 15163.) In particular, CEQA requires preparation of subsequent environmental review when:

(1) Substantial changes are proposed in the project which will require major revisions of the previous EIR or negative declaration due to the involvement of new significant environmental effects or a substantial increase in the severity of previously identified significant effects;

(2) Substantial changes occur with respect to the circumstances under which the project is undertaken which will require major revisions of the previous EIR or negative declaration due to the involvement of new significant environmental effects or a substantial increase in the severity of previously identified significant effects; or

(3) New information of substantial importance, which was not known and could not have been known with the exercise of reasonable diligence at the time the previous EIR was certified as complete or the negative declaration was adopted, shows any of the following:

(A) The project will have one or more significant effects not discussed in the previous EIR or negative declaration;

(B) Significant effects previously examined will be substantially more severe than shown in the previous EIR;

(C) Mitigation measures or alternatives previously found not to be feasible would in fact be feasible and would substantially reduce one or more significant effects of the project, but the project proponents decline to adopt the mitigation measure or alternative; or

(D) Mitigation measures or alternatives which are considerably different from those analyzed in the previous EIR would substantially reduce one or more significant effects on the environment, but the project proponents decline to adopt the mitigation measure or alternative.

(14 CCR § 15162 (a).)

Substantial changes have been incorporated into the Project, the circumstances under which the Project is being evaluated have changed, and new information of substantial importance has been developed since the Project's last relevant environmental review. In particular, the Project now proposes mass grading on a toxic site to remove existing berms to build the foundation 14 to 16 feet higher – above the level where coastal flooding is expected in the near-term. This change has significant environmental implications related to air quality and construction, hazards and toxics, air quality, water quality, and environmental justice. As Commission staff found in 2013:

> Based on limited sampling at the site, there are known and expected soil and groundwater contaminants that Poseidon will need to remediate. Although sampling has not yet been conducted beneath the storage tanks, which cover a substantial area of the project footprint, Poseidon proposes to implement a Remedial Action Plan (RAP) that includes excavation and removal of up to about 18,000 cubic yards of soil (a worst-case estimate) containing petroleum and possibly other contaminants.[35]

The site is toxic, and doubling the expected quantity of grading will have environmental impacts that have not yet been studied. This alone requires supplemental environmental analysis. As soil sampling has not yet occurred, the extent of contamination is unknown, and the measures needed to remediate the expected contamination have not yet been identified. Remediation may require removal and disposal of contaminated soil, coupled with import of soil needed to raise the Project's base elevation. The Project leans on deferred analysis and deferred mitigation. CEQA provides the Commission with authority to analyze and mitigate these impacts to air quality, coastal access and traffic, hazards, water quality, and biological resources now, not later.

Further, northern Orange County's water demand has decreased over time, and much more is known about the shear mortality impacts of linear brine diffusers, the Project's impacts on marine organism mortality, and the local near-term impacts of climate change. Alternatives – such as reliance on conservation measures, a smaller project, and the Carson Project – are now feasible. Finally, mitigation measures such as slant wells have proven feasible at other sites. The conditions for subsequent environmental review – whether through the Commission's CDP process or otherwise – are met. Since certification of the 2010 SEIR, additional changes to the Project, circumstances, and substantial new information include, but are not limited to:

- Orange County Water District (OCWD) has announced expansion of the Groundwater Replenishment System to add 30 million more gallons per day to local water supplies as an alternative.

[35] Attachment 1, 2013 Staff Report, p. 26.

- OCWD has taken responsibility for developing a system to deliver the Poseidon product water. OCWD has added 5 new alternative delivery options to the 2 options considered in the 2010 SEIR. These new delivery options include using the Poseidon water to recharge the groundwater basin.[36] Irvine Ranch Water District found that introduction of the Poseidon product water can have adverse impacts on water quality in the groundwater basin, and alternatives were preferable.[37] However, OCWD does not plan to prepare CEQA review of the new alternatives until after all discretionary approvals are complete. Further, as explained below, these new delivery options have not been considered nor found consistent with LCP Policy C6.1.1 mandating protection of basin water quality.

- An investigation by the Irvine Ranch Water District (IRWD) quantified significant water quality impacts to the regional groundwater basin caused by injecting Poseidon's water that has not been analyzed in compliance with the CEQA. IRWD's expert report demonstrated that avoiding boron exceedances in the groundwater aquifer will require subjecting 80 to 100 percent of the Poseidon Project to a second pass reverse osmosis treatment process. According to the investigations, "these second pass treatment requirements will significantly increase the flow rates through the seawater intake and brine discharge facilities proposed by Poseidon."[38] The Regional Board never analyzed the foreseeable increased flow rates through Poseidon Water's seawater intake and brine discharge facilities that will be needed to avoid the identified significant impacts to water quality.

- Three major demolition and development projects will occur on properties adjacent to the project site either concurrently or consecutively with the proposed Poseidon project: AES power station demolition and re-power project; Ascon Toxic Waste Site remediation, Magnolia Tank Farm demolition and multi-use development. The 2010 SEIR does not include cumulative impacts analyses for these new projects.

- Proposed landside refinements to the Project involve the addition of an emergency generator, revisions to the original grading plan and layout, and revisions to the electrical substation component of the Project.

- The Project would now involve fiber optic cables and a conduit, requiring thousands of feet of previously undisclosed trenching, plus new overhead poles.

- Removal and replacement of hardware to accommodate upgraded substations, installing underground duct banks, trenching and installing would occur.

- The updated grading plan proposes the removal of the exterior berms on the site. The majority of soils from the removal of the berm will be retained onsite and used to raise the elevation of the site from the 2010 design elevation of approximately 11 feet to between 14 and 16 feet (NAVD88).

- Initial site grading would take approximately 4 months, with 5,200 total construction worker and haul trips, and a maximum of 60 one-way truck trips per day. The haul trucks were assumed to have a capacity of 14 CY; grading refinements would require an additional 6,400 CY of export; result in 10 - 21 days of additional grading that will have air quality, coastal access, and environmental justice impacts, among others.

- The extent of potential DDT contamination near the Palos Verdes shelf, in relatively close proximity to the proposed artificial reef mitigation project is now understood to be much greater than initially understood.[39]

These items were not analyzed in the State Lands Commission addendum to the CEQA review.

The Regional Board made significant changes to the project to meet the new requirements in the Ocean Plan Amendment by adding "projects" to "mitigate" intake and mortality. Additional environmental review of the Marine Life Mitigation Plan and other as-yet unreviewed Project components is necessary before the Commission may grant approvals for the Project. If the Commission wishes to undertake this analysis, it must analyze the Marine Life Mitigation Plan projects for environmental impacts and propose alternatives and mitigation measures to eliminate any adverse environmental impacts it finds.

b. CEQA Requires the Commission to Analyze and Incorporate Feasible Alternatives and Mitigation Measures.

Section 13096 of the Commission's administrative regulations requires Commission approval of CDP applications to be supported by a finding showing the application, as modified by any conditions of approval, to be consistent with any applicable requirements of CEQA. CEQA prohibits approval of developments when there are feasible alternatives or feasible mitigation measures available that would substantially lessen any significant environmental impacts of the Project. Thus, the Commission cannot find that the Poseidon Project is consistent with the Coastal Act unless it is also consistent with CEQA.

While the Commission is governed by its certified regulatory process, CEQA principles remain relevant. One of [an EIR's] major functions . . . is to ensure that all reasonable alternatives to proposed projects are thoroughly assessed by the responsible official." (Laurel Heights Improvement Ass'n. v. Regents of the University of California (1988) 47 Cal.3d 376, 400.) Further, "Under CEQA, the public agency bears the burden of affirmatively demonstrating that…the agency's approval of the proposed project followed meaningful consideration of alternatives and mitigation measures." (Mountain Lion Foundation v. Fish and Game Commission (1997) 16 Cal.4th 105, 134, emphasis added.) The Commission can and must analyze the relative environmental impacts of providing water through conservation, through a smaller project, and through use of the Carson indirect potable reuse project.

CEQA differs from the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) in its substantive mandate. Under this mandate, a less damaging feasible alternative or mitigation measure must be adopted by the lead agency unless the lead agency can demonstrate that the mitigation is "truly infeasible." (City of Marina v. Board of Trustees of the California State University (2006) 39 Cal.4th 341, 368; see also Pub. Resources Code § 21002 ["public agencies should not approve projects as proposed if there are feasible alternatives or feasible mitigation measures available which would substantially lessen the significant environmental effects of such projects"].) Notably, CEQA requires agencies to evaluate offsite alternatives when they are feasible, will achieve reasonable project objectives, and "significant effects of the project would be avoided or lessened by putting the project in another location." (14 CCR § 15126.6(f)(2)(A); (See, for example, Citizens of Goleta Valley v. Board of Supervisors (1990) 52 Cal.3d 553 [upholding EIR in part because of adequate analysis of an off-site alternative] and Save Round Valley Alliance v. County of Inyo (2007) 157 Cal.App.4th 1437 [EIR found inadequate for failure to assess an offsite alternative that would have reduced impacts].) This is particularly relevant to the Commission's consideration of the Carson potable reuse project as a water supply alternative for the region.

Ultimately, the Commission cannot support, with the requisite substantial evidence, findings that there are no feasible alternatives or mitigation measures available which would substantially lessen the significant adverse impacts the Poseidon Desalination Project would have on the environment. On the contrary, feasible alternatives and mitigation measures exist in the form of increased water conservation, a smaller plant, and the Carson potable reuse project. The Commission cannot find the Project consistent with CEQA and, consequently, cannot find that it is consistent with the Coastal Act. The CDPs must be denied.

III. As Proposed, the Poseidon Project Fails to Satisfy Standards for Risk Category IV Critical Infrastructure Necessary to Ensure Emergency Function.

It is hard to overstate the importance of ensuring that the facility is designed and constructed to remain safe and operable in the event of an emergency. The Poseidon Project would provide fresh water, and fresh water is necessary for life, not to mention public safety and fire suppression. The Project would construct important water infrastructure on the Huntington Beach coast, along the active Newport-Inglewood fault. Thus, the desalination plant would be subject to seismic hazards, as well as threats from sea level rise, flooding, and tsunami. If constructed, it must meet International Building Code Risk Category IV standards.[40]

Scientists have determined that the Newport-Inglewood fault is capable of generating magnitude 7.5 earthquakes. Even smaller earthquakes may damage water treatment facilities and conveyance systems. The Environmental Protection Agency warns, "For a drinking water system, an earthquake can cause hundreds ... even thousands ... of breaks in water pipelines, ruptures in storage and process tanks and the collapse of buildings. This can cause a loss of water system pressure, contamination and drinking water service disruptions…"[41] Earthquakes also frequently cause fires that require water for suppression. It is crucial that the Project be designed to withstand seismic damage and continue operation during and after these types of events.

The State of California has recently found, "Sea level rise poses a significant threat to the state's infrastructure located within and near the coast."[42] Specifically, the Ocean Protection Council and the California Coastal Commission have issued guidance that recommends "evaluating the expected impacts to critical infrastructure that would be caused by approximately 10 feet of sea level rise by 2100 (using what is known as the extreme risk or "H++" scenario)."[43] In May 2020, the agency further adopted "Principles for Aligned State Action (State SLR Principles)" which recommend planning to address "a minimum of 3.5 feet of sea level rise in the next 30 years."[44] The expected impacts of sea level rise are compounded by the threat of a tsunami event at the site. While rare, Southern California has experienced several tsunamis in the last decade, most recently in January 2022. The 2011 tsunami event caused an estimated $100 million worth of damage to California harbors.[45] Even the smaller 2022 event caused significant damage in some California harbors. The Project must be designed to withstand damage from sea level rise, coastal flooding, and tsunami – and continue operating.

The likelihood of continued Project operation, and the ability to maintain public safety in the event of an emergency, is much greater when infrastructure is designed to meet Risk Category IV standards. Table 1604.5 of the International Building Code assigns buildings risk categories, each of which triggers certain design and building standards related to earthquake, flood, wind loads, and other risks. One explanation of the Risk Categories explains:

> The value of the importance factor generally increases with the importance of the facility. Structures assigned greater importance factors must be designed for larger forces. The result is a more robust structure that would be less likely to sustain damage under the same conditions than a structure with a lower importance factor.

> The intent is to enhance a structure's performance based on its use or need to remain in operation during and after a disaster. [46]

In particular, Risk Category IV buildings are "buildings that are considered to be essential in that their continuous use is needed, particularly in response to disasters," including "water storage facilities and pump structures required to maintain water pressure for fire suppression" as well as "facilities required for emergency response." This definition clearly includes the Project, which is being treated as an essential water supply and backup supply, and which would provide the City's only reservoir shoreward of the Newport-Inglewood Fault Zone.

Poseidon claims that the Project would provide a "community facility" and that it need only meet design and building standards applicable to a "community facility." In reality, according to Poseidon, the City of Huntington Beach, and the Orange County Water District's own documents, plans, and agreements, the Project is intended to be a critical facility.[47] Critical facilities are those necessary for health and safety. Because residents rely on these facilities to provide necessities such as water, critical facilities are constructed according to more stringent building standards. This ensures that the facilities needed to support health and safety remain operational at all times, including during emergency situations. The availability of potable water is especially important. Not only is it vital to sustain life at all times, but water supplies are critical during periods of emergency response. As discussed above, the Project site is located near portions of the Newport-Inglewood Fault, which is capable of up to a magnitude 7.5 earthquake. In 1933, the magnitude 6.4 Long Beach Earthquake ruptured approximately nine miles of the Newport-Inglewood Fault south of Huntington Beach, levelling thousands of buildings and killing 120 people. Fires erupted from broken gas lines, and thousands of people were left without water service. Disruption of water supplies impedes fire response.

Decades of documents prove that the Poseidon Project is intended to be a critical facility. The City of Huntington Beach's 2010 environmental impact report states that the Poseidon facility will provide an emergency water supply.[48] The City required Poseidon to enter into a water purchase agreement that allows the City to purchase up to seven million gallons per day during declared water emergencies. (CCC 2013 Staff Report p. 27.) The Project will also construct a 10-million-gallon reservoir onsite to be integrated into the City's water system. (CCC 2013 Staff Report p. 27.) Notably, at one point, the stated purpose of the reservoir was to provide a water supply shoreward of the Newport-Inglewood Fault in the event seismic activity severs access to water supplies inland of the fault. The City of Huntington Beach's CDP approvals and environmental findings further characterize the Project as an emergency supply. The Santa Ana Water Board also specifically found that the Poseidon Facility's water is needed water supply and must be integrated into the rest of the existing water system. While we disagree that 50 mgd is actually needed, the Board's reliance on this water supply, and its approval of this supply in lieu of less impactful alternatives, means that the community will become reliant on this supply and therefore renders it "critical." Thus, this is exactly the type of critical facility that must remain operational in the emergency situation that would arise after an earthquake or a tsunami. This requires that the facility be designed to meet heightened standards including the Ocean Protection Council's sea level rise scenarios and Risk Category IV "critical facility" standards.

It is undisputed that the Carlsbad Desalination Plant is considered a critical facility.[49] Similarly, the desalination plant proposed for Huntington Beach is not a mere community facility, but a critical one. That the Project would be constructed in a location vulnerable to documented geological and coastal hazards, including, but not limited to earthquake, flooding, sea level rise, and tsunami, makes it even more crucial that the facility is built to meet critical infrastructure standards. Allowing the facility to proceed without meeting critical infrastructure requirements would be inconsistent with approvals granted by the Santa Ana Water Board, entitlements granted by the City of Huntington Beach, past practice with other nearby desalination plants, and common sense. A Project that proceeds according to mere "community facility" standards would endanger the public. As discussed below, designing and constructing the Project to standards below Risk Category IV Critical Infrastructure not only defeats the purpose of the Project and wastes public funds, but violates both the Coastal Act and the Huntington Beach certified LCP.

[49] See SDCWA's 2019-2023 Business Plan and Fact Sheet – Overview [n.d.]. identifies the facility as a critical local water resource; 2 2017 San Diego County Multi-Jurisdictional Hazard Mitigation Plan, and as defined in the County's April 2013 Integrated Floodplain Management Planning [defining a "critical facility" as including both public and private potable water facilities]; Poseidon March 18, 2020 press release, "Carlsbad Desalination Plant Staff Take Extraordinary Step to Shelter in Place to Ensure Operational Continuity at Critical Facility" [facility manager describing [Project as a "critical regional facility"]

IV. The Poseidon Project is Inconsistent with the Huntington Beach Certified LCP and the California Coastal Act.

The Commission must ensure strict adherence to the Coastal Act. California "courts are enjoined to construe the statute liberally" because "The highest priority must be given to environmental consideration in interpreting the statute." (Bolsa Chica Land Trust v. Superior Court (1999) 71 Cal.App.4th 493, 506.) As proposed, Poseidon's Huntington Beach Desalination Project violates Coastal Act policies related to the protection of and mitigation of impacts to wetlands and ESHA, marine life, recreation and coastal access, coastal armoring, community safety, aesthetics, and environmental justice. Coastal Act section 30233 grants the Commission authority to find that conservation, the Carson Project, or a combination of the Carson Project and a downsized desalination facility operating with slant wells are feasible and less environmentally damaging alternatives to the Project. In particular the Carson Project is consistent with Coastal Act policies to "enhance and restore" marine resources (Section 30230) and "maintain optimum populations of marine organisms" (Section 30231) by improving ocean habitat through reduced ocean discharges from the Carson Wastewater Treatment Plant. The CDP must be denied pursuant to the Commission's retained jurisdiction.

The existence of feasible, less environmentally damaging alternatives precludes the need to impose mitigation measures because the Commission may deny the Project CDPs as proposed. However, if the Commission finds alternatives infeasible, it can and must impose the maximum mitigation available to avoid and reduce the Project's myriad environmental impacts.

Further, the Huntington Beach Certified LCP lays out specific requirements for coastal development occurring within the City's coastal jurisdiction. Many of these LCP policies are similar to Coastal Act policies or outright replicate them. The Poseidon Project is inconsistent with a number of LCP policies, including those related to the protection of wildlife, wetlands, and ESHA, tsunami and coastal flooding, community safety, and recreation. These inconsistencies provide the Commission with yet another ground for rejecting this harmful project.

a. The Commission Should Resolve Open Enforcement Actions Prior to Considering the Project's CDPs.

The Project site has an open violation of the Coastal Act for destruction of wetlands in blatant disregard of the Act.[50] Although the City's environmental review has not disclosed the presence of wetlands on the site, the Commission's biologist determined that there were approximately 3.5 acres of wetlands within the project site and there remain an additional approximately 0.5 acres on the east side of the project site that may be impacted by the Project.[51] Prior to development of the AES plant, the Project site was part of the tidal marsh, dune habitat, and floodplain of the Santa Ana River. Despite disturbance, wetlands have reemerged and reappeared throughout the area, due in part to "the area's relatively high groundwater table, the continued presence of hydric soils beneath much of the area, anthropogenically influenced topography and hydrology in some areas, and the presence of nearby wetland vegetation that provides an ongoing seed source."[52] This is what occurred onsite, wherein disuse of the site's storage tanks and containment areas after the mid-1990s permitted reemergence of wetlands that the Commission documented in site visits and photographs taken in 2009. Sometime prior to 2012, and without obtaining a permit, these wetlands were disked, and all vegetation was removed. While subject to Commission enforcement action, the Project site's unpermitted removal of wetlands has never been resolved or remediated. This open violation should have been resolved prior to the consideration of an application that would impose additional impacts on coastal resources and wetlands. Instead, we are concerned that this violation will be swept under the proverbial rug and permitted after-the-fact. Approval of Poseidon's application for CDPs on a site with an open enforcement action, prior to the resolution of these violations, will incentivize future disregard of the Act. In addition to requiring full restoration of the past destruction, we ask the Commission to levy fines for the unpermitted wetlands destruction as authorized by SB 433.

b. The Project is Not Designed to Avoid, Minimize, or Remediate Impacts to On-site Wetlands and ESHA.

i. The Project's Dredge and Fill of Wetlands Violates the Coastal Act and Numerous LCP Policies.

The Coastal Act provides robust protection of wetlands. The overarching principle is contained in Section 30231, which requires, "The biological productivity and the quality of coastal waters, streams, wetlands, estuaries… appropriate to maintain optimum populations of marine organisms and for the protection of human health shall be maintained and, where feasible, restored…" (See also, Sections 30240, 30607.1.) This principle is implemented, in part, through Section 30233, which limits "[t]he diking, filling, or dredging of open coastal waters, wetlands, estuaries, and lakes." Such dredge and fill are only permitted (1) "where there is no feasible less environmentally damaging alternative, and where feasible mitigation measures have been provided to minimize adverse environmental effects" and (2) for facilities enumerated in Section 30322. The Commission cannot make findings to support allowing the Project pursuant to this section.

[51] Id. at p. 61.

The Project would involve dredge and fill to retrofit the existing intakes for Poseidon's use, to place the linear brine diffusers on the outfalls, to construct the artificial reef provided but not studied in the Marine Life Mitigation Plan, and for continued maintenance of the Project. As currently proposed, these activities would violate the Coastal Act. Conservation, the Carson Project, and a smaller facility present feasible, less environmentally damaging alternatives that have never been studied or evaluated in good faith. Likely feasible mitigation measures also exist in the form of slant wells, which the ISTAP process never truly analyzed for economic feasibility. Moreover, the Project is not one of the enumerated facility types eligible under section 30233. Of the options, the Project could only be considered "New or expanded port, energy, and coastal-dependent industrial facilities, including commercial fishing facilities." But a water source is not coastal-dependent by nature. Water is available through other means including conservation, the Carson Project, and continued Metropolitan Water District imports, all without implicating the coast. Section 30233(a)(4) provides for "Incidental public service purposes, including but not limited to, burying cables and pipes or inspection of piers and maintenance of existing intake and outfall lines," but the Project is not an "incidental" public use. "Incidental" means "accompanying but not a major part of something" per the Oxford English Dictionary. Yet the existing intake and outfall structures are the entire reason the Project is being proposed, despite the existence of cheaper and less environmentally damaging alternative water sources. Retrofitting the intakes and outfalls and extending their use for decades is also more than mere "maintenance." On the other hand, the structures are not even incidental to the AES power plant operation. State and federal laws require the AES power plant intakes and outfalls to be decommissioned to eliminate their adverse effects on marine life, and the AES plant is being modified to no longer need them.

Approval of the current Poseidon Project would also violate various LCP policies designed to ensure protection of wetlands. Violated provisions of the LCP include, but are not limited to:

- LCP Policy C6.1.4 states, "The biological productivity and the quality of coastal waters, streams, wetlands, estuaries, and lakes appropriate to maintain organisms and for the protection of human health shall be maintained and, where feasible, restored."

- LCP Policy C6.1.20 requires Poseidon to "Limit diking dredging, and filling of coastal waters, wetlands, and estuaries to the specific activities outlined in Policy 30233 and 30607.1 of the Coastal Act" and "Conduct any diking dredging and filling activities in a manner consistent with Section 30233 and 30607.1 of the Coastal Act."

- LCP Policy C7.2.6 states, "Prohibit fill in any wetland areas for the purpose of road construction, except for roads allowed pursuant to Section 30233 of the Coastal Act or when required to serve uses allowed in wetlands pursuant to and consistent with Sections 30260-30264 of the Coastal Act for coastal dependent and energy uses."

- Finally, LCP Policy I-C 8(c), states, "For proposed projects within the Coastal Zone, utilize the development review/environmental review process to accomplish the following: … Permit resource dependent and incidental public service related land uses within wetlands and environmentally sensitive habitat areas only if consistent with the following Coastal Act policies: Section 30233 and Section 30240."

- LCP Policy C1.1 requires the Commission to "[e]nsure that adverse impacts associated with coastal zone development are mitigated or minimized to the greatest extent feasible."

As re-iterated in the Commission's June 29, 2021 letter, the Commission's 2013 Staff Report identified several acres of on-site wetlands—already previously adversely affected—that the Poseidon Project would permanently fill. Poseidon is responsible for ensuring adequate mitigation of impacts to the on-site and adjacent wetlands. In June 2021, the Commission requested further information regarding the Project's treatment of previous adverse effects on, and proposed fill of, Coastal Act wetlands within the project footprint and its proposed mitigation approach. (p. 3.) Since that request, Poseidon has not offered any further on-site project design changes or additional mitigation for impacts to on-site wetlands.

In violating Coastal Act sections 30233 and 30240 (discussed below), the proposed Project also runs afoul of LCP Policy I-C 8(c). The CDP must be denied for failing to conform to the Huntington Beach certified LCP's clear policies.

ii. The Project Fails to Protect ESHA.

The Coastal Act's protections for ESHA are paramount. Section 30240 provides that environmentally sensitive habitat areas (ESHA) "shall be protected against any significant disruption of habitat values," and development adjacent to ESHA "shall be sited and designed to prevent impacts which would significantly degrade those areas, and shall be compatible with the continuance of those habitat and recreation areas." The courts have been clear: "The Coastal Act does not permit destruction of an environmentally sensitive habitat area [ESHA] simply because the destruction is mitigated offsite." (Bolsa Chica Land Trust v. Superior Court (1999) 71 Cal.App.4th 493, 499.) Where the Project will adversely impact wetlands and ESHA, the Project must be modified to eliminate those impacts, an alternative must be chosen, or the CDPs must be denied.

