How to copy text for translation

The Public Data Portal is currently only available in English. Once you have selected a record to review, you may copy specific text into a translation service (such as Google Translate) to view information in Spanish (or any other language).

First, highlight the specific text for translation and copy the text using either using the right button on your computer mouse to select Copy or using the keyboard function Ctrl+C.
Open a separate browser page and go to your preferred translation option (such as Google Translate) and paste the text into the appropriate location using either the right button on your computer mouse to select Paste or using the keyboard function Ctrl+V.
