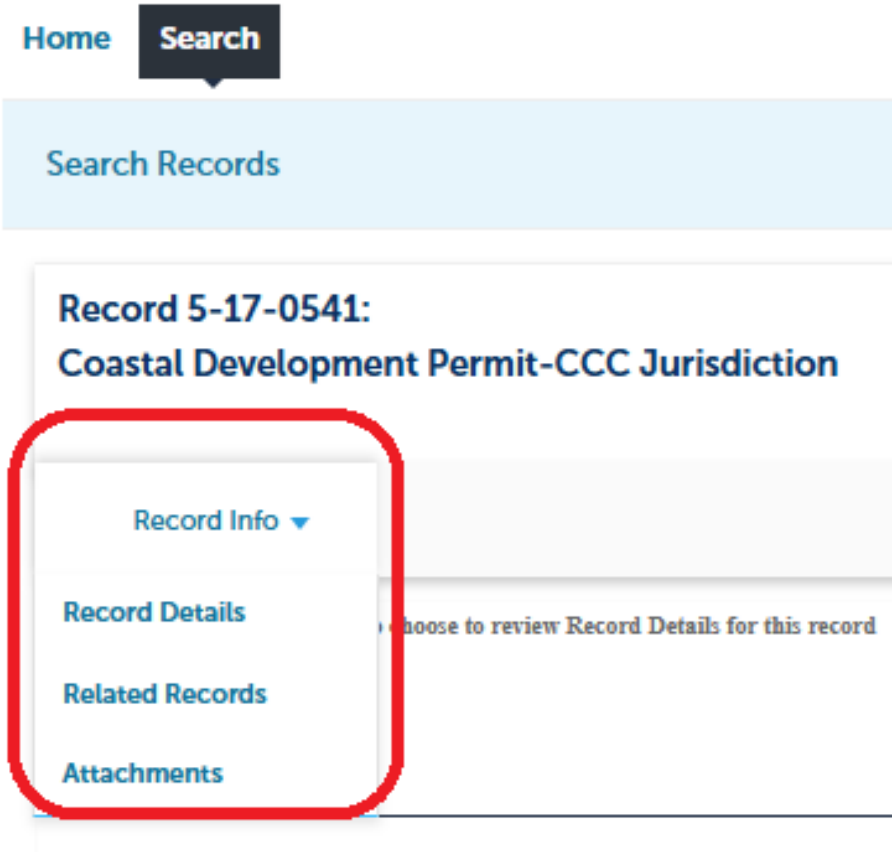
Viewing documents or attachments for a record

Many records in the data management system have associated documents or attachments. You may see a list available documents within in a specific record by selecting Attachments from the Record Info dropdown menu near the top of the record.

> Note: not all records in the Public Data Portal have attached documents available. Commission staff will continue to add historic records and key documents to the data management system as time and resources allow.



If documents are available for a specific record, you will see a list of attachments. Click on the Name to view or download a document from the list.

The staff reports available in this database, including any addenda, reflect Commission staff's recommendation to the Commission. The Commission, however, may not have adopted staff's recommendation. The Commission's final action and findings are found in Adopted Staff reports, which are included for some, but not all, of the actions in this database. Using the instructions above, look in the list of Attachments for an "Adopted Findings" or a "Final Adopted Staff Report" document. If no such report exists, you can check for a "Notice of Intent to Issue Permit" or a "NOI", which will show any conditions the Commission adopted in conjunction with an approval. You may also watch the hearing for any item heard by the Commission after 2006 by going to this website: https://cal-span.org/static/meetings-CCC.php, locating the hearing item in which you are interested, and listening to the Commissioners' debate and final vote on an item. Additionally, you may also want to check the "Related Records" section of the record you are interested in for potential subsequent actions that could have altered the nature of the approved project or of the Commission's approval. Finally, you may contact Commission staff in the relevant local district office if you have further questions about whether a given staff report reflects the final action taken by the Commission. Contact information for the Commission's District offices may be found on the Commission's website in the About section under Contact: https://www.coastal.ca.gov/contact/#/