The Huntington Beach LCP protects ESHA via LCP Policy C7.1.2, which provides, "Environmentally sensitive habitat areas shall be protected against any significant disruption of habitat values…" Further, LCP Policy C7.1.3, requires that "Development in areas adjacent to environmentally sensitive habitat areas and parks and recreation areas shall be sited and designed to prevent impacts which would significantly degrade those areas, and shall be compatible with the continuance of those habitat and recreation areas."

The Commission has identified tidally influenced wetlands and associated ESHA "just outside" the Project footprint. (Commission June 2021 letter, p. 3.) The Project, as proposed, will have significant indirect impacts on adjacent wetlands and ESHAs during Project construction and operations. (Commission 2013 Staff Report, p. 66, Commission August 2021 Notice of Incomplete CDP Application). Unless avoided or fully mitigated, the Project's approval would violate the Coastal Act and LCP provisions requiring ESHA protection. When the Commission requested further information about how Poseidon will address direct and indirect impacts to ESHA in June 2021, Poseidon failed to respond – it made no Project changes and has failed to provide any new evidence that the Project will alleviate impacts to ESHA raised by Commission Staff. The CDP should be denied.

In its Consistency Analysis, Poseidon claims that the City's 2010 SEIR did not identify ESHA on or near the Project site that would be impacted by the proposed Project; therefore, it concluded, the Project is consistent with Section 30240. (p. 7.) This "analysis" fails to meaningfully address or remedy the Commission's concerns, especially those detailed in the Commission's 2013 Staff Report. The Commission is required to enforce Coastal Act protections of adjacent ESHA, and its prior declaration of ESHA cannot be ignored. The City of Huntington Beach's dismissal of the Commission's photographs and evidence of ESHA does not mean ESHA does not exist.

The Commission has already found, the "SEIR did not fully describe the important habitat values of the adjacent ESHA/wetland areas to the approximately two dozen sensitive species known or presumed to use that habitat, and did not adequately evaluate.

. . dewatering, noise, and the required buffer. . ." (p. 66.) Furthermore, CEQA does not require the Commission to abdicate its protection of coastal resources to the City and rely wholly on the City's analysis of environmental impacts. On the contrary, CEQA authorizes the Commission to provide additional analysis in its evaluation of CDPs, the functional equivalent of a CEQA document, and to require additional mitigation as appropriate. (14 CCR § 15096(g)(1).)

Further, Poseidon's claims that the Project's location within an existing industrial facility "avoids and minimizes" potential impacts to nearby coastal resources (July 2021 Letter p. 6), does not address the Commission's concerns nor provide information about on-site improvements to address these impacts. Rather, Poseidon admits it is not proposing any changes to the project design, layout, or operations to address direct or indirect noise/vibration impacts to adjacent wetlands and sensitive receptors. (Ibid, Exhibit A p. 2.) For example, Poseidon refused to provide the requested Sound Mitigation Plan requested by Commission staff now, deferring its preparation until after project approval. The location within an industrial facility further fails to address the entrainment and impingement impacts to public trust marine resources, which would be better minimized through operation of a smaller-capacity facility.

The Commission was aware that the Project would be sited on an existing industrial facility when it detailed the Project's construction and operation impacts in its 2013 Staff Report and when it requested information about how Poseidon will address these impacts in its June 2021 letter. Instead of detailing how the Project will minimize the construction and operational impacts, however, Poseidon points to findings and measures from the 2010 SEIR and CDP. Its failure to adequately address impacts to adjacent ESHA violates Coastal Act Section 30240.

Poseidon is not proposing any on-site or operational changes in response to the Commission's recently raised concerns over the on-site wetlands and indirect impacts to adjacent wetlands and ESHAs, including the Project's lack of the required buffers. The Commission's 2013 Staff Reported requires Poseidon to provide "for Executive Director review and approval, a delineation of all ESHA and wetland areas within 200 feet of the project footprint conducted by a qualified biologist approved by the Executive Director. The approved delineation shall serve as the basis for the 100-foot setback." (p. 10.) Based on the correspondence between Poseidon and the Commission, Poseidon has not completed this review to identify nearby ESHA, instead pointing to the City's 2010 SEIR finding that no wetlands exist within 100 feet of the project site.

The 2013 Staff Report cautioned that "[e]levating the facility or its components would also likely increase noise levels at the adjacent wetlands and ESHA during project operations, thereby adversely affecting listed special status species. Elevating would also require additional electricity to pump water to the higher elevations, which would increase the project's indirect greenhouse gas emissions." (p. 85.) Poseidon now proposes to increase the Project's finished floor elevations to 14-16 ft due to hazard risks—this will exacerbate the impacts on surrounding ESHA.

Not only does the Project fail to prevent adverse impacts to ESHA, but the Applicant denies the very existence of ESHA. The CDPs should be denied.

iii. Mitigation for Dredge and Fill Impacts is Insufficient.

The Commission must ensure adequate mitigation of project impacts to coastal resources, especially where a Project requires dredge and fill development. Here, the Project will require Poseidon to construct and retrofit the Project's intakes and outfalls and grading and fill to raise the foundation of the proposed desalination plant above projected sea level rise, flood, and tsunami danger. The Project will require additional dredge and fill-related activities associated with construction of the artificial reef. Under the Coastal Act Section 30607.1, any permitted dike and fill development must require the following mitigation, at a minimum: "either acquisition of equivalent areas of equal or greater biological productivity or opening up equivalent areas to tidal action" where there are appropriate restoration sites available. The Project, as proposed, does not ensure adequate mitigation for the planned filling of on-site wetlands, or the indirect impacts to adjacent wetlands. Proposed mitigation is insufficient in size and is unlikely to exist in the future. Moreover, the Coastal Act prohibits destruction of ESHA.

The Project's failure to provide adequate buffers further exacerbates impacts on adjacent wetlands. Yet, Poseidon has failed to provide any new mitigation measures or Project design changes to address the Project's direct and indirect impacts to on-site and adjacent wetlands. The Commission typically requires a wetland mitigation ratio of 4:1. (June 2021 letter, p. 3.) Poseidon has not demonstrated that it will provide the required mitigation. In its August 2021 Notice of Incomplete CDP Application, the Commission raised concerns over Poseidon's planned mitigation in Bolsa Chica. Poseidon has already received mitigation credit at Bolsa Chica, and the Bolsa Chica wetlands will be heavily impacted by sea level rise and unlikely to provide long-term mitigation for wetlands impacted at the Project site. (Id, p. 2.) Instead of addressing these concerns, in its September 20, 2021 response to the Commission, Poseidon questioned whether on-site wetlands even exist and labeled the concerns over sea level rise impacts on Bolsa Chica as "speculative." Yet, a recent study of the Bolsa Chica Lowland Restoration Project recently found that, without intervention, the majority of the wetlands will be inundated by sea level rise between 2060 and 2100.[53] The Project is inconsistent with section 30607.1 of the Coastal Act, and the CDPs should be denied.

c. The Project Does Not Contain Buffers to Protect Wetlands and ESHA.

The Project fails to include a Coastal Act and LCP-compliant ESHA and wetland buffer and should be denied on that ground, alone. The Project is located among sensitive coastal resources and ESHA, as Commission Staff has repeatedly found.

Coastal Act section 30231 provides for the protection of the biological productivity of wetlands through "maintaining natural vegetation buffer areas that protect riparian habitats." Section 30240 subd. (b) requires the Applicant to design development "to prevent impacts which would significantly degrade [ESHA]" such that it "shall be compatible with the continuance of those habitat…areas." Similarly, the certified LCP requires "that new development contiguous to wetlands or environmentally sensitive habitat areas include buffer zones" that "shall be a minimum of one hundred feet setback from the landward edge of the wetland." (LCP Policy C 7.1.4.) Larger buffers may be required "if substantial development or significantly increased human impacts are anticipated." (Ibid.) The LCP contains a detailed explanation of factors that justify requiring a larger wetland or ESHA buffer. These factors include:

- Biological significance of adjacent lands: The buffer should be sufficiently wide to protect the functional relationship between the wetlands and the adjacent upland.

- Sensitivity of species to disturbance: The buffer should be sufficiently wide to ensure that the most sensitive species will not be disturbed significantly by permitted development, based on habitat requirements of both resident and migratory species and the short- and long-term adaptability of various species to human disturbance.

- Use existing cultural features to locate buffer zones: The buffer zones should be continuous with the environmentally sensitive habitat areas and make use of existing features such as roads, dikes, irrigation canal, and flood control channels where feasible.

All of these factors justify a larger buffer than 100 feet. The Project site is located in the wetlands and dune complex located at the mouth of the Santa Ana River, adjacent to Magnolia Marsh, Commission-determined ESHA, and proximate to the Bolsa Chica and other productive wetlands along the Pacific Flyway. The immediate area provides habitat for 23 listed and sensitive species, including the burrowing owl (Species of Special Concern), western snowy plover (federally threatened), Belding's Savannah Sparrow (state endangered), California brown pelican (Species of Special Concern), and California least tern (federally endangered).[54] The California Department of Fish and Wildlife recommends a 300-foot buffer to protect passerine species, and a 500-foot buffer is typically recommended to prevent impacts to raptor species. Even so, the Project currently fails to contain buffers at all. Poseidon's July 7, 2021 letter to the Commission accompanying its application claims that buffers are not needed because the City did not designate ESHA in its SEIR. Again, the Commission has deemed locations on- and off-site to be ESHA, regardless of whether the City did so in the past. Poseidon's claim that the adjoining land does not contain ESHA lacks support. The Commission is the agency charged with designating ESHA, and the Commission has specifically found areas on and off-site to be ESHA. The Project fails to contain LCP-required buffers, and the CDP should be rejected on those grounds.

d. The Project Violates LCP Policies Designed to Protect Marine Life.

The Project's entrainment of 108 million organisms each year, or 5.4 billion[55] organisms during its operating life, will lead to violations of Coastal Act and LCP policies that have not been resolved or adequately mitigated. Section 30230 of the Coastal Act requires:

> Marine resources shall be maintained, enhanced, and where feasible, restored. Special protection shall be given to areas and species of special biological or economic significance. Uses of the marine environment shall be carried out in a manner that will sustain the biological productivity of coastal waters and that will maintain healthy populations of all species of marine organisms adequate for long-term commercial, recreational, scientific, and educational purposes.

Section 30231 similarly provides:

> The biological productivity and the quality of coastal waters, streams, wetlands, estuaries, and lakes appropriate to maintain optimum populations of marine organisms and for the protection of human health shall be maintained and, where feasible, restored through, among other means, > minimizing adverse effects of waste water discharges and entrainment…

[54] Attachment 1, 2013 Staff Report, p. 67.
[55] This is likely an underestimate, based on aging datasets.

The LCP provides similar protection. Goal C6 of the LCP is to "Prevent the degradation of marine resources in the Coastal Zone from activities associated with an urban environment." Objective C.6.1 is to "Promote measures to mitigate the adverse impacts of human activities on marine organisms and the marine environment through regulation of new development, monitoring of existing development, and retrofitting necessary and feasible." This policy provides wide latitude for conditioning the Poseidon Project to limit harm to marine life. The LCP implements this goal through policies that include, but are not limited to:

- Policy C6.1.1 requires, "that new development include mitigation measures to enhance water quality, if feasible; and, at a minimum, prevent the degradation of water quality of groundwater basins, wetlands, and surface water.

- Policy C6.1.2 echoes the Coastal Act: "Marine resources shall be maintained, enhanced, and where feasible, restored. Special protection shall be given to areas and species of special biological or economic significance.

- Policy C6.1.3 states, "Uses of the marine environment shall be carried out in a manner that will sustain the biological productivity of coastal waters and that will maintain healthy populations of all species of marine organisms adequate for long-term commercial, recreational, scientific, and educational purposes.

- Policy C6.1.4 also reproduces the Coastal Act: "The biological productivity and the quality of coastal waters, streams, wetlands, estuaries, and lakes appropriate to maintain organisms and for the protection of human health shall be maintained and, where feasible, restored."

- Policy C 6.1.19 addresses the Project with specificity: "Prior to approval of any new or expanded seawater pumping facilities, require the provision of maximum feasible mitigation measures to minimize damage to marine organisms due to entrainment in accordance with State and Federal law.

The Project fails to maintain the biological productivity of wetlands and coastal waters and will cause significant adverse effects to marine life and water quality through intake, discharge, and construction. (See, Staff Report 2013, pp. 32-37.) An estimated 108 million organisms will be killed during each year of operation. As Coastal Commission staff found in 2013:

> The source water areas of species entrained in this intake extend up to about 100 miles of the Shoreline. The Areas of Production Foregone calculated for the sampled species range from about seven acres to about 350 acres, with an average of about 110 acres. For example, the APF for queenfish, with a source water extending along about 53 miles of shoreline, is about 164 acres, while the source water distance and APF for the California halibut are 19 miles and 23.7 acres, respectively. The various source water areas encompass at least nine State Marine Conservation Areas (SMCAs) or State Marine Reserves (SMRs) established pursuant to California's Marine Life Protection Act Initiative – those within 50 miles upcoast or downcoast of the intake include Bolsa Bay SMCA, Bolsa Chica Basin SMCA ("no take"), Upper Newport Bay SMCA, Crystal Cove SMCA, Laguna Beach SMR, Laguna Beach SMCA ("no take"), and Dana Point SMCA.[56]

Thus, the Project will adversely affect not only the waters nearest the plant, but it will harm State Marine Conservation Areas and State Marine Reserves. Additional marine life will be killed by brine diffusion. The Project presents a clear conflict with the policies of the Coastal Act and LCP that protect marine life.

While Poseidon claims that the use of wedgewire screens will reduce the wildlife impacts of the intakes, there is no evidence that the screens will restore, or even maintain biological productivity. The coastal power plant on the site is set to discontinue use of its "once through cooling" (OTC) system in 2 years. Without the Poseidon project repurposing the intake and discharge conduits, marine life would experience "restoration" benefits. A one percent reduction in mortality from the use of wedgewire screens is insufficient to maintain benefits from the State enforcing regulations to discontinue OTC systems to "restore" marine life populations – especially where alternatives are available, as is the case here. Further, the Commission recently raised concerns with the maintenance and performance of wedgewire screens in response to reports of difficulties at the Carlsbad facility. As of October 2021, the Commission stated it did not have the "necessary information" about maintenance of the proposed intake system. The Commission cannot approve a project without assurance of compliance with the LCP policies and Coastal Act. We request that the Commission disclose how it will move forward despite this information.

The Project incorporates linear brine diffusers on outfall pipes. While wildlife advocates initially believed this approach would reduce overall entrainment mortality as compared to in-plant brine dilution, it is now better understood that linear brine diffusers themselves cause marine life mortality through shear.[57] These are impacts from Project mitigation that themselves need to be analyzed and mitigated.

Alternatives including conservation, a smaller facility, or use of the Carson Project would avoid or entirely eliminate sources of entrainment or brine and diffuser shear and should be adopted instead. In violation of the Coastal Act and the Huntington Beach LCP, as currently proposed, the Project does not contain the maximum mitigation available to avoid devastating impacts to marine resources. Further, the Applicant has not conducted slant well feasibility studies that include test wells to validate computer modeling as occurred with the proposed Cal-Am and Doheny projects and was recommended here[58], nor has there been an economic feasibility analysis conducted by ISTAP nor the Regional Board.

The Coastal Act and LCP call for "restoration" of marine life populations, habitat and water quality where feasible. Water conservation, recycled water from the "Carson Project" and/or a desalination facility using subsurface intakes are feasible alternatives and mandatory.

e. The Project Violates LCP Policies Designed to Avoid the Adverse Effects of Coastal Armoring.

The Commission's June 2021 letter specifically asked whether Poseidon's submittal will assure that its solution for tsunami and sea level rise risks "will not include shoreline protective devices (which the LCP prohibits at this location.)" (p. 5.) Sea walls interfere with natural sand deposition processes and accelerate beach erosion. By armoring the coast, they also prevent beaches and wetlands from migrating inland as sea-level rises. Coastal Act section 30253 prohibits developments that "in any way require the construction of protective devices…" This section has been broadly construed to prohibit not only sea walls, but elevated project platforms that are themselves protective devices.[59]

LCP Coastal Element Hazards Section C10.1.19 seeks to avoid beach loss by requiring that development "shall be conditioned to prohibit a shoreline protective device." LCP Policy C1.1.9 states, "New development shall be designed to assure stability and structural integrity, and neither create nor contribute significantly to erosion, geologic instability, or destruction of the site or surrounding area or in any way require the construction of a protective device." (emphasis added.) As the City of Huntington Beach, which advertises itself as "Surf City USA" is heavily dependent on beach tourism, this prohibition on sea walls is echoed in Policy C10.1.14. This policy states, "During major redevelopment or initial construction, require specific measures to be taken …to prevent or reduce damage of flooding and the risks upon human safety. Development shall, to the maximum extent feasible...(a) Avoid the use of protective devices; (b) Avoid encroachments into the floodplain, and (c) Remove any encroachments into the floodplain to restore the natural width of the floodplain."

Even so, in direct contravention of Coastal Act section 30253, LCP Policy C.10.1.9, and LCP Policy C10.1.14, the Project contains what it calls a "sound wall" that abuts the tidal wetlands of Magnolia Marsh. Regardless of what Poseidon calls it, the "sound wall" will provide protection to the project from flood and tsunami risks. Poseidon's claim that it is not, in fact, a protective device, is a distinction without a difference. More detail is needed regarding its design and function, especially under future flood scenarios. Poseidon claims that the sound wall is exempt from Policy C.10.1.9's and Coastal Act section 30235 and 30253(b)'s prohibition on protective devices because it is located along Magnolia Marsh and not within the tsunami run-up zone. Again, the wall is being relied upon to reduce coastal flooding hazards so that Poseidon can then claim no such hazards exist. Even along Magnolia Marsh, the wall will prevent wetlands from migrating inland and will contribute to the island effect. Wetland managers are trying to prevent, not exacerbate, the loss of wetlands due to coastal and near-coastal armoring. These losses are already expected at the Bolsa Chica wetlands located just north of the Project site. There, a recent study noted, "Rising sea levels pose a risk to habitats…because the [Bolsa Chica Lowland Restoration Project] site is surrounded by urban development, preventing the inland migration of habitat."[60] Moreover, section 30253(b) prohibits not just protective devices, but any development that will "create [or] contribute significantly to erosion, geologic instability, or destruction of the site or surrounding area."[61] The Project will contribute to erosion and destruction of the site and surrounding area, including wetlands, and cannot be approved.

[61] Similarly, Chapter 222.04 FP2 of the Huntington Beach Municipal Code prohibits development that will allow flood waters to be diverted onto adjacent properties.

The Project further proposes mass grading to remove existing berms and raise the foundation 14 to 16 feet, thereby attempting to elevate the Project above sea level rise and tsunami hazards. This grading also serves as a form of shoreline armoring, as the Project builds what will eventually become an island to avoid foreseeable impacts due to its coastal location. This is twice the height of the 7-foot plinth the Commission found was an impermissible shoreline protective device at the proposed Belmont Pool.[62] The proposed pool was ultimately moved further inland. Experts agree that near-coast armoring will prevent beach and wetland migration at the Project site.

Dr. David Revell states in his memorandum that the proposed project would be maladaptive to sea level rise:

> […] this proposed project discourages longer term adaptation planning by the City of Huntington Beach and the County of Orange to avoid future coastal hazards, by keeping critical infrastructure in a hazardous area.
> From public trust doctrine principles, it is also in the City/County's best interest to proactively plan for adapting critical infrastructure well in advance of adverse sea-level rise impacts. Impairments to, losses of functionality of, and pollution events from the Poseidon Plant that negatively affect the coastal environment and public recreational resources would be in violation of the public trust doctrine and state and federal environmental laws.[63]

The proposed Project is sited in a sea level rise hazard zone as designated by the City of Huntington Beach Sea Level Rise Vulnerability Assessment (SLRVA) for the Huntington Beach Wetlands Subarea.[64] The SLRVA describes the site as historic tidelands that are low-lying with a high groundwater table, which may result in earlier than predicted flooding for the site and surrounding area as sea levels rise.[65] Notably, the SLRVA describes widespread groundwater emergence for the Huntington Beach Wetlands Subarea:

> Hazard area projections become more widespread with 3.3ft SLR, extending inland in areas between the Huntington Beach Channel and Talbert Channel. Hazard area projections continue to extend landward in these areas under 4.9ft and 6.6ft SLR scenarios, also becoming more widespread in areas south of Talbert Channel. (p.32)

Dr. David Revell describes the "island effect' as such:

> While the proposed project as revised and described in the Moffat & Nichol report says the site elevation will be graded to 14-16 feet, access to the site and the feasibility of existing distribution infrastructure is not considered. While this grading increase will improve site resilience to sea level rise to some of the coastal hazards, this increased grading further contributes to "an island effect" in which the facility will become more and more inaccessible as sea level rises, with routine flooding as early as 2030 during higher tides.[66]
> The facility may become an inaccessible island before 2030 due to routine flooding of the surrounding area. Simple analyses show that the facility's isolation will become routine during high tide events of 5.3 MHHW and greater with one foot of SLR. This portion of California's coast experiences high tides of 5.3 MHHW over 200 times per year, thus the proposed facility could become inaccessible during high tides a majority of the year as early as 2030 when those tides occur along with one foot of sea level rise. Groundwater daylight flooding occurs in many adjacent areas under present day conditions. […] By 2050, all of Edison Avenue is likely to be flooded during daily high tides with water depths of over 2 feet. This greatly reduces the ability to maintain this critical facility or even access the facility which is particularly of concern in the case of an emergency either from a storm event or another oil spill.[67]

The key finding here is that the Project site will ultimately become an island surrounded by lower lying areas. It will not be serviceable in terms of access, water, power, and the burden on the City and taxpayers to maintain.[68] LCP policy C1.1.1 requires that new development "be located in areas with adequate public services, and where it will not have significant adverse effects, either individually or cumulatively, on coastal resources." The LCP does not permit construction of critical facilities where roads and bridges will not allow continuing access.

The Commission addressed the burden of maintaining an infrastructure island at the Morro Bay Wastewater Treatment Plant, which was ultimately relocated inland.[69] In February 2022, the Commission considered a condition requiring demolition of a development when it is reached by the mean high tide line and implicates the public trust.[70] The Commission must assess the Project's future impacts on public trust resources. The Project should be rejected for attempting to shoehorn a prohibited protective device into the facility.

Poseidon may rely on the Project's location near Magnolia Marsh to allege that the sound wall and its raised platform do not currently abut the ocean. However, the Coastal Commission considers areas that are tidally influenced to be "shoreline." The Project site is undoubtedly tidally influenced. In a memorandum dated April 27, 2021, Dr. David Revell concluded that additional shoreline armoring should be anticipated for tidally influenced portions of the proposed Project site:

> […] changes to the flood control channel or enhanced protection to the berm along the triangle wetland site may constitute shoreline armoring because it is tidally influenced. Thus, given the existing site configuration exposure to tides, reliance on the Orange County Flood Control District, and the elevations across the site, that additional shoreline armoring and or alterations to existing shoreline hardening should be anticipated. [71]

In addition, in a January 28, 2022 memorandum, Dr. Revell elaborates on the defenses the proposed Project would rely on for protection from sea level rise related hazards:

> The proposed Poseidon project must rely on various artificial flood defenses to avoid hazards at the facility. These defenses include the existing maintained beaches resulting from upcoast Army Corps operations, Orange County Flood Control District maintenance of the existing flood control channel, and outlet beach management of the Talbert Channel into the future. Poseidon has no authority to implement or execute these expensive management actions or public works projects – _which involve extensive permitting processes and careful management of impacts on Endangered Species Act listed species. Nor are they contributing financially to the long term maintenance and management costs of these resources. The flood control channel outlet maintenance permit, for example, expires in 2023.[72]

In order to claim the desalination plant will not be at risk due to sea level rise, coastal flooding, and tsunami, the Project must elevate 14 to 16 feet above ground level and construct a "sound wall," in violation of Coastal Act section 30253 and the Huntington Beach LCP. As a result, the Project will ultimately become an island of infrastructure and increasingly difficult to maintain. The Project's protective devices will prevent the inland migration of wetlands as sea levels rise. The CDPs should be denied.

f. The Project Would Not Be Designed and Sited to Avoid Seismic Hazards and Community Harm.

The Project site's seismic hazards are well-documented and include the Newport-Inglewood Fault, now understood to be capable of generating up to a magnitude 7.5 earthquake. Section 30253 of the Coastal Act requires new development to both "Minimize risks to life and property in areas of high geologic, flood, and fire hazard" and "Assure stability and structural integrity." The certified LCP also contains several policies aimed at ensuring the safety and integrity of development. As proposed, the Poseidon Project remains inconsistent with these policies and must be denied.

- LCP Policy C1.1.9 states development must "Minimize risks to life and property in areas of high geologic, flood…and fire hazard through siting and design to avoid the hazard. New development shall be designed to assure stability and structural integrity, and neither create nor contribute significantly to erosion, geologic instability, or destruction of the site or surrounding area or in any way require the construction of a protective device."

- LCP Policy I-C 20 requires authorities to "Enforce and implement the policies of the Environmental Hazards Element of the General Plan…" Huntington Beach's Environmental Hazards Element, in turn, requires that structures be designed to preserve integrity in light of geologic and seismic events.

These policies are intended to protect life and property, and also to encourage the construction of resilient facilities in areas of known hazard. While Poseidon has provided updated seismic studies to the Commission, as of last fall, Poseidon had not analyzed the impact of a fault rupture on the South Branch, nearest to the Project. Furthermore, these studies do not show that the facility would be designed as Risk Category IV "critical infrastructure" that could be relied on to remain safe and functional in the event of a foreseeable large earthquake on the Newport-Inglewood Fault. Risk Category IV buildings are those that must remain in continuous operation in the event of an emergency and therefore must be built to withstand greater seismic and other forces to ensure that emergency function. Instead, the Project is proposed as a "community facility" that need not withstand such an earthquake and maintain continuous operation. Yet, the Project includes construction of a 10-million-gallon reservoir tank intended to provide the City of Huntington Beach with an emergency water supply located on the shoreward side of the fault in the event of an emergency.[73] The placement of a mere "community facility" in an area of hazard, charged with providing critical services, is inconsistent with these policies of the LCP.

Moreover, if damaged, destroyed, or merely rendered nonoperational by a large earthquake because it was not designed to the critical infrastructure standard, the Project would risk life and property, a further inconsistency with these policies. The Project site contains large electrical generation units and would itself be connected to the AES power plant. The Project would also connect a toxic site to the local potable water system and groundwater. If a seismic event damages storage containers for RCRA hazardous wastes, they could be conveyed into the water supply. Flood or tsunami waters could dissolve toxic chemicals in onsite soils, also contaminating the water supply. In any case, the failure to design the Project to Risk Category IV standards conflicts with LCP Objective C8.4, "Minimize the safety and aesthetic impacts of resource production facilities on nonresource production land uses."

g. The Project Does Not Comply with Coastal Act and LCP Policies Directed at Avoiding Tsunami and Flood Hazards.

Recent scientific projections and guidance for adaptation to sea level rise and tsunami risk demonstrates higher projections for expected sea level rise and tsunami runup elevation. The State's most recent guidance recommends planning for expected tsunami runup elevation between 12 and 15 feet plus predicted sea level rise of 3.5 feet by 2050, and up to 13.8 feet by 2120.[74] The January 2022 and 2011 tsunami events caused millions of dollars of damage to coastal California infrastructure. [75]

The Poseidon Project violates Coastal Act and LCP policies aimed at preventing tsunami and flood hazards. For example, contrary to State guidance recommending planning for 3.5 feet of sea level rise by 2050, Poseidon's analysis looks at a 3.5-foot rise over 50 years. And, although the Project's application materials admit that neighboring communities will be flooded under certain conditions in the future, it claims no risks to the Project over the next 100 years. The analysis is deficient and fails to adequately prepare for future conditions, as required by Coastal Act sections 30001.5(f) and LCP section C10.1.19.

Coastal Act section 30001.5(f) enunciates a statewide policy goal of anticipating, assessing, planning for, and, to the extent feasible, "avoid, minimize, and mitigate the adverse environmental and economic effects of sea level rise within the coastal zone." Section 30270 of the Act mandates, "The commission shall take into account the effects of sea level rise in coastal resources planning and management policies and activities in order to identify, assess, and, to the extent feasible, avoid and mitigate the adverse effects of sea level rise." The Project, on the other hand, will contribute to coastal armoring and the island effect, preventing inland migration of coastal wetlands as sea level rises, and exacerbating the adverse environmental effects of sea level rise within the coastal zone. The placement of new key infrastructure in a seismic and flood danger zone is poor planning that fails to act on any realistic anticipation or assessment of sea level rise at the Project site. Since feasible alternatives exist, the Commission should reject the CDPs.

Similarly, in order to protect life and property, LCP Coastal Element Hazards Policy C10.1.19 provides, "Development permitted in tsunami and seiche susceptible areas shall be designed and sited to minimize this hazard…" The Policy further provides, "Identify tsunami and seiche susceptible areas, and require that specific measures be taken by the developer, builder or property owner during major redevelopment or initial construction, to prevent or reduce damage from these hazards and the risks upon human safety." LCP Policy C1.1.9 states development must "Minimize risks to life and property in areas of high geologic, flood…and fire hazard through siting and design to avoid the hazard. New development shall be designed to assure stability and structural integrity, and neither create nor contribute significantly to erosion, geologic instability, or destruction of the site or surrounding area or in any way require the construction of a protective device."

The 2018 update of the Ocean Protection Council's 2018 State of California Sea-Level Rise Guidance document recommends that Project analysis include the following:

> For high consequence projects with a design life beyond 2050 that have little to no adaptive capacity, would be irreversibly destroyed or significantly costly to relocate/repair, or would have considerable public health, public safety, or environmental impacts should this level of sea-level rise occur, the H++ extreme scenario should be included in planning and adaptation strategies (e.g. coastal power plant).[76]

The Sea Level Rise Guidance further provides for use of the H++ planning scenario (extreme risk aversion projection) for "highly vulnerable or critical assets that have a lifespan beyond 2050 and would result in significant consequences if damaged."[77] Finally, the Guidance recommends incorporating the H++ scenario for projects that could result in threats to public health and safety, natural resources and critical infrastructure, should extreme sea-level rise occur.[78]

Where seawater desalination is truly needed (i.e., as a supply option of last resort), or where a Regional Water Board has deemed a project needed and approved it, such that it is pursued instead of or before less impactful and less expensive alternatives, it logically follows that the project be considered a "high consequence project" with public health and safety depending on that project's water. This is particularly so where a project is approved on the understanding that it will provide emergency water supplies. Such a project, with people depending on its water for their health and safety, has a clear low tolerance for risk. Desalination facilities would also be significantly costly to relocate or repair. Accordingly, desalination projects are plainly subject to the H++ scenario under the State's Sea Level Rise Guidance. Poseidon's use of a 3.5-foot sea level rise over 50 years is insufficient to demonstrate that it has been designed and sited to avoid hazards in compliance with the certified LCP or the Coastal Act.

The Commission requested more information on Poseidon's plans to avoid encroachments into the floodplain and to remove existing encroachments where feasible. As with its deficient sea level rise planning, Poseidon has not demonstrated the Project's compliance with floodplain policies of the LCP or the Act, and the CDPs should be denied.

h. The Project Does Not Comply with Coastal Act and LCP Policies Protecting Visual Resources.

Section 30251 of the Coastal Act is clear, "The scenic and visual qualities of coastal areas shall be considered and protected as a resource of public importance." Therefore, "development shall be sited and designed to protect views to and along the ocean and scenic coastal areas, to minimize the alteration of natural land forms, to be visually compatible with the character of surrounding areas, and, where feasible, to restore and enhance visual quality in visually degraded areas."

The Huntington Beach LCP incorporates the Coastal Act with Goal C4, "Preserve and, where feasible, enhance and restore the aesthetic resources of the City's coastal zone…" Objective C4.1 speaks to providing "opportunities within the Coastal Zone for open space as a visual and aesthetic resource." The LCP implements this objective with several policies aimed at protecting public views. Policy C 4.1.1 echoes the Coastal Act's proclamation that "The scenic and visual qualities of coastal areas shall be considered and protected as a resource of public importance" and provides that "Permitted development shall be sited and designed to protect public views to and along the ocean and scenic coastal areas." Objective C.4.2 further speaks to promoting "the protection of the Coastal Zone's visual and aesthetic resources through design review and development requirements." More specifically, Policy C.4.2.2 speaks to the "massing, height, and orientation of new development" and requires that such development "be designed to protect public coastal views." Policy C.4.2.3 applies the preservation of public view corridors to "views of the sea and the wetlands" through strict application planning efforts.

LCP visual resource protection policies apply explicitly to industrial facilities, as well. Policy C.4.7.5 requires that "review of new and/or expansions of existing industrial and utility facilities" ensures the resulting facilities will not visually impair the City's coastal corridors. Objective C.8.4 is to "Minimize the safety and aesthetic impacts of resource production facilities on nonresource production land uses." Policy C.8.4.2 implicates the Project site and requires "any power plant expansion or alteration proposals to include adequate buffer and screening measures."

The Project would do nothing to restore or enhance the Project site's visual qualities. Instead, contrary to the Coastal Act, the Project would alter landforms by building up the site's foundation and place an additional industrial facility in the midst of a coastal wetland and dune complex. The Project would become yet another dominant industrial feature to a coastal corridor, next to ESHA and wetlands at Magnolia Marsh. In short, the Project's expansion of industrial facilities in and next to coastal wetlands and without adequate buffers would detract from and not enhance the aesthetic quality of coastal views, in violation of both Coastal Act section 30251 and multiple objectives and policies of the certified LCP.

i. The Project Violates LCP Policies Requiring Cost-Efficient Water Systems.

Huntington Beach's LCP requires that the City "Provide and maintain water, sewer, and drainage systems that adequately serve planned land uses at a maximized cost efficiency." (Objective C.9.1.) Desalinated water is notoriously expensive – more than twice the cost of imported water and $500 per acre foot more than indirect potable reuse.[79] Accordingly, the Project's water would maximize cost inefficiency, in direct contravention of the City's LCP.

j. The Project Violates LCP Policies Directed at Protecting Recreation and Coastal Access.

The foundation of the California Coastal Act is the preservation of public access to the state's revered coastline. Unfortunately, through construction disruptions, brine discharge, and marine life mortality, the Project would harm recreational access and opportunities in Huntington Beach and may ultimately deter visitors from surfing, swimming, and otherwise recreating nearby.

The Coastal Act derives its protection of public access from the California Constitution. Section 30210 states, "In carrying out the requirement of Section 4 of Article X of the California Constitution, maximum access, which shall be conspicuously posted, and recreational opportunities shall be provided for all the people…" Section 30211 prohibits development from interfering "with the public's right of access to the sea where acquired through use or legislative authorization, including, but not limited to, the use of dry sand and rocky coastal beaches to the first line of terrestrial vegetation."

[79] See, https://www.eenews.net/articles/could-la-water-recycling-be-a-miracle-for-parched-west/.

Section 30220 protects areas suited for water-oriented recreational activities. Section 30253 subd. (e) requires that new development "protect…popular visitor destination points for recreational uses." Section 30234.5 provides, "The economic, commercial, and recreational importance of fishing activities shall be recognized and protected."

Likewise, the Huntington Beach LCP is protective of coastal access and recreation. Goal C3 is to "Provide a variety of recreational and visitor commercial serving uses." Objective C 3.1 is to "Preserve, protect and enhance, where feasible, existing public recreation sites in the Coastal Zone." Policy C 3.2.1 is to encourage "facilities, programs and services that increase and enhance public recreational opportunities." Objective C3.4 is to "Encourage and protect water oriented recreational activities that cannot readily be provided at inland water areas."

Policy C7.1.3, requires that "Development in areas adjacent to …parks and recreation areas shall be sited and designed to prevent impacts which would significantly degrade those areas, and shall be compatible with the continuance of those … recreation areas." LCP Policy C1.1.6 regulates construction in the coastal zone that might affect recreation. Policy C2.6.6 discusses promoting public access to coastal wetlands. Additional provisions encourage public boating and fishing.

Huntington Beach is not only popular for coastal recreation, but recreation is integral to the local economy. The calls itself "Surf City," and is home to the U.S. Open of surfing. Huntington Beach is also a very popular beach and swimming destination for worldwide visitors and locals alike. The Junior Lifeguard program is located at Huntington Beach and meets near the Project site.[80] The area is also utilized by recreational fishermen, given the proximity to harbors and moorings for watercraft.

The Project would adversely affect coastal access and recreation, contrary to the Coastal Act and LCP. The Commission recognized the potential for Project construction to impede beach access through traffic and parking in 2013.[81] These considerations remain. The Project's brine discharge into the Pacific Ocean will also alter salinity with potentially harmful impacts to swimmers, surfers, and Junior Lifeguards. The LCP specifically calls out continuation of the Junior Lifeguard program in Policy I-C.16-F. Interest in a wide swath of the coast for recreational fishing will also diminish if fish populations decline due to entrainment mortality, brine exposure mortality, or shear mortality caused by the Project's linear brine diffusers. The Commission's 2013 Staff Report specifically noted California halibut as a species entrained by the intakes.[82]

[82] 2013 staff report, p. 33

Ocean swimming, surfing, lifeguarding, and fishing are not easily replicable inland. These coastal-dependent recreational uses must be protected.

The adverse impacts of brine discharges must be minimized, or the CDPs must be denied. Unless the Project's capacity is strictly tailored to actual, demonstrated capacity (i.e., demand that exceeds supply), those brine impacts haven't been minimized, and will harm Huntington Beach's surfing, swimming, and fishing opportunities."

Additional public access impacts may occur during construction because the Project site's soils are likely extremely toxic. Hydrocarbon tanks sat on the site for decades, leading Commission Staff to acknowledge the near certainty of contamination.[83] Safe public access to the beach will not likely be possible while toxic soils are being moved and removed during mass grading. The Applicant has not analyzed this impact, provided a remediation plan, or disclosed how access will be affected during construction.

Unless very carefully conditioned to avoid construction and brine impacts, the Project will conflict with Coastal Act and LCP policies concerning public access and recreation. The Project should be rejected.

k. The Project Would Vastly Increase Energy Consumption and Greenhouse Gas Emissions, in Violation of the Coastal Act and the LCP.

It is undisputed that climate change poses an existential threat to the livelihoods of Californians and to the coast itself. Associated sea level rise and coastal erosion further erode opportunities for recreation and habitat for Californians and the state's unique and sensitive wildlife. It is also undisputed that climate change is caused by greenhouse gas emissions, such as those the Project would emit. Accordingly, section 30253(d) of the Coastal Act provides that the Project must minimize energy consumption. Coastal Act policies aimed at protecting coastal resources, recreation, and marine life further support minimizing energy use. Instead, in direct violation of the Coastal Act, the Project's electricity demand would be indirectly responsible for 68,745 metric tons per year of carbon dioxide (CO2) emissions.[84] Further, Poseidon's proffered "Energy Minimization and Greenhouse Gas Reduction Plan" will not actually prevent its high energy consumption or its creation of greenhouse gas emissions. The Project would be a net contributor to climate change. Given the feasibility and availability of water supply alternatives that would not impact the coastal zone, this, alone, justifies rejecting the Project's CDPs.

The Project violates section 30253(d) in several ways. First, the Project is not sized to meet the actual water demand of the area. A smaller plant would use less energy. Second, less energy-intensive alternatives are available. Recent trends in water demand have led to reductions in greenhouse gas emissions.[85] The Project would reverse these trends, without justification. Desalinated water is four times more energy intensive – and therefore has four times the carbon footprint – of available alternatives, such as the purified recycled water the Carson Project would produce.[86] The Carson indirect potable reuse project will occur regardless of the Commission's decision on Poseidon and has offered 60 mgd to OCWD that will be produced through less-carbon-intensive recycling processes. Third, the Project fails to incorporate renewable energy to reduce or eliminate its greenhouse gas footprint onsite and instead proposes an upfront payment to acquire offsets. This is putting the cart before the horse as the incorporation of renewable energy is completely feasible.[87] If approved, the Project must incorporate demonstrably feasible renewable energy sources including 150 megawatts of rooftop solar within Huntington Beach.[88] Fourth, Poseidon's alleged off-site mitigation through purchased offsets fails to ensure greenhouse gas reductions as claimed. Even though offset credits are its only proposal for reducing greenhouse gas emissions, Poseidon drastically underestimates the cost of these offset credits. Poseidon estimates paying a ceiling cost of $10 per metric ton, far lower than the California Air Resources Board's 2021 cap-and-trade allowance settlement price of $28.26, and 2022 ceiling of $72.29.[89] In addition to this present undervaluation of the cost of carbon, Poseidon's proposed offset plan assumes a static price of carbon, despite the fact that the price of carbon offsets will only continue to increase each year as Poseidon continues to inefficiently consume energy and create greenhouse gases.[90]

Further, Poseidon provides no assurances or enforceable performance standards to ensure the validity of the purchased "offsets," and allows the purchase of offsets—including international offsets—from the Climate Registry (TCR), the Climate Action Reserve (CAR) or any other registry "in the event that sufficient offsets are not available. . . at a price that is reasonably equivalent to the price for offsets in the broader domestic market."[91] Poseidon's Plan allows the Planning Director to choose any different registry, without providing adequate performance standards.[92] A Court of Appeal recently overturned an agency's reliance on some of the same voluntary registries and improper discretion, and detailed the reasons why voluntary registries do not actually ensure greenhouse gas emission reductions. (Golden Door Properties, LLC v. County of San Diego (2020) 50 Cal.App.5th 467, 510-518l [expressing concerns with international offsets in particular].)

Adding the final nail on the coffin, Poseidon allows itself to not even purchase offsets at all. Its GHG Reduction Plan provides an escape hatch to put funds in escrow at $10.00 per metric ton if offsets are "economically infeasible," which likely means costing over $10 (this "contingency" option also lacks any performance standards).[93] Offsets cost more than $10 and only will continue to increase. Poseidon's plan does not fully reduce its inefficient energy consumption as claimed.[94] The Commission must enforce section 30253(d) and require direct on-site reductions, especially considering Poseidon's faulty claimed off-site reduction plan.

Nothing precludes the Commission from using its authority to require the Project to directly reduce its greenhouse gas impacts. Reducing the Project's energy-use would produce co-benefits[95] including the reduction of other pollutant emissions at the Project site and the reduction of pollution associated with the generation of the Project's electricity source. Electrical generation often occurs in communities already facing higher pollution burdens. Thus, reducing Project electricity use will have environmental justice benefits.[96] If the Commission chooses to allow the purchase of offsets, at all, it must require the purchase of in-state offsets pursuant to legally adequate performance standards and protocols.

The availability of feasible, less carbon-intensive water sources justifies entirely rejecting the CDPs for the Project. However, if the Commission considers approving a desalination project at the site, it must size the Project to the minimum size necessary and condition the Project to offset all of its energy use with the installation of local renewables.

The Project's electrical demand will also destabilize the electrical grid, in violation. Powers Engineering estimates that the Project will add a continuous 30.34-megawatt load to the electrical grid, the equivalent of 38,732 homes, thereby jeopardizing the grid's reliability.[97] The Project's enormous electrical load would be offset if Poseidon developed 30 megawatts of battery storage in Huntington Beach and must be included as a condition of the Project if approved.

Requiring the inclusion of battery storage and solar energy would also bring the Project into conformity with Huntington Beach LCP policies encouraging solar and the incorporation of new energy technologies. Policy C.8.2.1 supports, the "application of new energy technologies so long as public health, safety and welfare are not jeopardized and environmental impacts are mitigated to the maximum extent possible." If anything, a combination of renewable solar energy and battery storage technology would improve the public health, safety and welfare. Policy C.8.3.1 explicitly "Promote[s] the use of solar energy and encourage[s] energy conservation." An energy-intensive desalination plant discourages energy conservation and would be in conflict with the LCP absent strong conditions about renewable energy.

In 2017, with the support of Governor Newsom, members of the State Lands Commission called on Poseidon to make the Project 100 percent greenhouse gas emission-free, and to do it through technology, innovation, or any means outside of merely writing a check.[98] Given the Governor's leadership on climate change, it is disappointing that Poseidon has done little more than rename its offset plan a "Climate Change Action Plan" and submit it to the Santa Ana Regional Water Quality Control Board in 2019 and to the Commission last summer. Expert reports demonstrate that far more can be done to reduce or even eliminate the Project's greenhouse gas emissions, and the Coastal Act requires no less.

l. The Project Would Adversely Impact Groundwater Basin Water Quality.

LCP Policy C6.1.1 mandates protection of water quality in the groundwater basin. OCWD is proposing delivery systems that would use Poseidon water for groundwater recharge.[99] However, the Irvine Ranch Water District determined that introducing Poseidon water to the basin would degrade water quality.[100] Thus, the Project violates LCP protections for groundwater quality and must be denied.

m. Coastal Act Section 30260 Does Not Authorize the Project.

Claims have been made that the Project can be authorized subject to Section 30260 of the Coastal Act, but the Commission cannot make the three requisite findings. This section provides, "Coastal-dependent industrial facilities shall be encouraged to locate or expand within existing sites and shall be permitted reasonable long-term growth where consistent with this division."

Preliminarily, there is no reason why a water source need be coastal dependent. Section 30101 defines coastal dependent as a "development or use which requires a site on, or adjacent to, the sea to be able to function at all." If a project aims can be satisfied at a location that is not on or adjacent to the sea, even if it is not an applicant's particular proposal, then the project is not a coastal-dependent industrial use and should not qualify for the possible exemption from full mitigation provided in Section 30260. Development of a water source is not coastal dependent. We discuss several non-coastal alternatives. Further, the evidence in the Project record argues against this water source. Available alternatives such as water conservation and reliance on the Carson project eliminate the need for the Project, and with it, all of the Project's adverse impacts on coastal resources. Section 30260 was not intended to apply to developments like the Project. Instead, this provision of the Coastal Act exists for two reasons – (1) California's past reliance on water to cool electrical power plants; and (2) the need for federal approval of the state's program under the Coastal Zone Management Act, which, at that time, was contingent on continued coastal oil production.[101]

Section 30260 next requires that an industrial facility subject to its terms be "consistent with this division." The Poseidon Project is inconsistent with Coastal Act policies concerning marine life, wetlands, ESHA, greenhouse gases, coastal hazards, seismic hazards, and more. The Project is inconsistent with the Act. Section 30260 continues:

> However, where new or expanded coastal-dependent industrial facilities cannot feasibly be accommodated consistent with other policies of this division, they may nonetheless be permitted in accordance with this section and Sections 30261 and 30262 if (1) alternative locations are infeasible or more environmentally damaging; (2) to do otherwise would adversely affect the public welfare; and (3) adverse environmental effects are mitigated to the maximum extent feasible.

The Commission cannot make any of the required findings, and it certainly cannot support them with substantial evidence, as required. First, as discussed at length above, alternative water sources located elsewhere are available and are less environmentally damaging. Conservation of water to increase supply brings net environmental benefits, as would the Carson Project.

Second, reliance on an alternative to the Poseidon Project would not adversely affect the public welfare. The test requires more than a finding that, on balance, a project as proposed is in the interest of the public. It requires that the Coastal Commission find that there would be a detriment to the public welfare were the Coastal Commission to deny a permit for the project proposal. If anything, denial of the CDPs would drastically reduce ratepayer costs, reduce greenhouse gases that contribute to sea level rise and drought (and water scarcity), and eliminate a burden on the electrical system. Preventing the deaths of 108 million marine organisms each year is another great public benefit.[102]

Third, as also discussed above, the Commission cannot find that the Project's adverse environmental effects are mitigated to the maximum extent feasible. The Project includes no ESHA buffers, greenhouse gas mitigation is weak, wedgewire screens will reduce entrainment impacts by a maximum of one percent, and linear brine diffusers cause shear mortality to marine organisms.

Commission staff recently applied this test to the CalAm Desalination proposal, and found that the Project did not satisfy the requirements for approval pursuant to section 30250. The staff recommendation was that, because the project did not meet either of the first two tests of that section ("alternative locations," and "public welfare"), there was no need to determine whether it met the "mitigated to the maximum extent feasible" test.[103]

Ultimately, Commission approval under Section 30260 is entirely discretionary. The section provides that the Commission may permit, rather than shall permit a Project once effects are mitigated to the maximum extent feasible. The Commission can and must impose far more mitigation for the Project and must do so before it may consider authorizing the Project pursuant to section 30260.

[102] Even if the Commission does find that the public welfare would be adversely affected by denial of the Project, this does not affect Poseidon's mitigation obligations. There is no reason that Poseidon cannot bear or pass to its customers the cost of full mitigation.

V. Environmental Justice Requires the Commission to Deny the CDPs.

The Project implicates critical environmental justice and tribal consultation requirements. Recognizing the serious harms wrought by environmental racism, the Commission has taken a laudable stand in favor of environmental justice. Government Code section 65040.12 defines environmental justice as "the fair treatment of people of all races, cultures, and incomes with respect to the development, adoption, implementation, and enforcement of environmental laws, regulations, and policies." Since the signing of AB 2616 (Burke) (Ch. 578, Stats. 2016), the Coastal Commission has had authority to specifically consider environmental justice when making permit decisions, and it has done so to great effect.[104] Coastal Act section 30604(h) now provides, "When acting on a coastal development permit, the issuing agency, or the Commission on appeal, may consider environmental justice, or the equitable distribution of environmental benefits throughout the state."[105]

In March 2019, the Commission unanimously adopted an Environmental Justice Policy to guide implementation of this authority[106]. The Commission's policy provides:

- "Commission staff shall consider, when applicable, whether and how proposed development will positively or negatively affect marginalized communities, and will be fully transparent in that analysis in staff reports and presentations."

- "Where project impacts to disadvantaged or overburdened communities are identified, and where otherwise consistent under the Coastal Act, civil rights and environmental justice laws, the Commission staff shall propose permit conditions to avoid or mitigate those impacts to underserved communities to the maximum extent feasible while protecting coastal resources.

- "If viable alternatives are available, consider those in permitting decisions."

[104] Staff Report for Cal-Am Desalination Project, September 2020, pp. 86-101, https://documents.coastal.ca.gov/reports/2020/9/Th3a&4a/Th3a&4a%20Staff%20Report.pdf; see also Staff Report for Application No. 5-18-0788, February 2021, https://documents.coastal.ca.gov/reports/2021/2/Th14a/th14a-2-2021-report.pdf. [conditioning pool on outreach and development of a plan to enhance recreation and coastal access for underserved communities in Long Beach.]

[105] Section 30107.3 (a) of the Coastal Act, defines "environmental justice" as "the fair treatment and meaningful involvement of people of all races, cultures, incomes and national origins, with respect to the development, adoption, implementation, and enforcement of environmental laws, regulations, and policies."

[106] California Coastal Commission Environmental Justice Policy, March 2019, https://documents.coastal.ca.gov/assets/env-justice/CCC_EJ_Policy_FINAL.pdf.

The Commission, therefore, has a duty to conduct robust analysis of the Project and its environmental justice implications. In light of the Commission's specific environmental justice policies, it cannot simply rely on another agency's analysis of this issue. (See, for example, Friends of Buckingham v. State Air Pollution Control Bd. (4th Cir. 2020) 947 F.3rd 86 [NEPA requires an agency to conduct its own environmental justice analysis].) The Commission prepared an evaluation of the environmental justice-related impacts of another project, the Cal-Am Desalination proposal, in its September 2020 Staff Report.[107] The Commission can and must prepare an analysis of the Poseidon Project, which will have significant impacts on disadvantaged communities throughout the region.

The Project will disproportionately affect disadvantaged or overburdened communities in several ways. The high cost of project water[108] will have the greatest impact on those least able to afford it. The Commission analyzed ratepayer costs in September of 2020 during its consideration of the Cal-Am Desalination Project.[109] The Project will also require very large amounts of energy, energy produced through polluting processes. The Project will also reduce free recreational opportunities during construction and as its greenhouse gas emissions exacerbate sea level rise and beach loss and as its beach armoring prevents beach and wetland migration inland. The loss of free recreational opportunities hits disadvantaged communities the hardest.

The Huntington Beach LCP further implicates environmental justice considerations of water cost. Section I-C 18 of the LCP requires implementation of "the programs and policies contained in the Public Facilities and Services Element of the General Plan to the extent that these programs and policies are not inconsistent with the City's Local Coastal Program." Goal PSI-6B of the City's General Plan is to "Ensure that the costs of water and wastewater infrastructure improvements are borne by those who benefit, through adequate fees and charges or the construction of improvements."[110] The Commission must conduct a robust analysis to determine whether the Project is consistent with LCP Section I-C 18.

The Environmental Justice Policy requires the Commission to consider viable alternatives to projects, such as this one, that will adversely affect disadvantaged and overburdened communities. Viable alternatives exist in the form of conservation, the Carson Project, and in a smaller plant used for emergency purposes only, sized to meet the area's demonstrated need. Supplying water through conservation is both cost- and energy-efficient and has environmental justice benefits. The Carson Project's less expensive water supply[111] would avoid the Poseidon Project's water bill increases for lower-income residents, construction and recreation impacts that might have disproportionate impacts, and greenhouse gas emissions that contribute to sea level rise. A smaller plant would require less dredge and fill, use less energy, and also avoid some of the contributions to climate change and sea level rise. The Commission should use its Environmental Justice Policy authority to recommend viable alternatives to the Project.

Alternatively, the Commission must condition the Project to avoid or mitigate these impacts to the maximum extent feasible. This means that the Project must limit cost increases to end-users, drastically reduce energy consumption, greenhouse gas production, and prohibit reductions in beach access or brine-related recreational impacts. If not conditioned to avoid these impacts, we urge the Commission to deny the Project CDPs.

We also note that the Project must comply with AB 52 and the Commission's Tribal Consultation Policy. We ask the Commission to thoroughly analyze the Project for potential impacts to tribal cultural resources and traditional cultural landscapes.

The Project further implicates the environmental justice definitions contained in SB 115, SB 535, AB 1550, SB 1000, and AB 1628.

VI. Executive Order N-82-20 Requires State Agencies to Preserve Lands and Coastal Waters to Limit Climate Change, Protect Biodiversity, and Increase Climate Resilience.

---

[110] https://www.huntingtonbeachca.gov/files/users/planning/Public-Services-and-Infrastructure.pdf

[111] See, https://www.eenews.net/articles/could-la-water-recycling-be-a-miracle-for-parched-west/ [Carson water cost of $1,800/af v. desalination water cost of $2,300/af or more].

On October 7, 2020, Governor Newsom issued Executive Order N-82-20, which enlisted all state agencies – including the Coastal Commission – to preserve thirty percent of California's coastal waters to fight climate change, protect California's astonishing biodiversity, and increase the State's climate resilience. As discussed above and throughout a decade of documents submitted to the Commission, the Poseidon Project's desalination process is inherently energy-intensive. The Project would generate 68,745 metric tons per year of carbon dioxide (CO2) emissions that would accelerate climate change.[112] Even if the proposed offsets are reliable, verifiable, and otherwise enforceable, these offsets would not prevent or minimize the emissions of greenhouse gases due to the Project. The desalination facility's intakes would kill billions of marine organisms during the facility's lifetime, thereby reducing the productivity and biodiversity of Orange County's remaining coastal wetlands and nearby Marine Protected Areas. Finally, although only constructed to "community facility" standards, the facility is intended to provide critical infrastructure services in a coastal area subject to geological and increasing sea level-rise hazards. Thus, the Poseidon Project threatens to accelerate climate change, diminish biodiversity, and increase climate vulnerability by contributing to sea level rise. In addition to the Coastal Act and LCP provisions discussed above, approval of the CDPs by the Coastal Commission would violate Executive Order N-82-20.

VII. Conclusion

We thank you for your consideration of these comments and urge you to reject Poseidon's application for CDPs for the Huntington Beach Desalination Plant on a site with open violations of wetlands protection policies. The Project cannot be approved until it is brought into conformity with the California Coastal Act, the Huntington Beach certified LCP, and regulations intended to safeguard critical and emergency infrastructure such as that surrounding water supply, environmental justice and Tribal consultation policies, and Poseidon has not demonstrated that such conformity is possible. The continuing recovery of this important marine estuary, the supremacy of Huntington Beach's certified LCP, and the safety and security of the region's people depend on the Commission's willingness to see the Poseidon Project for what it is, permission to build the largest marine predator in California.

Re: Poseidon Resources, LLC; Seawater Desalination Project at Huntington Beach; Application for Coastal Development Permit; Appeal of Coastal Development Permit; 21730 Newland Street, Huntington Beach

Dear Mr. Luster and Honorable Commissioners:

We submit these comments to you on behalf of California Coastal Protection Network, California Coastkeeper Alliance, Orange County Coastkeeper, and the Surfrider Foundation in full support of the Staff Recommendation to deny the coastal development permits (CDPs) sought for the Poseidon Desalination Project. The Project would do immeasurable environmental damage to the state's marine resources to provide an unreliable and unnecessary source of water in violation of so many provisions of the Coastal Act and the Huntington Beach Certified LCP that we are unable to even list them in this short letter. Moreover, Project approval would threaten California's status as a climate change visionary, effectively rolling back years of Commission victories in the areas of sea level rise preparedness, greenhouse gas reduction, and environmental justice. We urge the Commissioners to follow the Staff Report recommendation to reject this Project, once and for all.

Preliminarily, although Coastal Act section 30412 provides that the Commission cannot take action "in conflict with" the Regional Board determination, that same section provides:

> nothing herein shall be interpreted in any way either as prohibiting or limiting the commission… from exercising the regulatory controls over development pursuant to this division in a manner necessary to carry out this division.

Coastal Act section 30233 limits Commission approval of the Project to "where there is no feasible less damaging alternative and where feasible mitigation measures have been provided to minimize adverse environmental effects."[1] Therefore, the Commission must reject the project since there are feasible alternatives and mitigation measures that have not been incorporated into the Project. Feasible alternatives exist in the forms of water conservation, recycling as is already occurring in Orange County, and the Carson Potable Reuse project, among others.

The Staff Report contains 204 pages of thorough analysis of the Project's inconsistencies with the Coastal Act and LCP, including, but not limited to:

- The Project is inconsistent with the Commission's much-championed Environmental Justice Policy and Coastal Act section 30604 subd. (h) in that desalinated water is four to five times more expensive than imported water, a cost that will be passed directly to ratepayers. High water costs affect the lowest-income residents most, and the Carlsbad plant's water exceeds $2,900/acre-foot. The Project site would also add additional industrial activity to an already-toxic triangle, in further opposition to the Environmental Justice Policy.

- The Project's intake of 108 million gallons of water each day, its hypersaline discharge, and the force of the jets needed to mix that discharge into the ocean would kill over 5.4 billion marine organisms, essentially eliminating the base of the marine ecosystem for an area equivalent to a slice of ocean stretching 9.5 miles from the Santa Ana River to Anaheim Bay and one mile offshore, in violation of Coastal Act sections 30231 and 30231. (Staff Report pp. 106-107.) The area affected encompasses 9 Marine Protected Areas that were established precisely to enable marine life to recover from decades of harmful open ocean intakes, such as that proposed here, that were finally being phased out as required by the Clean Water Act.

- Poseidon's proposed mitigation is speculative and unlikely to actually offset the Project's impacts, even if it is implemented in a timely manner, which is unlikely,

[1] We note that the Coastal Act is to be "liberally construed to accomplish its purposes and objectives." (Pacific Palisades Bowl Mobile Estates, LLC v. City of Los Angeles (2012) 55 Cal.4th 783, 793-794.

given that Poseidon's Carlsbad plant has not started mitigating its impacts – seven years into operation. (Staff Report pp. 6, 123-128.)

- In an effort to prevent further reliance on infrastructure that will go underwater or be unmaintainable as sea level rises, the Commission adopted its groundbreaking Sea Level Rise Policy Guidance and its Critical Infrastructure Guidance and committed to the Ocean Protection Council's Principles for Aligned State Action. The Project site already experiences daylighting groundwater. Public services would become difficult to maintain with even one foot of sea level rise, and the site is vulnerable to flooding with just 2.9 feet of sea level rise, far less than what is expected at the site in the future. Approval of the Project would commit California to relying on poorly-sited critical water infrastructure, in direct contravention of the Commission's adopted guidance and Coastal Act sections 30001.5 subd. (f) and 30270.

- Project grading and the newly-proposed flood control berm are shoreline protective devices prohibited by Coastal Act section 30253.

- Although the Project is intended as a secure water supply in the event of a seismic emergency, Poseidon refuses to commit to building the Project as Level IV critical infrastructure. Without adequate building standards, the Project's siting in the direct line of documented seismic, tsunami, and flood hazards violates Coastal Act sections 30253, 30001.5(f), and a litany of LCP policies. (Staff Report pp. 42-96.)

- Pursuant to Coastal Act section 30253 subd. (d), and consistent with California's groundbreaking role in greenhouse gas emission reduction, the Commission has become a leader in requiring Projects to reduce and offset their GHGs. Although the Project would become one of the largest energy users in Orange County, Poseidon proposes to fund only one-third to one-sixth of the cost needed to purchase offset credits

- As documented in all recent Urban Water Management Plans, Orange County has abundant local water supplies through 2045. Accordingly, Poseidon has been unable to line up a buyer for the Project, meaning that desalinated water with high levels of chloride and boron would be stored in the aquifer, diminishing groundwater quality in violation of LCP Policy C6.1. It would also displace "free" river water already recaptured in the basin, along with less costly and better quality recycled water.

Ultimately, the Staff Report concludes that the Commission cannot find that: (1) there are no feasible alternatives to the Project; or (2) feasible mitigation has been provided to minimize adverse environmental effects. Based on this, and on the staff's determination that the Project's environmental impacts cannot be mitigated, substantial evidence does not exist to support findings approving the Project. Approval of the Project on this record would require new findings that, based on this Staff Report, would constitute an impermissible and illegal post hoc rationalization. (Friends, Artists and Neighbors of Elkhorn Slough v. California Coastal Commission (2021) 72 Cal.App.5th 666, 710.) The Project must be denied.

We thank Commission staff for such thorough analysis of these technical but important issues and urge the Commission to accept Staff's recommendation to deny the CDPs that would enable this devastating Project.

Sincerely,

Michelle N. Black, on behalf of California Coastal Protection Network, California Coastkeeper Alliance, Orange County Coastkeeper, and the Surfrider Foundation

Metropolitan Water District's Water Conservation Order and How it Relates to the Carson and Hyperion Water Recycling Projects and the Poseidon Huntington Beach Seawater Desalination Proposal

Metropolitan Water District of Southern California's April 27th Media Release re: New Water Conservation Requirements:

https://www.mwdh2o.com/newsroom-press-releases/metropolitan-cuts-outdoor-watering-to-one-day-a-week-for-six-million-southern-californians/

Los Angeles Times article from Wednesday, April 27th regarding MWD's Water Conservation Requirements:

https://www.latimes.com/environment/story/2022-04-27/parts-of-socal-face-full-outdoor-watering-ban-by-september

How the Current Drought in Southern California Relates to Various Proposed Water Supply Projects:

- The MWD drought order confirms that the Poseidon project is the wrong project in the wrong location to serve the MWD service area beyond the Orange County Water District's service area (northern and central Orange County). Poseidon would not serve the areas that need additional water supplies.

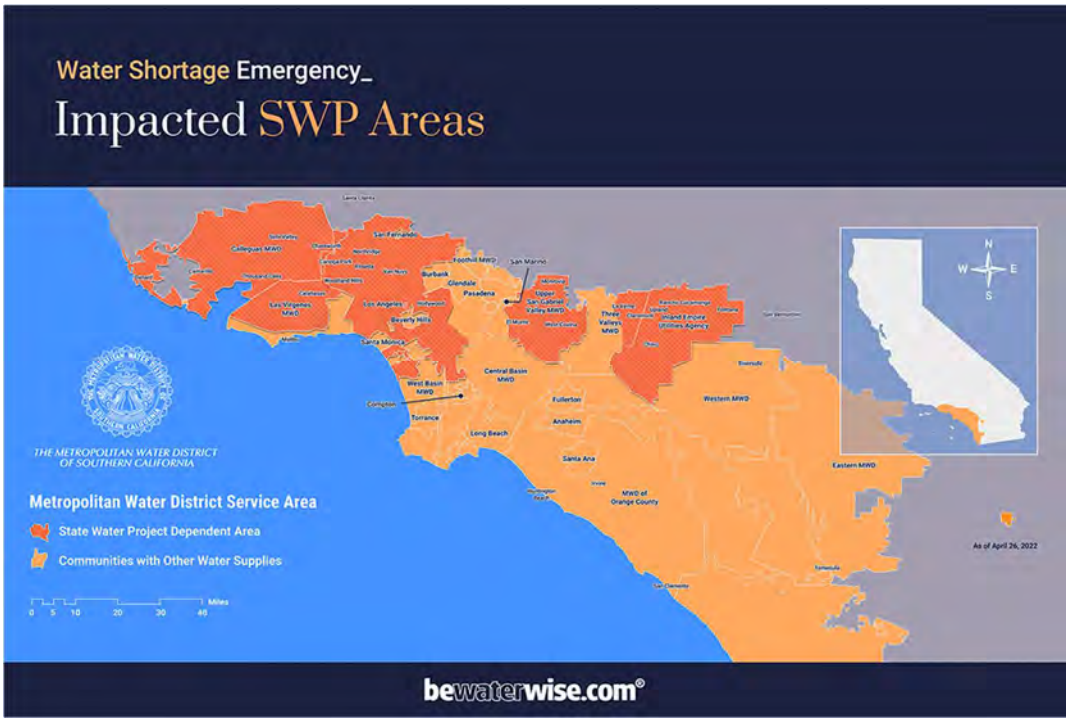
- The MWD emergency order does not apply to the Orange County Water District's service area because OCWD and the Municipal Water District of Orange County (MWDOC) have enough water from multiple sources to meet local needs, including its abundant groundwater basin, water recycling projects, and other sources.

- The MWD emergency order requiring water conservation applies to portions of northern Los Angeles County, Ventura County, and San Bernardino County — areas the Poseidon water would not serve. These are called State Water Project exclusive areas and are shown in the MWD graphic below. The SWP dependent areas are a significant distance to the north of the MWDOC and OCWD service areas and would not be served by the Poseidon project.



- MWD has substantial volumes of water in storage in Diamond Valley Lake and elsewhere, but does not have the piping to get this water to the MWD SWP exclusive areas that are subject to the conservation order. These are the areas where water is needed most when the SWP is unable to deliver MWD's contracted supplies in multiple consecutive years. MWD has requested state funding to build the pipes necessary to connect these areas to MWD's other water supplies. Better connecting MWD's SWP exclusive areas with its existing significant stored water supples is one of the most cost-effective and timely ways to meet the SWP exclusive area's water needs, in addition to additional water conservation and recycling.

- This reinforces why MWD's Carson Regional Recycled Water Project and the City of Los Angeles' Hyperion Operation Next water recycling projects should be built instead of Poseidon. The Carson and Hyperion projects could provide recycled water for storage and direct delivery where it is needed the most including MWD's SWP exclusive areas. Poseidon can't serve those areas with water because it is in the wrong location. The Carson and Hyperion projects could provide up to 400,000 acre-feet of additional water supplies — about eight times as much water as the Poseidon Huntington Beach project. And the water would cost significantly less per acre-foot and significantly increase Southern California's overall water supply resiliency.

- In the meantime, MWD should construct the pipes needed to connect the water it has stored with its SWP exclusive areas. MWD and the City of LA should be commended for their work to advance the Carson and Hyperion water recycling projects.

- In the meantime, water conservation remains the least expensive, most cost-effective, and most immediate way to stretch our current water supplies to meet our needs.

- The Pacific Institute recently reviewed California's potential to conserve, recycle, and capture stormwater to help address California's ongoing water needs. The report concludes that:

  "(U)rban water use efficiency improvements could reduce statewide urban water use by 2.0 million to 3.0 million acre-feet per year (AFY). The reuse potential of municipal wastewater is 1.8 million to 2.1 million AFY, and stormwater capture potential is 580,000 AFY in a dry year to as much as 3.0 million AFY in a wet year." "The Untapped Potential of California's Urban Water Supply: Water Efficiency, Water Reuse, and Stormwater Capture," April 2022.

- As indicated above, the Poseidon Huntington Beach Seawater Desalination proposal is the wrong project in the wrong location. It would not provide water where it is needed, and would cause very significant harm to the environment and to low-income ratepayers. As both MWDOC and the Irvine Ranch Water District have documented, the Poseidon project is not needed even in Orange County and is not cost-effective. Orange County and Southern California have better alternatives.

Orange County families, community leaders, ocean conservation and water experts are urging you to say NO to the proposed Brookfield-Poseidon Desalination Plant in Huntington Beach.

This $1.4 billion catastrophe-in-the-making is too expensive for Orange County families, destructive to our ocean and its wildlife, and harmful for our climate. We don't need it!

Scientists and water experts agree that desalination should be our last resort to meet our water needs.

We oppose the Poseidon project because:

- Orange County has cheaper, cleaner water options. Local solutions like water recycling, conservation, and cleaning up contaminated groundwater are far better alternatives to wasteful water projects like Poseidon at a fraction of the cost.

- The Poseidon plant would increase water bills for Orange County families, hurting low-income and families of color, as well as coastal businesses like hotels and restaurants.

- We need to protect California's oceans and beaches. The Poseidon plant would kill ocean life, pollute our water with toxic chemicals like boron and chloride, and discharge a toxic soup of concentrated brine and other harmful chemicals into our coastal waters, creating an offshore "dead zone" in Huntington Beach.

- The water is not needed. The Municipal Water District of Orange County has shown the Poseidon project is the least cost-effective and riskiest way to meet our future water needs. Orange County has many less costly, less risky, and more environmentally-friendly local sources of water.

- Poseidon accelerates climate change. Desalination is the most energy-intensive way to produce fresh water and would generate more greenhouse gas emissions. The Poseidon plant's location is also vulnerable to flooding, earthquakes, tsunamis, and man-made disasters like offshore oil spills or radioactive waste spills.

We urge you to reject the proposed Poseidon desalination plant.

Re: Huntington Beach Seawater Desalination Facility – APPROVE

Dear Chair Brownsey:

The League of United Latin American Citizens (LULAC) celebrated its 93rd anniversary last year. It is the oldest and most-respected Latino civil rights organization in the United States. We have closely followed this project through the years and stand steadfastly in support of the project and encourage your approval at your May 12, 2022 hearing.

The State Lands Commission conducted an extensive review of environmental justice considerations before certifying the Final Environmental Impact Report (FEIR) for the Huntington Beach Seawater Desalination project on October 19, 2017. At this hearing, the State Lands Commission found that this project has "no impact" as it relates to environmental justice issues with disadvantaged communities. Further, the State Lands Commission evaluated the project's environmental impacts to disadvantaged communities in the areas of noise, air, traffic, etc. and found that this project would have no significant impact to any disadvantaged communities under its Environmental Justice policy.

Last year, the Santa Ana Regional Water Quality Control Board determined this project complies with the State's new desalination amendment to the Ocean Plan and recommended a mitigation plan that is appropriate and beneficial. It will protect and preserve the Bolsa Chica wetlands for the next generation, while also ensuring this needed water reliability project will move forward.

The effects of climate change will negatively affect millions of middle-and-low income Latino families in California. The 2012-2016 drought drained about $10 billion from the California economy according to the American Society of Civil Engineers and Latino families and businesses suffered. Now, we are plunging into the depths of drought again. And this won't be the last time.

LULAC recognizes that the development of all new local water supply projects is projected to result in initial cost increases to the consumers. This is not unique to seawater desalination. Desalinated water costs less than a penny a gallon and has proven to be a great boon to San Diego County where the Carlsbad desalination project has been operational for more than five years. Latino families and businesses in San Diego County have benefited from this high-quality, drought-proof, affordable water supply. The scare tactics about the cost of desalination is nothing but a red herring, which is evident by the deafening silence we hear in San Diego County regarding the cost of desalination.

In addition to adding a new drought-proof, climate-resilient water supply to serve Orange County, this project has many other benefits that will serve disadvantaged communities, including:

- the preservation and restoration of the Bolsa Chica wetlands;
- educational programs organized and funded by Poseidon Water for Latino youth from inland communities to visit and learn about the wetlands at Bolsa Chica;
- millions in tax revenue that will benefit our local schools, parks, police and fire; and
- thousands of good-paying construction jobs that benefit Latino men and women throughout Orange County.

Latinos are the fastest growing demographic group in California and water quality and reliability are critical to our families, schools and businesses. LULAC supports the science and the extensive work that has been made to provide you the data to make an informed decision to approve the permit in May.

Sincerely,

Jose Luis Barrera Novoa State Director - California LULAC | LULAC National Board of Directors - Member | Jb.lulac@gmail.com | Calulac.org

Coastal Commission Staff Report Re Brookfield-Poseidon

Regarding: Coastal Commission Staff Report, Dated April 25th, 2022, Recommending Denial for Poseidon Resources, LLC; Seawater Desalination Project at 21730 Newland Street, Huntington Beach

Dear Chair Brownsey and Commissioners,

We commend the Coastal Commission staff on the quality of the recently released staff report on the Poseidon plant proposed by Brookfield Asset Management. The report illustrates the many reasons why the coastal development permits for the project should be denied and we concur with the staff's findings.

We must also note that there are additional reasons to deny the coastal development permit beyond those described in the staff report. We would like to point out a few:

- Brookfield-Poseidon's nearly complete lack of transparency in terms of the financing and business strategy of this project has rendered it nearly impossible for the public to understand the cost implications of the project and its effect on water affordability. The opacity of their dealings avoids proper public participation.[1]
- Californian households are currently crushed by water debt and any increase in water prices would further the burdens they already face, while also raising the number of households affected by water debt.[2]

[1] The Carlsbad desalination plant operated by Brookfield-Poseidon was financially structured to match the needs of Wall Street and foreign investors, as opposed to the needs of ratepayers in San Diego. Since then, the average water bill in San Diego has increased by over $531 during an eight year period. The proposed Huntington Beach plant will likely be structured in a similar fashion, meaning North Orange County ratepayers will experience similar price burdens. Nina Lakhani, Millions of Americans Can't Afford Water, as Bills Rise 80% in a Decade, Consumer Reports (Jul. 10, 2020), https://www.consumerreports.org/personal-finance/millions-of-americans-cant-afford-water-as-bills-rise-80-percent-in-a-decade-a8273700709

[2] The total household water debt in California is already over $1 billion, and California does not offer any form of statewide water bill assistance to lower this enormous amount. Furthermore, less than half of California ratepayers receive water from a system that offers water debt assistance. Jackie Botts, 'The most basic form of PPE': 1.6 million households face water shutoffs, Cal Matters (Jan. 26, 2021) https://calmatters.org/california-divide/2021/01/water-debt-california-households-face-water-shutoffs/ ("Poorer areas and areas with more Black and Hispanic residents have more widespread debt, higher average debt, and a higher portion of households owing over $1,000.").

- Given the significant population size of the area that the proposed project could affect 400-800,000 people, and the commitment of federal WIFIA funds to the project, we believe a NEPA review is already required.[3] Granting a permit without one could yield more costs, litigation, and uncertainty.
- Brookfield-Poseidon has failed to submit the remedial plans for the toxicity on-site and off-site, the emergency evacuation plans for neighboring communities, and hazardous waste plans that they promised to provide. Together, these show the disregard Brookfield-Poseidon has shown to affected communities. The permitting of a project that disregards communities to this extent would be antithetical to California EJ laws and this Commission's EJ and tribal policies.[4]
- The proposed site and the immediate area is a brownfield likely lined with concealed oil wells unmapped by CalGEM, posing a significant threat to workers and neighboring communities due to the extensive digging required to build a facility like this.
- Brookfield-Poseidon has failed to provide any of its public documents in any of the relevant languages for sensitive communities in North Orange County (Spanish, Korean, and Vietnamese) making public participation for communities of color virtually impossible.[5]
- If built, a Brookfield-Poseidon plant would become a stranded asset within a few years, if it wouldn't be one already at the start of operations. Technologies have already passed the proposed plan by decades. As technology improves around the world, a massive fossil-fuel burning desalination plant running obsolete technology will be a giant reminder of billions of dollars of public money locked in as a stranded asset on the coast of beautiful Huntington Beach, California.[6]

[3] Orange County has a population of over 3 million people. While the combined population of Santa Ana, Anaheim, and Garden Grove, the communities most affected by this decision in North Orange County, totals over 800,000 residents. A project sponsored by the federal government with such a significant impact on the Orange County population must conduct an Environmental Impact Statement to further analyze the environmental and socioeconomic impacts of this proposal. See US Census Bureau, www.census.gov (last visited May 2, 2022).

[4] California Coastal Commission Environmental Justice Policy, California Coastal Commission at 9 (2019) https://documents.coastal.ca.gov/assets/env-justice/CCC_EJ_Policy_FINAL.pdf ("The Commission's Environmental Justice policy "acknowledges the critical need to communicate consistently, clearly, and appropriately with environmental justice groups and underserved communities," it is also committed to "identifying and eliminating barriers to its public process in order to provide a more welcoming, understandable and respectful atmosphere.").

[5] Latino residents make up 36% of Garden Grove, 76% of Santa Ana, and 53% of Anaheim. While Asian residents comprise 42% of Garden Grove, 12% of Santa Ana, and 17% of Anaheim. Adequate measures should be taken to meaningfully include and accommodate these sensitive communities in the decision-making process. See US Census Bureau, www.census.gov (last visited May 2, 2022).

[6] Stranded assets are those that are devalued or turned into liabilities before they can obtain their expected economic value due to changes in the environment and society's perception of these changes. Stranded assets are huge financial and environmental liabilities that should be avoided. Instead, safer and sustainable alternatives such as water conservation and recycling should be pursued. Stranded Assets: The transition to a low carbon economy, Lloyd's at 4 (2017) https://www.lloyds.com/strandedassets; See Erica Gies, Slaking the World's Thirst with Seawater Dumps Toxic Brine in Oceans, Scientific American (Feb. 7, 2019) https://www.scientificamerican.com/article/slaking-the-worlds-thirst-with-seawater-dumps-toxic-brine-in-oceans/ ("California, Arizona and … Singapore have been pioneers in … using treated wastewater for crop and landscape irrigation as well as drinking water. Conservation is another oft-overlooked approach to the problem of dwindling water supplies… some water supply systems lose more than half their water to leaks. Urban areas can also expand green spaces to capture more storm water, rather than trying to shunt it away as quickly as possible."); See also, Oscar Rodriguez, Rodriguez: The Environmental Racism Behind the Poseidon Desalination Proposal, Voice of Orange County (2020)

Finally, we would like to express our gratitude to California Coastal Commission staff for showing true dedication to abiding by the law and doing what is best for all Californian communities by rejecting this deeply flawed plan operated by a massive foreign private equity conglomerate. We look forward to discussing these issues and others with the commissioners on May 12th, and we hope the commission will heed the wisdom of its own staff and deny the coastal development permits for Brookfield-Poseidon.

RE: Poseidon Water and the Proposed Huntington Beach Desalination Facility

Sent via electronic submission to: Regan.Michael@epa.gov

Dear Administrator Regan,

The undersigned organizations write with concern that the proposed desalination facility for Huntington Beach has not complied with the requirements of the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA). We request a review of the project to determine if further action is required by the project developer to ensure compliance with NEPA before the California Coastal Commission can grant Coastal Development Permits to Brookfield-Poseidon, the Canadian conglomerate behind the project. We believe the project is planning to begin demolition and development without satisfying NEPA in good faith.

The project has been proposed by Poseidon Water LLC, a portfolio company of Brookfield Infrastructure Partners L.P., which is managed by Brookfield Asset Management Inc.[1] Brookfield Asset Management, headquartered in Toronto, Canada, controls approximately $690 billion worth of "real estate, infrastructure, renewable power, private equity and credit" assets globally[2] and recently announced a record annual income of $12.4 billion for 2021.[3]

This corporate group has been working for over 20 years to build a desalination facility in Huntington Beach.[4] In spite of their efforts, the only possible buyer for the water is the Orange County Water District.[5] Under the proposed terms, the desalinated water will be pumped into the ground, rather than distributed directly to consumers.[6] Notably, the Orange County Water District is not legally committed to buying the water, and Poseidon's ability to secure all necessary permits and comply with environmental regulations are conditions precedent to any binding contract with the district.[7]

Poseidon's previous desalination project, in Carlsbad, began repeatedly violating environmental standards in its first year of operation.[8] University of California researchers found that the discharge from the plant is more saline—and extends into a "much farther" zone—than what is allowed by the facility's permits.[9] Less than four years after the plant became operational, Poseidon and its NY-based partner, Stonepeak Infrastructure Partners, sold the Carlsbad desalination plant to Scotland's Aberdeen Standard Investments.[10]

Based on Poseidon's history in California, we fear the developer has not designed the desalination facility to be safe for the entirety of the facility's operating life and from the various significant risks the site could face from climate change, flooding, earthquakes, and other extreme weather events. Strict compliance with existing environmental laws is the only way to ensure Poseidon doesn't harm Huntington Beach's beloved coastline and the impacted residents of Orange County.

Federal law dictates that an environmental impact statement is needed for this proposed desalination plant because of the significant impacts on the environment and disadvantaged communities. We are concerned that Poseidon has obviated its obligations under both California and U.S. law regarding this project. Poseidon's disinterest in soliciting public participation regarding the environmental and human health impacts of their proposed facility has been evident throughout. This massive project cannot advance without following the requirements of our federal and state environmental protection regimes, including requirements for public participation and transparency.[11] NEPA requires all federal agencies to include a detailed statement of the environmental impact for any "major Federal actions significantly affecting the quality of the human environment."[12] When projects are proposed by entities other than federal agencies, a responsible official from that entity is required to prepare the environmental impact statement (EIS).[13] As of the date of this letter, Poseidon has not completed an EIS for the desalination plant and has not stated any plans to do so.[14]

One type of project that normally requires an EIS is a new "water supply syste[m] for a community with a population greater than 100,000."[15] The proposed desalination plant would be situated on the coast in populous Orange County and would produce an estimated 50 million gallons of water per day.[16] The only group willing to purchase the desalinated water, the Orange County Water District, "provide[s] water for more than 2.5 million people."[17]

Additionally, projects that are "likely to significantly affect environmentally important natural resources" normally require an EIS.[18] Coastal zones are explicitly included as important natural resources.[19] The proposed desalination plant would have a significant impact on the coastal environment in Huntington Beach. First, the intake of sea water can trap, injure, and kill marine organisms.[20] Second, the desalination process concentrates salt and toxic chemicals into a brine discharge, which is then pumped back into the ocean.[21] This creates a two-pronged crisis for marine life and can create "dead zones" where marine biodiversity once thrived.[22]

An EIS would require Poseidon to address the specific environmental risks related to the siting of the proposed facility. The desalination plant is planned for a location that is a mere seven miles from the Bolsa Chica Wetlands, parts of which have been designated environmentally sensitive habitat areas.[23] The site is adjacent to the former Ascon Landfill, which is undergoing cleanup efforts due to the presence of large quantities of highly toxic chemicals.[24] There are also significant threats to the facility from disasters such as oil spills, sea level rise, flooding, tsunamis, wildfires, and earthquakes.[25]

Finally, desalinating ocean water is massively energy intensive. All of the energy Brookfield plans to create is produced by burning fossil fuels, which emits carbon dioxide and contributes to global warming.[26] In turn, the rise in global temperature also warms the oceans.[27] As the ocean absorbs more carbon dioxide, it becomes more acidic.[28] The increased ocean temperature and acidification further harm marine life, ocean ecosystems, and entire food webs.[29]

In addition to the significant effects on the natural environment, this proposed project would also impact the human environment.[30] The desalination plant would be located in a community with higher levels of Latinx, Asian-American, and Indigenous persons, who would bear a disproportionate burden of pollution and noise generated by the facility.[31] Communities of color, the elderly, and persons with disabilities are most impacted by increased costs for water.[32] A comprehensive accounting for how the project will impact these communities is essential for NEPA compliance.

One study by UCLA found that this proposed desalination plant would have no positive impact on disadvantaged communities and could decrease access to affordable water.[33] Orange County residents are "almost entirely" connected to large, professionally-operated water supply systems.[34] Impoverished households represent a larger portion of Orange County's smaller water systems, but these households would not be impacted by the proposed facility and its agreement with the large Orange County Water District.[35] Further, it is unlikely that this water could be transported to water-insecure communities outside of Orange County.[36] The UCLA report concluded that "[t]he only probable impact on disadvantaged households in the county will be moderate to severe rate increases which will make water less affordable for low-income households consuming modest amounts of water."[37]

An EIS allows a meaningful opportunity for public participation in the process and to have stakeholder concerns addressed before a proposed project moves forward. An EIS is critical at the beginning of the permitting process to ensure decisionmakers have properly reviewed the environmental impacts of a particular project.[38] The proposed desalination plant is well beyond that stage; Poseidon insists a permit from the California Coastal Commission is the last step before beginning construction.[39] Poseidon's failure to comply with its obligations under NEPA threatens to set a dangerous precedent for corporations looking to undertake projects without complying with long-supported U.S. environmental protection law.

NEPA requires "diligent efforts" by developers to include public participation in developing an EIS for a proposed project.[40] Impacted communities must have the opportunity to review critical information about the environmental and human health effects of a proposed project.[41] The public must be able to meaningfully share their concerns, support, or opposition to the project.[42] Opposing viewpoints and reasonable critiques must be adequately addressed in a draft or final EIS before the project can move forward.[43]

This strong foundation has protected human and environmental health since 1970.[44] It created an inherently democratic process that gives Americans a voice in preserving their natural resources for themselves and future generations.[45] Along with a recently redoubled federal commitment to environmental justice, NEPA is an important tool in ensuring that development can proceed without jeopardizing vulnerable and historically marginalized communities.[46]

Federal funding programs—such as the WIFIA funds Poseidon was eligible to apply for—also require NEPA compliance. Established in 2014, the Water Infrastructure Finance and Innovation Act (WIFIA) grants the EPA the ability to provide low-interest loans for water and wastewater projects.[47] Eligibility and project selection require that an applicant comply with all other federal laws and regulations, including NEPA.[48] Poseidon has touted WIFIA as an indication the proposed project complies with environmental law. However, misleading statements about Poseidon Water's WIFIA application abound.[49] Poseidon itself has used deceptive headlines regarding its WIFIA application, indicating the project proposal secured a funding commitment from the EPA.[50] In reality, the Huntington Beach facility is merely 1 of 38 projects that the EPA invited to apply for consideration of a loan in the FY 2019 funding cycle.[51] Invited projects are still required to formally apply, navigate the funding process, and prove their compliance with other federal and state laws.[52] Applicants are able to submit a letter of intent and receive a preliminary review without meeting their NEPA obligations, but a WIFIA loan will not close until a NEPA review is complete.[53]

The EPA confirmed that as of December 8, 2021, Poseidon has not applied for a WIFIA loan.[54] Because applicants have one year to file their application after they receive EPA approval to apply, it is unclear if Poseidon is still eligible to apply for a WIFIA loan at this time.[55] Other federal funding programs may also require NEPA compliance, but we have not been able to determine all of the funding sources for this proposal due to Poseidon's lack of financial transparency. There is no publicly-available budget or funding statement for the community to evaluate in spite of a 2,980-page application for the Coastal

Development Permit.[56]

WIFIA's Programmatic Environmental Assessment is an inadequate substitution for an EIS because of the size and potential impacts of the proposed project. During the Trump Administration, the EPA introduced a Programmatic Environmental Assessment (PEA).[57] The PEA purports to analyze "potential adverse and beneficial environmental impacts of water infrastructure projects eligible for WIFIA credit assistance."[58] In reality, the PEA substitutes a short questionnaire for a proper assessment of the environmental impacts of proposed projects.[59]

Prior to this change, in order to receive a Finding of No Significant Impact (FONSI), a project would have to submit an environmental assessment for review. A project could receive a FONSI only after the EPA determined the proposed project would not have significant environmental impacts.[60] The environmental assessment would then be incorporated in the FONSI.[61] If, however, a project was determined to have significant environmental impacts, an EIS would have to be prepared.[62] For certain high-impact projects, NEPA presumes an environmental assessment will not suffice and an EIS must be prepared.[63]

The 2018 change by the Trump Administration undermines the existing process to receive a FONSI by making "a preliminary determination that no significant environmental impacts are anticipated" by a WIFIA-funded project.[64] The PEA attempts to reverse the established NEPA requirement that the EPA consider the environmental impacts of projects applying for federal funding, potentially undercutting more than 50 years of precedent and substantially weakening our country's environmental protection regime. An EIS is a crucial tool to ensure entities that receive federal funding consider all of the environmental effects of their actions, avoid or mitigate environmental harms, and restore environmental quality wherever practicable.[65]

We request a letter from the Administrator to the California Coastal Commission, the applicant, and our coalition on the project developer's requirements under NEPA, particularly those related to the Coastal Development Permits at issue here.

For the sake of the environment and the affected communities, we ask that the EPA acknowledge the requirements of a NEPA review for Poseidon's proposed desalination plant in Huntington Beach. NEPA requirements—including an EIS, notice, public participation and comment—must be completed before the California Coastal Commission can properly determine if the requested Coastal Development Permits should be granted.

Irvine Ranch

Senior Environmental Scientist
California Coastal Commission

Re: Opposition to Poseidon's Proposed Seawater Desalination Project in Huntington Beach

Mr. Luster:

Irvine Ranch Water District (IRWD), a retail water agency serving over 500,000 customers in central Orange County, is currently the largest producer of groundwater within the boundaries of Orange County Water District (OCWD). OCWD is considering a commitment to purchase all water produced by Poseidon Water's proposed Huntington Beach Desalination Plant (HBDP) for a 30-year period. As such, IRWD is a major stakeholder in the ongoing deliberations regarding issuing a Coastal Development Permit for the HBDP. The purpose of this letter is to describe IRWD's policy principles regarding desalination projects, which explain why IRWD opposes the HBDP.

IRWD Policy Position on Desalination Projects:

IRWD, as a recognized leader in state and federal water resources public policy and governance discussions, works every day to promote smart and effective policies that allow IRWD, along with other water purveyors in California, to enhance the quality, reliability and resiliency of water supplies. To clearly state IRWD's position regarding the HBDP and other desalination projects, the IRWD Board of Directors adopted a revised Policy Position Paper on Desalination Projects, dated March 28, 2022 and provided as Exhibit "A". The policy principles explained in this paper articulate the basis for IRWD's opposition to the HBDP.

Bases for IRWD Opposition to HBDP:

Poseidon's proposed HBDP by Poseidon is deeply flawed, and it is not needed in Orange County. The bases for IRWD's opposition to the HBDP are summarized as follows:

1) Participation in the HBDP must be voluntary, which it currently is not;

2) There is no need for water from the HBDP;

3) The HBDP will create negative and unnecessary financial impacts; and

4) The HBDP will degrade the quality of water in the Orange County Groundwater Basin (Basin).

Detailed explanations supporting each of IRWD's determinations are as follows.

Participation in HBDP Must be Voluntary:

1. IRWD is an independent retail water agency that is accountable to its hundreds of thousands of customers and it responsible for its own water supply reliability. Over the years, IRWD has invested in its own water supply infrastructure and supplies, and IRWD must not be forced to receive or pay for water from the HBDP that IRWD does not want or need. IRWD has determined that it will receive no benefit from this water, and as such it must not be required to pay for this water.
2. Water from the HBDP should only be paid for by retail water agencies that choose to take delivery of and benefit from the project supplies. Without the ability to opt-out of the project, IRWD is forced to oppose the HBDP.
3. Poseidon and OCWD have not allowed IRWD and the other retail water agencies to opt out of participation in the HBDP. IRWD and other retail water agencies should not be forced to take and pay for water they do not need or want.
4. OCWD has indicated that it would purchase water from the HBDP and recharge it into the Basin. By doing so, IRWD and the other producers would be forced to take and pay for water that they do not need or want. OCWD's actions would also force the retail water agencies to construct significant new infrastructure – paid for by millions of retail water customers – to pump this water back out of the ground. The cost of this new infrastructure is expected to exceed $100 million, which is in addition to the over one billion dollars required for the HBDP.

There is No Need for the HBDP:

1. IRWD plans for and invests in its own water supply reliability, which is why it has adequate water supplies. IRWD has developed water banking projects in Kern County that provide supplies during droughts, major supply interruptions, and emergencies. Accordingly, IRWD does not need water from the HBDP.
2. OCWD has not demonstrated a need for water from the HBDP. OCWD already has access to diverse and reliable water supplies and is not at risk of running out of water. OCWD is currently completing construction of the final expansion of its Groundwater Replenishment System, which will increase supplies to the Basin. To further increase supplies to the Basin, OCWD can purchase, recharge and store additional imported water for use during droughts, major supply interruptions and emergency conditions.
3. While OCWD has been discussing this project with Poseidon, OCWD has not consulted with the groundwater producing retail water agencies it serves – agencies whose customers would ultimately pay for this project – as to the need for the project. IRWD is not aware of a need expressed by the retail agencies.
4. If OCWD were to purchase and recharge water from the HBDP, OCWD and the groundwater producers would need to forego access to existing low-cost imported water supplies and perhaps even Santa Ana River flows to which OCWD is entitled. By trading one supply for another, there is no increase in the availability of water to OCWD for recharge in the Basin.
5. By abandoning existing imported supplies in exchange for water from Poseidon, OCWD and the groundwater producers would not become more water independent. OCWD would simply become dependent upon Poseidon – a private Canadian company.

Negative Financial Impacts of HBDP:

1. The cost of water from HBDP would be at least twice the price of the imported water that would be abandoned to purchase water from Poseidon. Under the current proposal OCWD would pay Poseidon over a billion dollars more for water over the next 30 years. These unnecessary increased costs would be forced upon each of the retail water agencies, which would then be forced on to the residents and businesses in northern Orange County.
2. The increased costs passed on to retail water customers would unduly burden disadvantaged communities and low-income customers. It would also further increase the cost of doing business in Orange County. These financial burdens would be imposed without any improvement in water supply reliability.

Water Quality Impacts of HBDP:

1. Investigations by highly reputable engineering consulting firms have quantified significant water quality impacts to groundwater supplies due to the recharge of water from the HBDP[1]. These impacts will have detrimental effects on potable and recycled water supplies.
2. To mitigate the expected water quality impacts to the groundwater supplies, water quality experts have recommended that Poseidon make changes to its proposed HBDP treatment systems. Poseidon has refused to make these changes.

Without a demonstrated need, the HBDP is a project in search of a problem. By forcing IRWD and other retail water agencies to accept and pay for water from the HBDP, that they do not need or want, other problems are created, such as:

1) Forcing communities to pay more for water with no improvement in water supply reliability;
2) Unduly increasing costs on disadvantaged communities and businesses; and
3) Degrading water quality in the Orange County Groundwater Basin.

Accordingly, IRWD requests that the Coastal Commission deny Poseidon's application for a Coastal Development Permit.

IRWD greatly appreciates the opportunity to provide the above comments in opposition of Poseidon's proposed HBDP. Please provide a copy of this letter and Exhibit "A" to each of the members of the Coastal Commission. We hope that the information provided is helpful to you and the Commission in evaluating Poseidon's Coastal Development Permit Application. If you would like to discuss these issues further, feel free to contact me at (949) 453-5590 or cook@irwd.com.

Irvine Ranch Water District

March 28, 2022

Policy Position Paper on Desalination Projects

As a state and federal leader in water resources public policy and governance, Irvine Ranch Water District (IRWD) works to promote policy initiatives that allow IRWD, along with other water purveyors in California, to enhance the quality, reliability and resiliency of water supplies. IRWD also works to advance thoughtful policies that would build resiliency into California's water systems and enhance the health of the state's waterways. As a means of providing input into the discussions surrounding the desalination projects, IRWD has compiled the following policy principles.

Issue Summary

Locally available brackish and ocean water sources may provide alternative supplies of water once treated to acceptable standards; however, desalination projects should be implemented only when costs for treatment and distribution are competitive with existing reliable supplies or with other supplies under development. The reality is that without substantial outside subsidies, ocean desalination is generally not cost effective at this time. Much less expensive water supply options are available including water transfers, exchanges, treatment of impaired groundwater and water recycling.

As future technological improvements reduce the cost of reverse osmosis membranes and the amount of energy used by the membrane process, the cost of producing desalinated ocean water will decline. For this reason, the water industry, and IRWD, should support development of desalination technologies, regulatory streamlining, and public acceptance – but only when the time is right.

Policy Principles

A key issue in Orange County affecting the implementation and acceptance of ocean desalination is cost recovery. Some retail agencies may receive greater benefit from ocean desalination than others. Moreover, some agencies may have other more cost-effective supply options and may not want to have any participation in a desalinated supply. The following are policy principles IRWD has adopted to ensure any potential ocean desalination project in Orange County follows good water resources planning, infrastructure investment, and beneficiary pays principles.

1) Cost-Effective Alternative Water Supplies Should be Investigated:

- IRWD supports the investigation of cost-effective alternative supplies of water. IRWD also supports the development of desalination technologies, regulatory streamlining, public acceptance, and the pursuit of regional, state, and federal funding programs to ensure the feasibility of future water supplies, and

- Based upon the diversity and reliability of IRWD's existing and planned water supplies and IRWD's current and projected cost of water, IRWD may consider participation in ocean desalination projects in the future when economics become more favorable and delivered costs to IRWD's system become comparable to alternative supplies then available to IRWD.

2) Ocean Desalination Projects Should be Evaluated Based on Water Supply Needs, Costs and Risks:

- The need for ocean desalination projects should be identified considering the frequencies, magnitudes, timing and durations associated with events that could affect the reliability of existing and alternative cost-effective supplies (e.g., banking water for use during short-term emergencies is more cost effective than replacing an existing annual imported supply with more expensive desalinated ocean water);

- Comparisons of the cost of water from a desalination project should not be made against the cost of full service treated imported water from Metropolitan Water District of Southern California (MWD) when the water from the desalination project is displacing purchases of available untreated water from MWD;

- The evaluation of the cost of construction, operation and maintenance of desalination projects should take into consideration the risks and uncertainties associated with significant features including intake and brine disposal facilities as well as uncertainties associated with rates of increases in electricity that are expected in the future; and

- MWD's Water Supply Allocation Plan formulas for sharing reliability during periods of allocation should be taken into consideration when evaluating the water supply benefits of desalination projects and in making estimates of the costs of water from the projects to its participants.

3) Ocean Desal Projects with High-Cost Water Should Not Be Pursued:

- Desalination projects in Orange County that exceed the cost of imported water from MWD should not be considered when imported water is available from MWD. As long as water from a desalination project is more costly than imported water that it replaces, the water supply benefit of the desalination project will be shifted to all other agencies in the MWD service area while Orange County customers pays for the water;

- Costs associated with desalination projects that are passed along to customers should not unduly burden disadvantaged communities or low-income customers, and should not add to the cost of doing business in California;

- Future operational cost reductions associated with improvements to efficiencies of membrane technologies should be shared among all participants in a desalination project; and

- The financing of desalination projects should occur using methods that result in the lowest cost of water and debt to the participating agencies. Project costs should not be "back-loaded" to initially understate the true cost of desalinated water.

4) Ocean Desal Projects Must Produce Water of Good Quality:

- Desalination product water must meet all applicable drinking water standards and must not create water quality impacts that impair the production of recycled water, reduce the quality of potable water delivered to IRWD customers or result in corrosive impacts to facilities.

5) Retail Water Supplier Participation in Ocean Desalination Should be Voluntary:

- IRWD opposes regional ocean desalination projects that do not provide the ability for individual retail agencies – such as IRWD – to opt out of participation;

- Projects utilizing ocean desalination for a new water supply should be funded exclusively by the retail water agencies that voluntarily participate in the projects. Participation in county-wide desalination projects should be available to agencies on an optional basis;

- Agencies volunteering to participate in ocean desalination projects should take into consideration comparisons of the costs and methods of delivery of the design, construction, and operation of desalination facilities by public agencies with the costs and methods of delivery of the design, construction, and operation through private partnerships. Participants should select the most cost effective and least risk method of project implementation;

- Potential participating retail agencies in Orange County should continue efforts to evaluate an ocean desalination project at the Huntington Beach site while less expensive sites located inland from the beach should be considered as an alternative to expensive beachfront sites; and

- A "wholesale water agency," such as OCWD or MWDOC, should obtain desalinated water purchase commitments from the retail water agencies it sells water to before making any commitment to a proposed project.

6) MWD Investments in Desal Projects Should be Equitable:

- MWD should consider the development of cost-effective regional desalination projects that provide benefits to all MWD's service area in an equitable manner;

- The consideration of Local Resources Program incentives from MWD for a desalination project should take into consideration that the sliding scale and fixed incentives would only be available to the extent that the incentives reduce the cost of water from the project towards the cost of treated water from MWD (i.e., the subsidy cannot reduce the cost of water below the MWD treated rate); and

- MWD should provide LRP incentives to desalination projects through separate funding initiatives that do not impair the ability of non-desalination-related local projects to receive funding under existing MWD limits for LRP investments.

7) Ocean Desalination Projects Should Only be Pursued by Agencies with a Proven Track Record:

- Local and regional partnerships for the construction, operation and maintenance of ocean desalination projects should rely on the experience of local agencies with proven track records constructing and operating desalination facilities.

8) IRWD's Participation on Desalination Projects Will Be Principle Guided:

- IRWD's consideration of participation in desalination projects shall be consistent with the Board's adopted Potable Water Supply Reliability Policy Principles.

Conclusion

Desalination projects should be implemented when costs for treatment and distribution are competitive with existing reliable supplies or with other supplies under development. Without substantial outside subsidies, ocean desalination is currently not cost effective for Orange County at this time. Much less expensive water supply options are available including water banking, water transfers, exchanges, treatment of impaired groundwater and water recycling.

From IRWD's perspective, while locally available brackish and ocean water sources may one day provide alternative supplies of water for Orange County, the proposed Huntington Beach Desalination Project does not meet this principle or the other policy principles listed above and, therefore, should not proceed.

RE: Huntington Beach Seawater Desalination Facility – SUPPORT

Dear Chair Brownsey,

The Orange County Business Council ("the Business Council"), the leading voice of business in Orange County, supports ongoing planning and development of local water supply resources that are vital to diversifying Orange County's water supply portfolio and alleviating potential future water shortages[1] and also supports desalinization technology to increase water supply reliability by retail water agencies that voluntarily choose to participate in the projects[2]. The Business Council also supports responsible development along the Orange County coast.

Poseidon Water's Seawater Desalination Project ("Project") in Huntington Beach addresses these priorities and for this reason the Business Council supports this Project and respectfully asks that you vote to approve the Coastal Development Permit for the Huntington Beach Seawater Desalination Plant.

SUBJECT: Huntington Beach Seawater Desalination Facility – APPROVE

Dear Chair Brownsey:

On behalf of Mesa Water District (Mesa Water®), we strongly urge your approval of the Huntington Beach Seawater Desalination Facility (HB Desal Project) in Orange County when it comes before the California Coastal Commission on May 12, 2022. This essential water resilience project is an important step toward ensuring that Orange County advances its water resiliency and toward insulating the region's community and economy from the devastating impacts of prolonged and ongoing drought.

Mesa Water is an independent special district that serves safe, affordable, and 100 percent local reliable groundwater to businesses and 110,000 residents in an 18-square-mile service area of Orange County that includes most of Costa Mesa, a portion of Newport Beach, and John Wayne Airport. Mesa Water supports the development of cost-effective and environmentally-sensitive sources of water -- including recycling, groundwater clean-up, conservation, and desalination -- which includes support for the HB Desal Project as it can provide a new, reliable, quality water supply that is appropriately priced.

California is experiencing increasingly extreme weather conditions, with less predictable precipitation patterns, followed by longer and more frequent dry and hot periods. Climate change is reducing the reliability of the state's precipitation and snowpack. Now in the third straight year of drought, the state's reservoirs are depleted and we're seeing water shortages both from California's supply in the Sierra Nevada Mountains, as well as the entire western United States with reduced flows in the Colorado River.

Orange County's water systems and their customers have implemented water conservation and water use efficiency programs, and the region continues to develop alternative water supplies, including water recycling and desalination. Produced locally, desalinated water provides new, high-quality water, and is resilient to both climate change and drought. Desalination can transform inland brackish water as well as coastal seawater into a drinkable supply. Desalination's ability to generate new water supplies in the face of an unrelenting drought is a valuable attribute that should be a strong component in our state's efforts to improve drought resiliency and water sustainability.

Your approval of the HB Desal Project on May 12, 2022 is critical to protecting Orange County's quality of life, economy, and environment. Additionally, increased local water reliability in Orange County will benefit Southern California, and the state, with Orange County's use of HB Desal Project water reducing its reliance on imported water from distant locations…thus freeing up those supplies for use by other areas, such as the Central Valley, that depend on imported water for farming and families.

Addressing an identified need in the region, the HB Desal Project will be the most technologically advanced desalination plant in North America and will:

- Produce up to 50 million gallons daily of reliable, locally-controlled drinking water -- enough for 400,000 residents -- using the best available site, design, technology, and mitigation measures feasible to protect marine life;
- Fully mitigate any environmental impacts, and protect and preserve the Bolsa Chica wetlands for the next generation;
- Be sited on industrial land and safe from the effects of sea level rise;
- Provide significant economic benefits to the region, including the creation of 3,000 new jobs during construction;
- Be privately financed, built, and operated, which protects the taxpayers and provides substantial revenue enhancements for Orange County's local communities through taxes and fees that this project will generate; and,
- Seek to be the first desalination facility in the Western Hemisphere to be powered with 100 percent renewable energy resources.

Governor Newsom and his Administration have provided clear signals -- through the Water Resilience Portfolio and in many other venues -- that diversifying the state's water portfolio through an "All of the Above" approach to water supply sustainability includes desalination as an important water resilience strategy. Furthermore, the state has acknowledged that it must embrace the ongoing development of new water supplies, such as desalination.

While the stark reality is that California's persistent drought conditions may be the "New Normal" for our state, the good news is that you have it within your ability as the California Coastal Commission to decide to approve the HB Desal Project to help the state move forward in the pursuit of a water-resilient future that helps sustain quality of life and the economy.

Again, Mesa Water strongly urges your approval of the HB Desal Project at your May 12, 2022 hearing. We appreciate your consideration of this request and, if you have any questions or need additional information about Mesa Water's comments on these matters, please feel free to contact me, or Mesa Water's General Manager, Paul E. Dear Coastal Commissioners, Orange County River Park joins local residents and organizations urging the CA Coastal Commission to oppose further permitting of the Poseidon Desalination facility in Huntington Beach. Desalination is the most expensive, energy-intensive and environmentally catastrophic water provision method for our local ecosystems and communities. What separates Orange County, California from the rest of the world is the potential to advance alternatives before prioritizing desalination ranging from conservation, water recycling, and storage.

Southern California is home to the most beautiful beaches in the world and with that comes major responsibility to protect natural habitats and our community. In addition, we believe in California's Human Right to Water which recognizes that “every human being has the right to safe, clean, affordable, and accessible water.”

Conservation and education are at the core of our mission and our vision is to increase equitable access to healthy ecosystems, as well as expand recreational opportunities for all communities within our jurisdiction - Poseidon does just the opposite.

RE: Poseidon Water Huntington Beach – Response to Staff Report: 5/12/2020 agenda items Th9a & 10a

Sent via electronic mail: tluster@coastal.ca.gov

Dear Commission Staff:

On behalf of Residents for Responsible Desalination (R4RD) and its members who reside near the site Poseidon Water proposes to use for its seawater desalination treatment plant, we thank the Coastal Commission for the Staff Report and Recommendation, and for further careful consideration of the comments submitted below.

Introduction

We have been following and commenting on this proposal since prior to the first City Planning Commission hearing in 2003, the City Council's FEIR certification hearings in 2005, and appealed the CDP issued by the City Council in 2006. When Poseidon failed to take any steps toward completing the project, the CDP expired and the City granted another CDP in 2010, which R4RD, et al. also appealed. We also opposed the issuance of the "13142.5(b) Determination" decision by the Regional Water Quality Control Board, which is now being challenged in court.

We support the Staff Report Findings and Recommendations. However, below are recommended changes that we think will clarify the Commission's authority, strengthen the recommendation for denial of the permits, and improve the process for consideration of future seawater desalination proposals.

As our name implies, we are not opposed to seawater desalination. From the very beginning, we have been concerned about the adverse effects of this proposal on the environment and our community. Also, despite the State adopting the once-through cooling water regulations for power generation – which we predicted in 2005 – and more recently the Ocean Plan amendment for desalination, Poseidon has stubbornly refused to adapt their proposal.

What Poseidon has been proposing had nothing to do with the circumstances in Orange County. Poseidon proposed a 50MGD facility co-located with a power plant here and in San Diego County – a "cookie cutter" approach for two completely different set of water management challenges. Over time, as predictions of future demand for water consistently became lower in Orange County, and alternatives like the Groundwater Replenishment System (GWRS) created 130 MGD of potable water were completed -- over 2 and one half times the volume of potable water the desalination facility would provide -- Poseidon refused to adapt. Now, Los Angeles County is preparing a similar project that would offer an additional 60MGD to Orange County's supply portfolio – again, 20% more than Poseidon would produce – and still Poseidon refuses to adapt. The Regional Board's definition and finding of "identified need" was clearly unsupported by any Urban Water Management Plan in the region, which also led to an erroneous finding that slant well intakes were infeasible.[1]

[1] ISTAP relied on a letter from OCWD claiming that withdrawing more than 1000 ac/ft/yr of freshwater in slant wells would be unacceptable. But ISTAP interpreted that as a technical threshold and dismissed slant wells as technically infeasible, when OCWD's concerns were primarily the cost of replacing the freshwater. The Regional Board made the same error, and compounded it by finding 50 MGD was an "identified need." We disagree there is a need identified in an UWMP for 50 MGD, and there is no economic feasibility analysis on the record to show that replacing the freshwater would render the project unviable – especially if the source water was less than 107 MGD.

The need for a seawater desalination facility in Orange County has completely evaporated, yet Poseidon is still pushing the same basic project with all the environmental harm and community impacts.

Again, R4RD is not opposed to desalination. We tried for decades to suggest alternatives that would allow Poseidon to build a facility here. Ironically, Poseidon's site, design and technology are clearly inferior alternatives and the refusal to adapt has resulted in circumstances where seawater desalination is no longer needed.

Since release of the Staff Report, Poseidon has been saying this decision would be the "death knell" for desalination in California. In fact, it is just the opposite. A decision to deny the CDPs, especially with what we believe would be minor modifications to the findings, will finally establish a clear set of rules and processes for permitting seawater desalination in the future.

CEQA Scope and Timing

The Staff Report cites numerous changes to the project and "changed circumstances" over the course of time since the City issued a CDP and certified the Subsequent EIR in 2010. More are listed below. One thing is perfectly clear, Poseidon was not going to change their basic site, design and technology regardless of changes to the regulations or the facts. This stubborn refusal to adapt has been the primary cause of multiple delays, and an unnecessary waste of time and resources spent by the State and the public in response. You can't fit a square peg into a round hole.

We agree with the numerous examples throughout the Staff Report of changes to the project proposal and changed circumstances surrounding the proposal. However, it is important to put those changes into the perspective of CEQA requirements. CEQA requires a full Subsequent EIR under these circumstances.[2] This would be a heightened concern if the Commission were to reject the recommendation for denial of the permits in the Staff Report and approve the project in some form.

So, we agree with the Staff Report conclusion that, if the permits are denied, the CEQA concerns are somewhat moot. However, if Commissioners propose an alternative for approval, the Staff Report must be improved by additional documentation and consideration of these changed circumstances, and opportunity for public comment, before it could be certified as "CEQA equivalent."

Finally, seawater desalination proposals in the future will certainly require approval of multiple State agencies, and we believe that improved inter-agency coordination in the future could possibly avoid the complications of CEQA compliance seen here.

Should Commissioners decide to reject staff's recommendation of denial, and adopt CDPs in some form, a non-exhaustive list of issues that need further analyses before the Commission could certify the "CEQA equivalency" would include:

Cumulative Impacts

The Staff Report cites several massive demolition and development projects adjacent to the site of the proposed project: the AES re-power project, the ASCON toxic waste site remediation, and the Magnolia Tank Farm multi-use development; but only in the context of Coastal Act compliance.[3] These projects are all new developments since the 2010 SEIR was certified. The public health and environmental impacts of these projects, whether they are developed concurrently or consecutively, are a significant threat to the welfare of our community. Each of these has similar environmental issues (e.g. Toxic material removal, wetlands impacts, etc.) as well as LCP policies (e.g. Impacts on coastal access from construction lay-down, traffic and parking, groundwater contamination, etc.) that need full analyses before the Commission could approve a project at the upcoming hearing. In terms of CEQA compliance, these issues must be fully documented in a thorough cumulative impacts analysis.

[2] CEQA Guidelines 15162(a).

[3] Staff Report at p.175

Delivery/Distribution System

One of the significant changes since 2010 is the assignment of responsibility for developing a delivery system for the product water to Orange County Water District (OCWD), and OCWD's subsequent studies of additional options to the delivery alternatives considered in the 2010 SEIR.[4]

First, the delivery system and treatment plant are not separate projects. In CEQA terms, neither of these parts of the project have "independent utility" – that is, without both parts combined, neither part serves any function.

Second, the fact that part of the delivery system is outside the coastal zone is irrelevant to ensuring adequate "CEQA equivalency."

And third, it is irrelevant that OCWD has not finalized a decision on which of the alternative systems they would ultimately choose. The fact that the project now includes additional alternatives to the several options analyzed in the 2010 SEIR is reason to prepare a new Subsequent EIR. OCWD's plan to prepare CEQA analyses of the delivery system after all the permits are approved is flawed[5] – CEQA demands the analysis before any agency approval.

Finally, the additional new delivery systems will change the analyses in several of the subject areas in the Staff Report. For example, placing the product water in the groundwater basin for future extraction will increase energy demand and the GHG calculations from operation of both injection and/or new extraction wells, as well as additional treatment for the product water after extraction. Also, Irvine Ranch Water District (IRWD) has documented that the chemistry of the product water will compromise basin water quality. Consequently, the water from the treatment plant design needs additional purification – clearly a significant additional energy demand. Obviously, this example not only applies to ensuring "CEQA equivalency" prior to adopting a permit (should Commissioners propose such a step), but it would also change the analysis of LCP provisions to protect the groundwater basin.

Purpose

The stated purpose of ensuring local reliable water sources in the 2010 SEIR has already been met – as evidenced by the Staff Report finding of no risk to "public welfare" in the "Coastal Dependent" policy analyses.[6]

As discussed in the Staff Report, the regional water wholesale agency, MWDOC, has recently produced reports documenting predicted water demand and supplies that ensure water reliability for at least the next 25 years without inclusion of the Poseidon project. Further, despite the fact OCWD continues to claim a need for the water, one of their member agencies, the Irvine Ranch Water District recently voted to oppose the project.[7]

A new SEIR would certainly find that alternatives to the project are feasible, avoid significant impacts created by the proposed project and create environmental benefits. Importantly, the planning documents clearly show that since certification of the 2010 SEIR the fundamental "purpose" of the proposed project has already been achieved.

Artificial Reef

As stated in the Staff Report, the proposed Palos Verde artificial reef, included as part of the "13142.5(b) Determination" requires additional CEQA review.[8] Further, the Regional Board decision included a CEQA Addendum that listed several impacts associated with the dredge and fill required for installation of the intake screen and outfall diffusers. The list of impacts in the Addendum is clearly the same as would occur at the artificial reef project. Yet the Regional Board failed to include a cumulative impact analysis for the 2 projects it approved. This error must be remedied before the Commission could certify the CDPs as "CEQA equivalent" – should the Commissioners reject the recommendation to deny the CDPs.

30412: Deference to Regional Board Decisions on Water Quality

We believe the Staff Report employs an overly broad interpretation of the deference due to decisions made by the Regional Water Quality Control Board. A plain read of Coastal Act policy 30412, and general policies of "deference" to agencies with unique expertise, do not limit the Coastal Commission making separate decisions on marine life mortality.

In general terms, deference between agencies is both practical and efficient where one of the agencies has more experience and expertise in a subject matter. Here, the Regional Board routinely deals with projects that raise concern about water quality degradation, and the staff and Regional Board members have unique expertise in the subject matter. This gives them experience and expertise in water quality controls, which in turn justifies the Coastal Commission deference to those decisions.

While one water quality objective is to maintain "biological productivity", this is not the same as regulating marine life mortality from impacts other than water quality. It is simply a consideration in setting water quality standards – similar to the Coastal Act policy 30231. Therefore, arguably the Regional Board's issuance of the NPDES permit is controlling in these circumstances.

Nonetheless, Coastal Act policy 30412 is clear that the Coastal Commission cannot make decisions in conflict with Regional Board decisions -- but only regarding "water quality" (or water rights). The Regional Board's "13142.5 (b) Determination" – a separate decision from the NPDES permit – regulates intake and mortality, not "water quality." Consequently, when it comes to enforcing Coastal Act policy 30230, the Coastal Commission can strictly enforce the policy without concern about a conflict with the Regional Board decision. Further, while Coastal Act policy 30412 expressly includes consideration of Water Code 13142.5, it does not specifically include 13142.5(b), as cited in the Staff Report.[9] Also, there is an important distinction -- subsection (b) is the only part of 13142.5 that is NOT relevant to water quality. In fact, subsection (b) is somewhat anomalous to the entire Water Code in that it specifically deals with the intake and mortality of marine life, not water quality. The plain read of Coastal Act policy 30412 is to ensure deference to Regional Board's expertise in water quality, and that is directly applicable to 13142.5 – with the exception of sub-section (b).

This distinction and limits to the Commission's deference to Regional Board decisions is further highlighted in the different standards in 13142.5(b) and Coastal Act policy 30230. In brief, 13142.5(b) simply requires the Applicant to "minimize the intake and mortality of marine life". But Coastal Act 30230 requires "Marine resources shall be maintained, enhanced, and where feasible, restored" – a much higher standard of protection than simply minimizing mortality. Deference to another agency decision when there are clearly different standards is not warranted and would be contrary to the separate laws being enforced.

[8] Staff Report at p. 118
[9] Id at p.100

As stated above, we do not think the Commission should afford deference to the Regional Board decisions regarding minimizing marine life mortality. The Commission should only provide deference to the Regional Board on water quality decisions. Retaining authority to maintain, enhance, and where feasible restore marine resources is an important distinction for future applicants for seawater desalination facilities, as well as for improving the inter-agency coordination for permitting these complex projects. Nonetheless, in either case, the CDPs would still be denied in this case.

Section 30233: Alternatives

Again, we agree with and support the Staff Report's findings and recommendation of denial. However, we think there are additional reasons why the Commission should deny the project that would create an important precedent and provide a clearer roadmap for project proponents in the future. Arguably, when Coastal Act policy 30233 applies to a project proposal, as it does here, it should be fully enforced.

Specifically, as stated in the Staff Report, the regional Urban Water Management Plan cites numerous alternatives for meeting the projected water demand in the region for 25 years. One of them, the Metropolitan Water District (MWD) "Regional Recycled Water Program" (RRWP) is an alternative that could provide 60 million gallons per day to Orange County.[10]

The RRWP is clearly "feasible" in comparison to the Poseidon proposal -- the project is nearly identical to the Orange County Water District's Groundwater Replenishment System and has gone through significant concept development and pilot testing. The Program water is clearly "available" to Orange County, as evidenced in the most recent "white paper" published by MWD.[11] OCWD only needs to confirm an interest in the product water to make it "available." Further, the volume available to Orange County is 60 MGD, 20% greater than the Poseidon proposal at much lower projected cost.

Finally, this alternative would be fully compliant with 30230 and 30231 Coastal Act policies to restore marine water quality and living resources, as opposed to the clear violation of these policies inherent in the Poseidon proposal. The RRWP would significantly reduce discharges to the ocean, helping to restore marine water quality. And it would avoid intake mortality and mortality from high-pressure diffusers.

Further, the RRWP is less energy intensive, avoids wetlands impacts, sea level rise threats, dredge and fill, etc.

Again, we support the Staff Report and recommendation to deny the project. Clarifying the feasibility of the Recycled Water Program would simply add to the recommendation for denial while adding clarity in the process and consideration of future seawater desalination facilities,

Sea Level Rise

Again, we support the Staff Report findings and recommendation.

However, if the Commission declines to follow the staff recommendation to deny the permits, we have one request. We live in the same area as the power plant and proposed site of the Poseidon facility. So, if the Commission makes any accommodations to build on a site threatened by predicted sea level rise – such as fill to raise the level of the facility buildings or any other type of protective device -- we expect you'll let every homeowner in the vicinity take advantage of whatever protective device necessary to protect their homes, regardless of the clear policies in the Coastal Act prohibiting protective devices. What's good for the goose is good for the gander.

Analysis of the 'More Water Now' Infrastructure Funding Initiative
(12/15/21)

- If approved for signature gathering and the ballot, this would be the most environmentally damaging initiative….ever. Two of the five submitters of the Initiative, Steve Sheldon and Shawn Dewane are long-standing and prolific Orange County Poseidon boosters. Sheldon is the current President of the OCWD and a former employee of Poseidon when he worked for Faubel Public Affairs. Dewane was a long-time OCWD Board Member who lost to Kelly Rowe in 2018. He sits on the Mesa Water District Board and is a past Chairman of CalDesal. More background can be found here. Ed Ring has written on Poseidon and dams and Desal. Both OCWD and Mesa Water District have passed resolutions in support of the Initiative.

- A front group has been formed to push for the Initiative, MORE WATER NOW. This is apparently part of a broader right wing Republican strategy to use the Initiative process to get what they want without having to go through the Legislature as detailed in this article: Who Needs Sacramento or GOP? Recall Boss Heatlie Plots Burst of Ballot Drives - Times of San Diego. Orrin Heatlie was the driving force behind the Recall against Newsom that failed to pass.

  "One concrete idea: a constitutional amendment requiring Sacramento to allocate 2% of the state's budget to improve infrastructure and build desalination plants and water reservoirs. In 2021-22, that would amount to $3.92 billion."

- While the Initiative has a number of problematic sections, the most devastating for the public's ability to have a fair hearing on Poseidon at the Coastal Commission is Section 6 which basically removes the Coastal Commission's ability to deny or condition a permit for a "funded water supply project" including but not limited to a seawater desalination plant.
- It would amend the Coastal Act to vest the Natural Resources Secretary (who is appointed by the Governor) to have the sole authority to overturn a decision by the Coastal Commission.
- If the Commission does act, it would require the Commission to rely exclusively on any EIR or CEQA documents prepared for the project and would prohibit the Commission from requiring additional environmental review to determine if the project is consistent with the Coastal Act.
- Would allow any desal project applicant to appeal any decision to the Secretary of Natural Resources who would have the authority to override the Coastal Act by overturning or modifying any Commission action if the Secretary finds that that it is in the State's interest in pursuit of a diverse and resilient water supply.
- Applies retroactively to all Coastal Commission decisions made as of September 1, 2021 and makes them subject to the provisions above.
- Removes the Commission's federal consistency authority and transfers it to the Secretary of Natural Resources. While still somewhat unclear, this provision could mean that the Coastal Commission would no longer have jurisdiction over federal waters and federally approved projects including potentially offshore oil drilling. The oil spill is an example of a federally-approved project.

Local-Level Lobbying

An individual who only lobbies federal, county, multi-county, local special districts, or city government agencies is not subject to FPPC lobbyist reporting requirements. Therefore, the Orange County Water District Board of Directors (OCWD), Metropolitan Water District of Southern California (MWD) Board of Directors, and Municipal Water District of Orange County (MWDOC) Board of Directors are not subject to FPPC reporting standards.

An online search of key local governments revealed Khoa Nguyen as a registered lobbyist for Poseidon Resources in San Diego County. He is registered to lobby "All Possible County Offices, Board of Supervisors, Planning Commission." Nguyen is a public affairs advisor at Rath Miller Public Affairs.

In San Diego, Poseidon's registered lobbyist is Khoa Nguyen, a public affairs advisor at Rath Miller Public Affairs. Nguyen is registered to lobby All Possible County Offices, Board of Supervisors, and the Planning Commission. Neither Brookfield Infrastructure Partners nor Brookfield Asset Management currently has a registered lobbyist in San Diego. (San Diego County; LinkedIn)

Neither Poseidon nor Brookfield employ a registered lobbyist in Orange County, Los Angeles County, or the City of Los Angeles.

Brookfield does not currently have a registered lobbyist in San Diego.

Key water districts have been contacted to discern each district's rules and regulations governing lobbyist reporting. In the absence of lobbying disclosures, we recommend submitting public records act requests for communications between Poseidon and its subsidiaries and staff and board members of the water districts listed above.

Form Letters

This item is a form letter sent to the Coastal HB Desal inbox from 4 separate contacts:

Dear Commissioners,

The Huntington Beach Desalination project will be a boom for the community and I strongly urge you to vote to approve the project.

Poseidon, the company behind the desalination project, has pledged to complete four mitigation projects inside the Bolsa Chica Wetlands, for a total of 84 acres of restored habitat.

Four decades ago, volunteers and community stakeholders successfully fought off development and preserved the largest saltwater marsh between Monterey Bay and the Tijuana River Estuary. Today, this area is home to many rare and endangered species, and stands as a tribute to the hundreds of people who gave their time and money to save this invaluable natural resource.

Without a long-term, sustainable source of funds, the wetlands and prior restoration efforts at Bolsa Chica are at risk. The years of work and effort are at risk of being undone. The desalination facility ensures this valuable environmental resource will not be lost.

Please support this project. We — the community — need it.

Dear State of California,

California law makes access to clean, safe and reliable water a Human Right. The Santa Ana Water Board, adopted the human right to water as a core value and resolved that it will continue to consider the human right to water in all activities that could affect existing or potential sources of drinking water, including permitting actions. In adopting the permit for the Huntington Beach Desalination Project the Regional Board found that the facility complies with the Human Right to Water by establishing environmental protections for a new source of drinking water that could improve the reliability of water supply in Orange County.

I encourage you to do the same and approve this Project before you in May.

Dear CA Coastal Commission,

I support the Huntington Beach Seawater Desalination Plant because I believe in Governor Newsom's Water Resilience Portfolio. This is a project that embraces innovation and new technologies. It encourages a regional solution to California's consistent water sustainability challenges. And it leverages the success desalination has had throughout the world. This is a project that will be the most environmentally sensitive and sustainable desalination plant in the world and addresses our state's climate change challenges head on.

Please vote to support this project in May and the role it has in the Governor's water resiliency plan.]

Newsom said a no vote by the Coastal Commission on May 12 would be "a big mistake, a big setback."

This item is a form letter sent to the Coastal HB Desal inbox from 6 separate contacts:

Dear Commissioners,

The Huntington Beach Desalination Plant, will be the largest, most technologically advanced and environmentally friendly desalination plant in the Americas and will produce and deliver the most reliable and highest quality drinking water for less than a penny per gallon.

In adopting the Project's permit, the Regional Board found, "Though Orange County Water District (OCWD) projects an initial increase in residential water costs to improve water reliability, the desalinated water could result in cost savings in the future."

Please plan for the future NOW but moving this important water supply forward.

This item is a form letter sent to the Coastal HB Desal inbox from 5 separate contacts:

Dear California Coastal Commission,

This letter is intended to express my strong support for the Huntington Beach Desalination project.

This project is one of the most studied water infrastructure projects to ever go through California's regulatory process. Using the best available climate change science as identified by the Coastal Commission, the desalination facility's Sea Level Rise Hazard Analysis evaluated impacts to the project site through the year 2100 and analyzed potential sea level rise scenarios. The best available science indicates there is a ~99.5% chance that sea level rise will not exceed 6.6 feet this century — making this a very conservative worst-case probabilistic scenario.

More over, the threat of extreme sea level rise is a problem that every Californian living along the Pacific Coast must address. All of us, both in the public and private sector, will need to work together to adapt to these challenges. It would be illogical to deprive Orange County of a new water supply on such a basis.

I respectfully ask that you approve this project.

This item is a form letter sent to the Coastal HB Desal inbox from 9 separate contacts:

Dear California Coastal Commission,

I am asking you to reconsider and approve the Huntington Beach Desalination Facility.
The state of California has one of the greatest sources of water on the planet Earth in the Pacific Ocean. It is renewable, abundant and a certain relief for uncertain future rain delivery amounts.

This item is a form letter sent to the Coastal HB Desal inbox from 4 separate contacts:

Dear Commissioners & Staff,

It takes an immense amount of energy to pump imported water from Northern California, over the Tehachapi Mountains and into Orange County. From an energy perspective, it makes much more sense to develop a local water supply that has a zero-carbon footprint.

The Huntington Beach Seawater Desalination Plant emits zero greenhouse gasses and has committed to offset any emissions associated with the energy it uses to operate. If it is feasible for this project to be powered entirely by renewables and the plant has committed to do so. Additionally, energy recovery technology allows them to capture and reuse nearly 50% of the power the facility needs.

Projects like this need to be on the forefront of water supply reliability in California. You have the opportunity to move this forward, please do so now!

This item is a form letter sent to the Coastal HB Desal inbox from 4 separate contacts:

Dear Commissioners,

The Carlsbad desal plant was a welcome addition to help San Diego County balance clean water needs. We need to be aggressive in this technology all along the California coast. We need people with vision to move these projects forward - the Israelis have done this for many years now!!

I support Poseidon's Huntington Beach Desalination facility and urge your approval of the project.

I sincerely hope you will approval this project in May.

This item is a form letter sent to the Coastal HB Desal inbox from 10 separate contacts:

Dear California Coastal Commission,

Our time is now to vote YES for HB Desal.

Disadvantaged communities in Orange County and throughout the region demand desal as a new water supply opportunity for our community and for our future. The last generation built their families and businesses on the water supplies that were available to them. It's not right that now that it's our time, we're being told to turn off the tap. We need water reliability and sustainability to protect, preserve and grow our future.

We can afford a few extra dollars per month on our water bill. What we cannot afford is the uncertainty of supply that would exist without seawater desalination.

ACT NOW

This item is a form letter sent to the Coastal HB Desal inbox from 6 separate contacts:

Dear Commissioners,

This letter is an opportunity to voice my support for the Huntington Beach Desalination project. Please vote “yes” on this facility, which will bring a new source of clean and safe drinking water to Orange County.

The Governor's secretary for environmental protection recently stated that due to the diversity of California and its hydrological zones, we cannot accept a ‘one size fits all’ approach to water. While conservation is the right path for some communities, others, like Orange County, can do their part by identifying new sources of drinking water. Doing so will reduce our dependence on the State Water Project and Colorado Aqueduct.

Many communities in California are entirely dependent on wells, groundwater, snowpack and rainfall. Here in Orange County we are very fortunate to live next to the Pacific Ocean, the world’s largest reservoir. Let’s use the best available technology to turn that water source into drinking water, lessening the burden on supplies that can go to other communities.

We all need to do our part to help solve the water shortage, be it conserving precious drops or identifying new sources. Please vote in support of the Huntington Beach Desalination project.

Dear Coastal Commission Members:

As a lifelong nature lover and decades long resident of Huntington Beach, I urge you to deny Application 9-21-0488 by Poseidon to build a desalination plant in our beautiful city. This project would do irreparable harm to our coastal waters and wildlife, as numerous environmental impact reports have shown. Our beaches have barely recovered from recent oil and sewage spills and need to be restored and protected, not destroyed.

I therefore ask you to deny Poseidon's application.

Thank you,
G. Lewis

This email message follows my prior message sent the week of April 25, 2022 in support of the Poseidon application.
Upon further review it was noted that concerns were expressed relative to the possibility of some recipient water district customers being unable to afford the potentially higher water bill attributable to the water delivery having been obtained from the Poseidon project.

May I offer the following suggestion? So CA Edison Co and So CA Gas Co both have a "Care" program for eligible customers to enroll in. The program provides for a discount on Electricity and Gas usage billed, based on provable economic need.

It seems appropriate for a program of this type to be reviewed for potential adaptation by the various water districts who may elect to purchase Poseidon project water.

Cordially.

This letter is in support of Poseidon Water's plan for a seawater desalination facility in Huntington Beach.

Water is Life... without water, life cannot thrive.

Currently, California is experiencing two contrasting environmental issues: Climate Change, and Drought.

On one hand, Climate Change is a real and on-going problem. One of the concerns is that ice caps will melt, causing flooding of coastal areas of California.

On the other hand, California continues to suffer the effects of a years-long Drought. There is not enough water to serve the various needs of California's vast population, or the agriculture and businesses located within the State.

So, in one instance, there is too much sea water, and in the other, there is not enough fresh water.

The solution is so easy and obvious: desalination. Take sea water from the ocean, and turn it into fresh water.

Any negative effects of desalination pale in comparison to the deadly effects of "no water." Water is Life, and without it, people die.

I urge you to approve the Poseidon Water project.

Thank you.

SoCal is desperate for Water. Families can't live on 80 gallons a day per person.

Water Nazi's are in our future.

There is no other option on the table. Your CC Staff has failed to come up with shovel ready options to provide new water.

I support the application for the Poseidon Desalinization Plant in Huntington Beach CA. Southern CA's fresh water supply is in serious jeopardy due to the current 22 year drought and it seems appropriate, if not necessary, to develop alternate water supplies that will aid in assuring a continued water supply for Orange County CA residents.

An in-estimable amount of labor and money has brought the project to the current status of potential cancellation. I suggest further review of Poseidon's application with the goal of strengthening environmental safeguards required of the Applicant and providing stringent schedules that properly address environmental challenges, as they may occur during the life of the project, with specific penalty schedules.

As a 62 year resident of southern CA it is evident that the state can no longer rely on natural sources for water, a dearth of annual snow deposits and the severely over-burdened CO River being two prime examples. Additional pressure has come from prior un-acknowledged sources such as the influx of climate change.

It seems imprudent to allow this once in a lifetime opportunity to assuage southern California's continuing water shortage to disappear. I urge your re-consideration of the motion to cancel the Poseidon Desalination Project.

Sincerely,

Thanks for the great research by the CC staff regarding Poseidon. I do not live near the proposed project, but I know the Poseidon project is not needed in northern OC, which has a good reply of potable recharge water, and the project is harmful to the environment for many reasons as stated by the environmental groups. Poseidon's water is also detrimental as a price increase of water hurts especially those most vulnerable to high prices for a product people cannot live without.

I also have seen how Poseidon will say they are a "private" company, using their own funds to create drinkable water, then turn around and ask elected officials for funds to fund their project. Poseidon has used their existing funds for campaigns to remove elected officials to replace them with electeds that only support their project, and given misinformation to convince groups their project is needed, both of which makes me more fearful for preserving our democracy. In the same way Exxon for years knew fossil fuels would cause climate change but hid the fact, I worry about a private company providing less transparency, while forcing the OCWD customers to pay for water, even if not needed at that time.

Please do not approve this Huntington Beach Poseidon project.

Coastal permit No 9-21-0488

We are in complete support of the Poseidon Water project moving forward and being built.

How short sided the Costal Commission is being as we continue in drought plauge cycle.

We are never going to be able to have enough water if the environmental cycle continue and as the continued population and industrial growth continues in So CA.

Desalination plants have worked for many, many years with no environmental impact to areas.

With todays technology the systems are better than ever and will continue to improve.

We have a unlimited supply of water from the pacific ocean to work with compared to our limited water supply from rain and snow pack.

We urge the Costal Committee to approve the project and lets get it moving forward and built

We are Huntington Beach resident s since 1968!

Th. 9a Application No 9-21-0488 (Poseidon Water, Huntington Beach)
Th. 10a Application No 9-21-0488 (Poseidon Water, Huntington Beach)

Good afternoon Chair Brownsey and Coastal Commissioners,

Thank you for the opportunity to comment briefly on the above agenda items.

After having followed and commented on this project for decades, and having read Staff's report, I am fully in support of their recommendation of "Denial."

Rather than build an expensive, polluting, environmentally harmful, and destabilizing desalination plant in Huntington Beach, which defies efforts being made by the Commission and other agencies, in addressing global warming, I believe serious questions need to be addressed about how much water Californians actually need and how much water can be conserved?

In recent research related to Huntington Beach and Orange County, a report from the Metropolitan Water District of Orange County (MWDOC), states the following" " Water usage per person is projected to be slightly lower in FY 2020-21 for Orange County at 142 gallons per day (This includes recycled water)." (bold emphasis) That is an astounding amount of water used by its residents. No individual in the entire state of California should require 142 gallons per day (gpd), especially in a state that has suffered and continues to suffer from drought.

Interestingly, Orange County has the largest wastewater recycling plant in the world! "Orange County's wastewater recycling program, a pioneering idea that's already touted as the largest of its type in the world, is about to get bigger. Big enough, in fact, to serve the tap water needs of about 1 million residents, according to the Orange County Water District and Orange County Sanitation District."
Nov 8, 2019, Orange Counter Register
The entire state of California should be addressing water waste, not by adding more expensive and environmentally destructive desalination plants, but by regulating water usage, which adequately provides for the health and safety of its residents and businesses, by addressing what is fair and equitable. I do not believe that the powers that be, including Governor Newsom, are reacting to our water situation in ways that are responsible and effective for the long term.

We can, and must, do better! I live in an area along the central coast of California, where water is a very big problem. My husband and I use 19 gallons each per day. While I am not advocating that anyone in our state should have to resort to such measures, I am advocating that all Californians should be able to live comfortably with approximately 75 gpd. It's time for politicians, city and county leaders, and managers of water districts in California, to start looking realistically at our water situation and develop programs throughout the state, that address recycling, reservoirs, etc. We can, and must, do better!

Other issues are more likely to occur, as global warming advances further. California is extremely vulnerable to earthquakes, triggering tsunamis, which make desalination projects along California's coastline, a very bad and threatening solution!

I thank the Commission for its dedication and work on coastal-related issues, and it is my fervent hope that you recognize that this project does not represent the interests of the Coastal Act, the Orange County's LCP, and issues related to the ever-looming threat of a changing planet, which is not helped by a project such as the Poseidon Huntington Beach desalination project.

Respectfully,
Tina Dickason

Dears Commissioners,

I urge you to reject the Poseidon Desal plant. This is a Wall Street play to privatize our public resource, water. Many studies have shown that Orange county is well situated with groundwater as well as being a leader in water recycling, both of which are cheaper than the water from Poseidon would be. Ratepayer would be locked into long term water rate hikes when we have cheaper sources available.

I am concerned that a multinational infrastructure is using "the commons" our seawater and sterilizing that water and returning it without the larval creatures that inhabit that water and become our fish our crabs etc etc. Regarding mitigation, they haven't even started the mitigation for the Carlsbad plant so I certainly have no faith that they will be able to mitigate the damage done by this plant.

This is obviously a very lucrative business possibility evidenced by the lobbying money that has been spent to influence Senators, ex Senators and our Governor who seems to have a special relationship to one of the prime lobbyists. That is not how these things should be decided.\

While not all desalination is bad, this plant is. It is a solution seeking a problem and using the drought as an excuse to ram this project through.

Please deny this project an operating permit.

Sincerely, Anne Earhart (Corona Del Mar)

Honorable Commissioners:
I am a native Southern Californian, a resident of Huntington Beach and a registered Civil Engineer. I am urging the Commission to deny a permit to construct and operate a seawater desalination facility at Huntington Beach Generating Station, 21730 Newland Ave, Huntington Beach for several reasons.

First and foremost, this will add to the stress of the local ocean ecosystem already beset by climate change and the effects of acidification as well as the stresses from having outfalls in the area. The Santa Ana River Channel and Talbert Channel both are expected to carry increasing amounts of more concentrated urban runoff as well as flush and maintain nearby wetlands, which are used by a number of migrating bird species as one of the last few refuges left along their flyways. There is also the OC Sanitation District Wastewater treatment plant outfall here that, despite the tertiary treatment of the effluent, can't help but have an impact. The Huntington Beach beaches, both City and State, are increasingly used by burgeoning Southland human and pet populations which contribute to local pollution. This ecosystem is expected to continue to absorb all those influences and a desalination plant will add yet another significant stressor. I don't believe it is wise to see how far we can press this ecosystem's resilience. Too many humans and animals rely on its ability to absorb the current and future impacts already in place.

Secondly, this endeavor will take massive amounts of energy at a time when climate change is being driven primarily by energy use. It isn't enough to say we're moving towards more renewable sources. This additional intensive energy use could be prevented if we focus on water conservation and local solutions such as increasing the recharging of the many local aquifers with treated wastewater and capturing a portion of rainfall. Where is this desalinated water going to go anyway? Not locally. No water district has signed agreements to accept the desalinated water so it will need to be stored and/or pumped long distances using yet more energy for distribution making the issue of energy use even more concerning.

Lastly, I believe this is a project of convenience and not one very well thought out. Why this location? Because a portion of the infrastructure exists at a site chosen for its impact to an electricity grid, not because it is part of a larger plan to address the State of California's water needs. Despite the extreme drought conditions, there are no plans to transport this water to the communities that really need it. This appears to me to be a purely financial decision by private parties making use of convenient existing facilities, public money, purchased politicians and the local "commons" vis-a-vis the ocean for individuals to get rich using the drought as a scare tactic. It is not as if there was a water needs study done and it was determined this would be an ideal location and method (desalination) to address the State's very real and pressing needs for reliable sources of water. Were such a study to be done reviewing all the factors, including where the water is needed, I doubt a desalination plant at this location would be one of the primary recommendations.

In conclusion, I oppose a desalination plant at this location for the reasons above and urge you all to deny the subject permit.

Thank you for allowing me an opportunity to express my views.

Sincerely,
K. Shawn Thompson, PE

Dear Sir,
Now is not the time to spend millions of dollars and time building a water desal system that could prove to be a waste of energy and resources.
There are few, if any, reasons to build this project now. However, there are many reasons not to such as- effects to the marine ecosystem, potential hazards at an adjacent toxic site, risk of earthquakes, oil spills which have happened recently in the area, sea level rise, and the company has not secured contracts to deliver the water.

But we do know that climate change is upon us and we should do all we can as a state to support conservation efforts that can do more to secure a future livable planet than spending millions are fanciful fixes such as desal plant off the california coast.

Dear Honorable Commissioners,

The Los Cerritos Wetlands Land Trust, along with many other environmental groups, oppose the proposed Poseidon desalination plant because of the immense environmental damage it will cause.

Poseidon's outrageous energy requirements will increase greenhouse gases that exacerbate climate change.

Poseidon's desalination plant will harm marine life. Immense amounts of sea life that feed the ecosystem will get sucked into Poseidon's intake pumps and be destroyed. Furthermore, desalination produces a toxic brine discharge that will pollute our ocean, harm local marine life and degrade ocean water quality for as many as the 50 years that Poseidon could be in operation.

Poseidon is not needed. Demand for water in Orange County has been decreasing for years, despite population growth and economic development. Conservation, recycled water, and rainwater harvesting are better for the environment and our community – and are much cheaper.

We agree with staff's recommendations and reasons for denial: ". . . due to this project's fundamental inconsistencies with Coastal Act and LCP policies related to coastal hazards, protection and mitigation of marine life, and protection of wetlands and environmentally sensitive habitat, as well as its unclear but likely significant burdens on environmental justice communities, staff is recommending denial of the project."

Hello:

I am writing to urge that you reject the proposal for the Poseidon Desalination Plant.

From everything I can see, this appears to be a money-grab/boondoggle by a private company that doesn't have the interests of the people of California at heart, nor of the environment. Though there is no denying the seriousness of the water crisis California is dealing with, this looks to be a costly and inefficient/ineffective way to deal with the problem whose costs will fall unfairly on minority and lower-income communities.

Moreover, it makes me personally very angry that this new plant would be emitting what certainly appears to be an excessive amount of fossil fuel emissions. While I know that tradeoffs are often inevitable, fossil fuels are very largely behind our extreme drought conditions and contributing to the problem at the same time as we are attempting to deal with one of its countless dangerous symptoms seems pathetically unintelligent.

We need to deal with our extreme drought situation and I am not opposed to desalination in theory but, based on what's been going on elsewhere, it sure looks like the technology is not ready for primetime and the people of California should not shouldering the price for companies that want to use CA's precious resources and people as guinea pigs. No on this terrible deal!

Hello Commission Members,

I am in favor of the desalination plant in Huntington Beach. I live in Temecula with my family. My wife is from Rancho Cucamonga. We have both seen and experienced the severe droughts of the last 10 years in Southern California. We are in favor of a number of water conservation methods and are mindful that desalination is not without downsides, but despite those downsides desalination needs to be one of the methods we use to ensure sufficient water for the population's needs. As an personal example dire nature of the situation, my brother-in-law owns a home and large piece of land in Fallbrook. He had a running stream that had never gone dry in the last 20 years. In the last 3 years it has dried up and has not run at all in the last 2 years. He is now concerned that his well will go dry. We are in severe need of action now. Please grant Poseidon Water the permit.

Dear CA Coastal Commission,

California is the cradle of technological advancements. From the Silicon Valley to the sea, the world looks to California to set the standard when it comes to both high tech solutions and environmental protection. Desalination is a perfect marriage of those two philosophies.

The Huntington Beach Seawater Desalination Plant will be the most technologically advanced, environmentally sensitive desalination plant in the world. The project screens out all fish and marine life larger than the width of a dime. It's energy consumption has been cut in half thanks to state-of-the-art energy recovery systems. And the mitigation for the project will result in enhanced marine life in the wetlands and beyond.

And best of all, we are able to create a new sustainable water supply for Orange County while reducing demand on imported water sources. Please vote for tomorrow's water supply by voting yes on this desalination project TODAY!

I am not a member of a lobbying group and will keep my comments brief. I believe the Poseidon desalination plant should have been approved two droughts ago.

It seems that California has created the perfect scheme to prevent anything (housing, roads, bullet train) from being built: multiple agencies combined with endless lawsuits and appeals.
I hope that common sense prevails this time.

A suggestion for the future: A meeting of all regulatory agencies creates a standard blueprint for future desalination plants that could be used for future projects without need for approval and lawsuit-proof.
Is this an impossible dream?

Dear Coastal Commissioner,

For twenty years, I have weathered the threat of a non-public, corporate desalination plant on the shore of my city. Now this threat is due to reach a point of reckoning before the Coastal Commission in May.

For me and many of my neighbors, the mistreatment of the ocean as a revenue center by Poseidon, a foreign-owned corporation, and dumping ground for salt sludge is horrifying.

Just as unbearable is the prospect that I and other residents of Orange County will be forced to pay for this boondoggle for years and years to come.

Thus I ask you to do your part to REJECT the Poseidon plant here in Huntington Beach and to prevent the economic and environmental disaster it would inflict on us and Californians.

So costly and unreliable has the Poseidon desalination plant in Carlsbad proved since it opened in 2015 that the San Diego County Water Authority has imposed on ratepayers some of the highest rate hikes in the country. Rates rose 60 percent between 2010 and 2018. Most of that rate increase has occurred since the Poseidon plant opened. [Please refer to this Consumer Reports article: https://www.consumerreports.org/personal-finance/millions-of-americans-cant-afford-water-as-bills-rise-80-percent-in-a-decade-a8273700709/]

I was also troubled to hear a revealing statement by Poseidon executive Scott Maloni during a March 23 official meeting of Huntington Beach City Council members with residents of the southeast part of our city that included an short briefing by Maloni.

After many months of public declarations that the Poseidon plant was oh-so-close to construction, or shovel-ready in the parlance of those seeking millions in infrastructure funds, Maloni slipped up and told the truth: "We're not anywhere close to putting any pipe in the ground." [Check out the recorded transcript of this meeting here: https://otter.ai/u/1KzklJH1bcAgunjd9tFRBPSzl9w]

In these past 20 years, residents of our city have endured a relentless sales pitch by this company and its phalanx of paid promoters and lobbyists. Rarely have they been held accountable for their contradictions. Never have those discrepancies been more important to highlight.

The gulf between Poseidon's rhetoric and reality is a warning sign. Giving them a green light for building desalination plant puts our fiscal health, ocean health, and the environment in danger. We cannot afford this scheme to proceed. I call on you to help STOP it.

In the spirit of vigilance—

Dear Coastal Commissioner,

Every now and then in our state, a conflict arises that reveals fundamental threats to our quality of life and quality of governance. Corruption, influence-peddling, and destruction of the environment are among those threats.

This time, it's Poseidon.

The profit-making plan by this foreign-owned desalination company, operated by Brookfield Asset Management, puts short-term, private profit and long-term impacts of extreme pollution above the common good, including the survival of the climate.

Promising to produce water that is 4 times more expensive than other local sources, it saddles rate-payers and the people least able to fight back, children and the next generation, with its consequences and enormous costs.

The vote by the Coastal Commission is just one month from today. I wanted, indeed needed, to be in touch to express my deep concern about this disturbing project and why I look to you to stop it.

Poseidon is out to make money. They have grasped for $2 billion in public money for this project estimated at just over $1 billion. They do not deserve tax dollars from me, my friends in Orange County, or any other Californian. Neither its executives nor its squadron of lobbyists should be rewarded with any official OK to proceed with this money-making scheme.

Poseidon degrades our beautiful coast and turns it into a disaster area. The outdated system used by the company sucks up sea life, including fish, and pumps out thousands of pounds of toxic salt sludge each month back into areas where humans swim, play, and go fishing.

Any pretense this repulsive exploitation of the sea would not mimic the plunder of the marine environment that has happened due to desalination projects in the Persian Gulf is sad and shameful. No one should look away from this pillaging of the shoreline environment.

I am counting on you to prevent this disaster, not permit it. Please ask me any question and let me know how you aim to proceed on this threat to our quality of life and quality of governance.

In hope that justice is done,

The Sierra Club Los Cerritos Wetlands Task Force urges denial of permits for construction and operation of the Poseidon Huntington Beach Desalination Plant and affirms that Sierra Club is a signatory to the NGO Opposition Letter.

We agree with staff's recommendations and reasons for denial: ". . . due to this project's fundamental inconsistencies with Coastal Act and LCP policies related to coastal hazards, protection and mitigation of marine life, and protection of wetlands and environmentally sensitive habitat, as well as its unclear but likely significant burdens on environmental justice communities, staff is recommending denial of the project."
In addition, water (including ocean, wetlands, and groundwater) and marine life should be understood to be tribal cultural resources/relatives and subject to tribal consultation.

Poseidon admits their project will do damage to the environment, especially by killing millions of aquatic creatures and changing the salinity of the coastal water. Because Poseidon needs many mitigation credits for this anticipated destruction, it has listed the Los Cerritos Wetlands as one source of mitigation credits. In its greed for money, the Los Cerritos Wetlands Authority (composed of the cities of Long Beach and Seal Beach, and the Coastal Conservancy and the Rivers and Mountains Conservancy), has not opposed this funding and are enabling Poseidon to use the Los Cerritos Wetlands as a bargaining chip in the CDP process.

We urge the Coastal Commission to be the one state agency which will put the environment ahead of corporate money and deny this project.

Sierra Club Los Cerritos Wetlands Task Force

Comments:
The Poseidon desalination plant needs to be approved.
We are told to conserve water don't water the grass or use any water.
At the same time the local Orange County Water authority says there is no shortage
And we do not need the desal plant.

It cannot be both.

The DESAL plant is our future along with conservation and waste to tap.
Any one option does not meet all the needs.
We also need to provide additional water to farming and agriculture.
We need all options available.

The Santa Barbara DESAL plant and Carlsbad Plants have been successful.
We need to approve the Poseidon DESAL Plant.

Subject: Brookfield-Poseidon Desalination plant in Huntington Beach

The planned Brookfield-Poseidon desalination plant in Huntington Beach is not compatible with the 1976 California Coastal Act. Specifically, as proposed, the project is inconsistent with the following Coastal Act Sections;

Section 30230 "Marine Resources; Maintenance"
Section 30231 "Biological Productivity, Water Quality"
Section 30234.5 "Economic, Commercial and Recreational Importance of Fishing"
Section 30270 "Sea Level Rise"

In addition, the proposed "Artificial Reef" project off of the Palos Verdes coastline offered by Poseidon as a "mitigation" project for the environmental, biological, economic, commercial and recreational impact would have on our Orange County Coastline, falls far short of being an equitable trade-off.

I suggest that the Coastal Commission Board members deny approval of this project.

Subject: Public Comment on May 2022 Agenda Item Wednesday 6a - Executive Director's Report

My Items to be discussed:

1. Tracy Lowe, hydrogeologist mentioned at a board meeting (Approx. 4 yrs ago) There is plenty of GW capacity in OC aquifer. Mentioned on FB messenger, lakes and pools evaporate at a rate of 5 ft per year. Or 629,000 gal per yr.
2. Karl Seckel, PE , MWDOC Board compared Carson IPR to Poseidon Basin water. "Did not understand why OCWD wants to purchase more Costly Poseidon water (AFY) instead of lower cost IPR water." Plate #43, 2018 draft report; 2030, MET 1B ~ $1750 AFY, while Poseidon Basin ~ $2,200 AFY ? 2040 MET 1B ~ $2300 AFY while Poseidon Basin ~ $3,000

3 No Pumping Brines to Ocean. Diffuser Breakdowns. Need Evaporative Heating systems using Methane and Ethanes (CNG).

Collect valued Salts. PO4, N03, or K for Fertilizers and/or Food additives. Or Battery compounds.

4. Poseidon Basin needs its own Power Source. Not usurping Power from our Grid System. Or the New AES gas turbine Plant. Set up a smaller gas Turbine for The Project.

Large Pipe Proposed installation. West of Newland St. along Hamilton to Magnolia. Directly under ASCON Properties. Hazardous Waste Leachate Exposure?? Possible Cancer, Liver damage. Go through CDHS.

5. HB Oil Spill. 10-3-2021, 10-6-2021, and 11-22-21. Three separate incidents. Losangelestimes.com

Linked to Beishing Cargo Vessel dragging old oil pipes. Resulting in oil plumes from HB. Off Newland St. to Seal Beach.

Oil is Likely an Aquatard for Water Filtration Systems. Very Costly to Replace Graphene Filtration?

Honorable Commission Members,

Thank you for your vital service on behalf of California's glorious coasts. I am writing in my capacity as a private resident of Huntington Beach. I am not representing the views of my current or former employers.

I am urging you to deeply discount the findings of your staff report regarding Poseidon Huntington Beach. I find the report selectively highlights some features of global climate change impacts to argue against Poseidon Huntington Beach but ignores others that warrant plant approval. Firstly, we know that sea level rise in Orange County will manifest both in the form of wave-driven flooding but also as worsening saltwater intrusion into freshwater aquifers. The Orange County Water District (OCWD) demonstrated tremendous foresight in its path breaking work to reduce saltwater intrusion, using a mix of Santa Ana River replenishment as well as wastewater recycling though Factory 21.

Pathbreaking Water Factory 21 was planned more than 20 years ago around the same time the Southwest entered what now appears to be a multi-year megadrought, with no end in sight. OCWD staff report adequate water supplies. But as Table 1-4 of OCWD's Basin Production and Recharge Sources, show, recharge water supplies—primarily from the Santa Ana River--have dramatically decreased and wastewater recycling has held constant. The drop is most pronounced in 2021. With La Nina forecast to persist through this year, with attendant and ongoing low rainfall projections, it is unlikely that the trend line will move back up. In that same report, OCWD staff display water demand but note that demand is artificially constrained by state-imposed water conservation measures. Those measures have been heightened to unprecedented mandatory restrictions in 2022. Having the ability to water one's home produce garden once a week as a hedge against high food prices hardly constitutes adequate water supply. Given declining recharge supply and artificially-constrained demand, it is hard to see how OCWD staff can conclude that water supply is adequate.

Climate-driven freshwater scarcity also is driving species loss in our beloved wetlands such as Bolsa Chica. Although some plants there can adapt to increasing seawater concentrations, others die without once predictable winter rains. Lack of freshwater is threatening restoration efforts and billions of public investments in restoration. In theory, Poseidon's production of freshwater could free up much needed freshwater sources to infuse into Bellona to preserve freshwater-dependent species. In any event, proposed Poseidon remediation of Bolsa Chica could help an area that increasingly is imperiled by the effects of a changing climate.

Thirdly, Coastal Commission staff concerns that the Poseidon plant should be stopped due to future sea level rise—should it manifest primarily in the form of sea water surface flooding—is puzzling on several fronts. The City of Huntington Beach's 2021 vulnerability assessment shows areas at highest flooding risk to be on the north side of town, near the Marina and Sunset Beach, as opposed to the Wetlands-adjacent AES area where Poseidon is to be sited. In empirical terms, the City's 2021 projections are consistent with where flooding already is observed during King Tide events. If the Wetlands/AES infrastructure site is indeed vulnerable to flooding in 2050 than it should be possible to deploy incoming federal infrastructure funding to appropriately harden and elevate adjacent levies to protect both the relatively AES site, as well as planned Poseidon facility.

Moreover, if sea level rise occurs in this region as the advocate-funded flooding simulation and staff report assumes, then Poseidon flooding is the least of Huntington Beach's concerns. It is striking that no one is demanding that the AES gas plant prematurely strand its assets. Or for that matter, what about the fate of Huntington State and City beach infrastructure, Pacific Coast Highway, and homes that encircle the wetlands? Projected 2050 sea level rise per the Coastal Commission staff report should imply that the entire ocean-facing portions of Huntington Beach now should be planning for managed retreat. The issue of whether to site a desalination facility in Huntington Beach seems moot in the face of such sea level rise assumptions. In other words, if Poseidon should not be built due to flooding, then Huntington Beach has much bigger problems than whether to build a desalination facility.

Finally, as to ocean marine life impacts, Poseidon plant opponents say almost nothing about the threats to aquatic life that climate change is already causing. Global climate change is exacerbating the red tides we see now offshore that make marine mammals and birds sick and die. Increased atmospheric carbon dioxide concentrations have acidified ocean water to the point that shellfish on the West Coast can no longer grow to maturity. Hatcheries have to add an alkaline buffer to get oysters to grow. Dungeness crab shells are the next acidification victim. Climate change-warmed waters several years ago dramatically killed off California's bull kelp, which thankfully is regenerating in some places but still a shadow of what formerly was in place prior to the climate driven hot water 'blob.' To assert that Poseidon will somehow have impacts to marine plants and animals more negative to the ocean than what climate already is posing is misleading and dated.

Even with Orange County's tremendous and far-sighted advances in wastewater recycling, the truth is that the region remains dependent partly on dramatically declining freshwater precipitation and on imported supplies. In the face of a desiccated Colorado River, depleted Northern California dams, and the Biden Administration's move to rightfully shut down Cadiz endeavors to tap desert aquifers, I don't know where advocates and the Commission staff imagine the freshwater will come from. In the presence of this unprecedented and dire state water emergency, the staff conclusions seem to fly in the face of dire climate reality. I strongly urge the California Coastal Commission to override staff climate data cherry-picking and approve the Huntington Beach Poseidon facility.

I support the desalination project and favor the acceptance and construction of this project.

It is time that California creates a precedent for more desalination projects and water recycling projects.

The current water sources from North California and the Colorado river are loosing substantial amounts of water each year and the water created in the desalination plants will be distributed to areas close by without big evaporation like in the state water project.

California needs to become water independent and generate a water surplus like other desert countries achieved.

Now watering outdoors will be reduced due to a lack off water resulting in Co2 cleaning trees dying.

Even if desalination poses some risks the overall benefits of having enough water available for drinking and watering trees outweighs in my opinion the risks.

For better environmental impact I suggest restructuring California water rights and having a look at imperial county agriculture and water source.

Respectfully,

Daniel Borenstein

Thanks for the great research by the CC staff regarding Poseidon. I do not live near the proposed project, but I know the Poseidon project is not needed in northern OC, which has a good reply of potable recharge water, and the project is harmful to the environment for many reasons as stated by the environmental groups. Poseidon's water is also detrimental as a price increase of water hurts especially those most vulnerable to high prices for a product people cannot live without.

I also have seen how Poseidon will say they are a "private" company, using their own funds to create drinkable water, then turn around and ask elected officials for funds to fund their project. Poseidon has used their existing funds for campaigns to remove elected officials to replace them with electeds that only support their project, and given misinformation to convince groups their project is needed, both of which makes me more fearful for preserving our democracy. In the same way Exxon for years knew fossil fuels would cause climate change but hid the fact, I worry about a private company providing less transparency, while forcing the OCWD customers to pay for water, even if not needed at that time.

Please do not approve this Huntington Beach Poseidon project.

Dear Coastal Commission Members:

As a lifelong nature lover and decades long resident of Huntington Beach, I urge you to deny Application 9-21-0488 by Poseidon to build a desalination plant in our beautiful city. This project would do irreparable harm to our coastal waters and wildlife, as numerous environmental impact reports have shown. Our beaches have barely recovered from recent oil and sewage spills and need to be restored and protected, not destroyed.

I therefore ask you to deny Poseidon's application.

This email message follows my prior message sent the week of April 25, 2022 in support of the Poseidon application.
Upon further review it was noted that concerns were expressed relative to the possibility of some recipient water district customers being unable to afford the potentially higher water bill attributable to the water delivery having been obtained from the Poseidon project.

May I offer the following suggestion? So CA Edison Co and So CA Gas Co both have a "Care" program for eligible customers to enroll in. The program provides for a discount on Electricity and Gas usage billed, based on provable economic need.

It seems appropriate for a program of this type to be reviewed for potential adaptation by the various water districts who may elect to purchase Poseidon project water.

Cordially.

This letter is in support of Poseidon Water's plan for a seawater desalination facility in Huntington Beach.

Water is Life... without water, life cannot thrive.

Currently, California is experiencing two contrasting environmental issues: Climate Change, and Drought.

On one hand, Climate Change is a real and on-going problem. One of the concerns is that ice caps will melt, causing flooding of coastal areas of California.

On the other hand, California continues to suffer the effects of a years-long Drought. There is not enough water to serve the various needs of California's vast population, or the agriculture and businesses located within the State.

So, in one instance, there is too much sea water, and in the other, there is not enough fresh water.

The solution is so easy and obvious: desalination. Take sea water from the ocean, and turn it into fresh water.

Any negative effects of desalination pale in comparison to the deadly effects of "no water." Water is Life, and without it, people die.

I urge you to approve the Poseidon Water project.

Thank you.

I support the application for the Poseidon Desalinization Plant in Huntington Beach CA. Southern CA's fresh water supply is in serious jeopardy due to the current 22 year drought and it seems appropriate, if not necessary, to develop alternate water supplies that will aid in assuring a continued water supply for Orange County CA residents.

An in-estimable amount of labor and money has brought the project to the current status of potential cancellation. I suggest further review of Poseidon's application with the goal of strengthening environmental safeguards required of the Applicant and providing stringent schedules that properly address environmental challenges, as they may occur during the life of the project, with specific penalty schedules.

As a 62 year resident of southern CA it is evident that the state can no longer rely on natural sources for water, a dearth of annual snow deposits and the severely over-burdened CO River being two prime examples. Additional pressure has come from prior un-acknowledged sources such as the influx of climate change.

It seems imprudent to allow this once in a lifetime opportunity to assuage southern California's continuing water shortage to disappear. I urge your re-consideration of the motion to cancel the Poseidon Desalination Project.

Subject: How desalination can solve the drought

Dear Mr. Carl,

As I am sure you are aware, California and the majority of western states are experiencing an intense drought. According to the U.S. drought monitor 100% of California is experiencing a moderate to exceptional drought with 40.67% in an extreme drought. This affects 37.2 million people which is most of the state. 80 percent of the water consumed in California is used for agriculture which supports a large national market. Not only does this affect California but other western states, like Nevada. For example, California needs as much water as possible to produce as much crop as possible, so they take millions of gallons of water from Lake Mead and other water sources. There is a clear need for fresh water to sustain the population so I would strongly encourage the California Coastal Commision to consider approving the Poseidon Water Project. It is important to have sustainable water sources and Poseidon will help solve the problem. They will desalinate millions of gallons of water and improve the circumstance caused by the drought in California. Many of the concerns for the desalination plant include rising sea levels and the cost of water. If you are concerned about the sea level rising the water plant would help solve the problem. Flooding wouldn't be an issue because desalination converts water from the ocean to freshwater. Also, if there is an increase in the water supply then how would the cost of water rise? Instead desalination plants make water more affordable and abundant for the consumer. Overall, I hope that you consider all the factors of the Poseidon Water Project and I encourage you to approve the project for the people of your community.

Thank you,

Andrew Hawkins

1 We Don't Need the Water

The Municipal Water District of Orange County's most recent Water Reliability Study documented that Orange County has several alternative water supply projects available to meet future needs. The study also finds that the Poseidon project is the least cost-effective and most financially risky of all of the alternatives reviewed.
According to the Pacific Institute, water conservation and efficiency improvements could reduce water use by a third, similar to those called for in the state's new water plan.
Orange County can meet its water needs through 2040 without Poseidon. And we have less expensive, more sustainable options for developing new water supplies. Orange County's state-of-the-art Groundwater Replenishment System produces twice as much water as the proposed Huntington Beach desalination plant for a fraction of the cost.
Check out this December 2020 op-ed by Garry Brown, Orange County Coastkeeper founding director for more information.

2 Desal Will Hurt Families and Local Businesses

The Poseidon Huntington Beach Desalination Plant would disproportionately harm low-income residents who can't afford the water rate increases needed to pay for this excessively expensive project. We have a Human Right to Water and Poseidon's expensive desalinated water—which costs nearly four times as much as imported water and almost five times more than harvesting stormwater—will only make it harder for low-income ratepayers to afford clean, reliable water. There are cheaper, safer ways to meet our water needs.
Increased water bills put a heavy burden on local businesses, whose annual costs could skyrocket by forcing them to pay for Poseidon's excessive costs. Many local businesses rely on tourism to make a modest living thanks in part to high-quality, reasonably priced water. Profits could shrink significantly if the desalination plant is built. #FueraPoseidon

3 Poseidon Desal Is Poison for the Climate, Ocean

Life, and our Clean Water Supplies

Poseidon's desal contract would subject the region to 50 years of continued fossil fuel emissions, despite the state's efforts to curb emissions. It takes a massive amount of energy to run a desalination plant. Not only is that energy expensive, but it emits tons of greenhouse gases that contribute to the climate crisis. As wildfires, floods, and heat waves increase their intensity, we can no longer postpone our efforts to reduce emissions. If California is the climate leader we claim to be, we cannot advance this costly, energy-inefficient project. #ClimateLeadersDontDesal

Poseidon would pollute our groundwater supplies with boron and chlorides. This will further increase the costs of water because expensive treatment will be needed to remove additional pollutants from our water supplies.

The project would pull in more than 100 million gallons of sea water each day using obsolete intake pipes that cause significant mortality to ocean life. Regional water board staff estimate that Poseidon would kill 108 million ocean organisms each year. The State Water Resources Control Board ordered the AES powerplant to stop using this same pipe because of the extensive damage it was causing to ocean life. Furthermore, the byproduct of desalination is an intensely salty brine that the plant will discharge into the ocean further disrupting ocean ecosystems.

4 Poseidon Isn't Being Honest

Poseidon said they wouldn't take public money. But that's not true. Poseidon has received a $585 million low-interest, forgivable loan from the US EPA, and is seeking a $400 million subsidy from the Metropolitan Water District and $1.1 billion from the state for a CDLAC tax-exempt bond allocation that would take money away from affordable housing.

Poseidon has continually said the plant is carbon neutral because the energy they use would be offset by buying "renewable credits" out of state and even out of the country in a scheme that hurts other communities. Moreover, Poseidon also claims that carbon emissions would be offset by energy savings from not pumping imported water over three mountain ranges from Tracy to southern California. However, Metropolitan Water District has repeatedly said that they will continue to import their full allocation of State Water Project water, regardless of Poseidon's desalination plant. Furthermore, Poseidon is basing demand on faulty population projections. They said that Orange County would grow by 350,000 people from 2010 to 2020. The reality was that population grew by half their projections.

And they don't deliver on promises. Poseidon's Carlsbad plant has failed to deliver a fifth of the water promised to San Diego County Water Authority and racked up more than a dozen water quality violations during its first year of operations alone.

5 Desal Is a Bad Deal for Consumers

Poseidon wants Orange County to sign a 50-year 'take or pay' contract, committing ratepayers to buy this excessively expensive water whether or not it is needed. This guarantees profits for Poseidon at the expense of Orange County residents and businesses.

That's why Poseidon has spent millions in lobbying expenses and campaign contributions pushing its costly Huntington Beach proposal.

The $1.4 billion plant would increase water bills for hard-working families to line the pockets of Poseidon and its parent company Brookfield Infrastructure Partners, based in Canada.

Comments: I strongly urge the Coastal Commission to accept its expert staff's recommendations opposing the Poseidon desalination project. This project will do irreparable harm to the ocean environment, cost a great deal of money, and raise water-rates. Much better to improve water treatment to re-use water and to enforce conservation. We must change our destructive ways.

Comments: I got the letter concerning the Poseidon Water Plant and found the process for submitting written comments to be impossible to carry out, so I'm writing to this.

I grew up in Newport and own in Huntington Beach, and have witnessed the development over decades. I love our county and ocean, and believe we need more water from many sources including this one. The site is ready for this type of use, will not significantly impact the quality of the area (already power plants, septic plants, harbors, river outlets, heavy use), and help solve a basic need. The county can not keep handing out high density permits without building vital infrastructure to meet the basic demands of power and water. Let them build it.

Dear Coastal Commission Members,

As a long term Huntington Beach resident and frequent beach user at Newland and PCH, I am convinced that when we balance nature with human needs the desalination plant is absolutely necessary. I understand that Huntington Beach is fortunate to depend, to a large extent, on well water. These well resources do not provide enough guarantee of sufficient water supply for worse case scenarios, or for our surrounding cities.

Please approve the Poseidon Desalination Plant. I am convinced this is responsible leadership on your part. I am concerned we are already running late on this important, good for citizens, project.

Poseidon proposal

Dear Director Ainsworth

I'm sure you've heard the many pros and cons of the proposed Huntington Beach Poseidon Desalination Plant. Therefore, I'll keep it very brief.

For one thing, this is another instance of corporate greed. Secondly, it is not needed. As our statewide drought is severe, Southern California water districts have done a rather exemplary job of using reclaimed water. We have no shortage here, although it behooves everyone to take drastic measures to conserve. I've always been an advocate of conserving natural resources. Seventeen years ago, I was the first in our neighborhood to remove our grass lawns and plant native. Not only saving loads of water and money, we have birds, bees and butterflies nearly year round. In the beginning, neighbors frowned on it. Now many have done the same. I also report water wasting violators to the city. They instruct these folks on the proper codes and ways to conserve. Again, conserve. That is the key, rather than to allow an environmentally unfriendly, wildlife killing plant to be constructed.

Therefore, I ask that you please deny this project.

Respectfully

> Wake up! We need water. Rain dances don't seem to work. For those against, be prepared to for state, cities and counties to ration water usage and put moratoriums on new construction (California has a housing shortage and a major homeless population). Curtailing construction will only increase the homeless. Other countries have managed successfully to have desalinization plants. We need to oversee its Implementation so it has the least impact on sea life and the city. Humans can not survive without water.

Have a great day!

Subject: Fwd: Written Comments in favor of Huntington Beach Desalination Plant
Date: Monday, May 2, 2022 1:24:37 PM

Dear Coastal Commission Board Members;

My name is Matthew Fertal. I have been a resident of Huntington Beach for 29 years. I am providing written comments in favor of the proposed Huntington Beach Desalination Plant. With an ongoing drought conditions and a continued growing population, (despite those leaving the State, we have more entering the State from our southern border), we need to look at all options concerning increasing the water supply to the State. As with all options, no one option is perfect, but the proposed desalination plant in Huntington Beach will provide water to a much needed community. It is also a water supply that is plentiful and can operate without much interference from natural or unnatural occurrences.

Those in opposition use such terms as "significant burdens on environmental justice communities" . I challenge any board member to explain accurately what this statement means. It sounds like bureaucratic mumbo jumbo to vaguely cover all possible criticism of the proposed desalination plant. Also, the opponents cite additional costs, at $3-$6/month on the average water bill. This is minimal compared to the $3/ gallon increase we are all experiencing in recent fuel prices. It seems convenient for the opponents to cite increased costs when they don't support a new alternative source, but they express no concerns over the higher costs of wind and solar power. The same is true for their claims of harming the environment. Both wind and solar options injure wildlife and harm the environment, but that is overlooked by those who seem to subscribe to "the ends justify the means". The opponents can't have it both ways.

The Huntington Beach Desalination Plant will provide much needed water to this region at a reasonable cost and minimal harm to the environment. As a resident of Huntington Beach, I strongly urge you to approve the Desalination Plant. Thank you.

Matthew John Fertal

Dear California Coastal Commission,

This state is in an almost perpetual state of drought and yet you pinheads dilly-dally around wondering if a desal plant might or might not be a good idea. For Heaven's sake you fools, how many working brain cells does it require to know the answer is a resounding YES. Now, get off your duffs, do something constructive for California and vote to approve this. Seriously, this isn't rocket science or brain surgery.

Dear California Coastal Commission,

Anybody with a brain, or even half-a-brain, knows that providing a new clean source of water for Southern California is a win-win strategy for everybody. I hope the well educated members of the Coastal Commission agrees and approved the Poseidon Project, the Huntington Beach Desalination Project. Without this important project, the availability of clean fresh needed water will be severely limited, especially with the continuing drought. All humans have a right to reliable, affordable water. Please consider this when approving this permit and let Poseidon help all Californians. Thank you for reading my comments. Very truly yours, Edward Rugel, erugel@verizon.net, a concerned water consumer in Huntington Beach.

Dear Commissioners,

I am a lifelong California resident and I am whole-heartedly in favor of the Huntington Beach Desalination plant. You must act in the absolute best interest of California and approve this plant. California will need more such plants to ensure our water security, survival and prosperity. PLEASE VOTE YES ON THE DESALINATION PLANT.

The Huntington Beach Desalination Plant, will be the largest, most technologically advanced and environmentally friendly desalination plant in the Americas and will produce and deliver the most reliable and highest quality drinking water for less than a penny per gallon.

In adopting the Project's permit, the Regional Board found, "Though Orange County Water District (OCWD) projects an initial increase in residential water costs to improve water reliability, the desalinated water could result in cost savings in the future."

Please plan for the future NOW but moving this important water supply forward.

Sincerely,

Subject: Poseidon Water Desal Proposal Huntington Beach

Regardless of the apparently negative staff report on this subject I request the full Commission take a more wholistic position and grant a permit so the project may proceed. The state of water supply in the West is in crisis. Lakes Powell and Mead are at record lows. The oversubscribed Colorado River is in distress because of diminishing rainfall and snowpack throughout the basin. The State Water Project is recommending supplying 5% of normal supplies to its customers this year. The City of Los Angeles aqueduct supply from Owens Valley is now also diminished because Mono Lake has reached a low water threshold. Groundwater withdrawals throughout the state are at record levels which is causing surface subsidence and depletion of the aquifer storage. Recycled water is providing some relief but the volumes are still inadequate. There are 40 million people and countless agricultural and industrial enterprises that need water. Unless the Coastal Commission can generate and enforce a plan to depopulate the West, I believe it has an obligation to do its part to mitigate this water crisis. That includes approval of a small number of desal plants to diversify the supply and also provide that supply where the most critical users are – in coastal cities. The cost of this water should not be an issue. Do you want $3000 per acre foot water or no water? The overall impact on the environment I believe is as manageable as every other impact the 40 million persons have produced in California. We live in an imperfect, engineered world and until we are able to successfully reduce water demand we must find a way to satisfy it. (And I absolutely support proposals to manage and reduce demand.) Desal plants should be part of the solution. If they become superfluous in the future they can be abandoned. Right now and for the foreseeable future we need every water source we can imagine. Approve this plant so its high quality output may be blended with other water sources and mitigate in a small way the supply disruptions we may be experiencing in California for many years to come.

Sincerely,

William McCleish

Date:	Saturday, April 30, 2022 2:43:31 PM

To Whom it may concern,

I am calling to please support the staff recommendation to DENY the desalination plant. Many of the environmental concerns such as energy use are already some of the biggest issues in California that are contributing to the climate change causing the water shortage in the first place. Many of the other environmental concerns regarding marine life and toxic salt are simply against the most important California values. I am also concerned about who the price may fall on for water prices based on the San Diego desalination plant.

I sincerely understand the difficult situation we are in in regards to water, and it seems like for the time being there are other creative solutions to manage this, including some degree of lifestyle and culture adjustments to our new reality. But I strongly believe more effort must be made to address the concerns before this and other desalination plants are constructed as a solution.

Thank you for your work, and I appreciate the thought and care put towards supporting and all Californian's and not just Sacramento.

Sincerely,
Andres Hernandez
